

POLITICAL CYCLONE.

Nova Scotia Tories Were the Victims.

THEY CARRIED ONLY ONE, POSSIBLY TWO SEATS

In Wednesday's General Election.

OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR THE MURRAY LIBERAL GOVERNMENT.

(Special to Daily Herald.)

Truro, N. S., Oct. 3.—Tanner in Pictou, and McLeod in Cumberland, are the only opposition candidates elected.

Halifax, Oct. 3.—The Tories have likely one seat in Cumberland, McLeod defeating Tucker.

One seat in Pictou is doubtful, though report comes that Dewar defeated Tanner by seventeen.

All the rest of the province went Liberal.

Halifax, Oct. 2.—Never in the history of this or any other province has there been such an almost unanimous expression of satisfaction with the government as was recorded at the polls yesterday.

The only Tories returned in the whole province are McLeod, of Cumberland and Tanner of Pictou, and the opposition candidates lose their deposits in Guysboro, Digby and Richmond, while MacCabe, in Victoria; A. McDonald, in Inverness, and Hood, in Shelburne, fared equally bad.

The counties were the closest voting was expected have all gone Liberal.

Premier Murray has almost two to one majority in Victoria county.

Colchester triumphantly returns Laurence at the head of the poll, with Stairs at the foot. There is a difference of only eighteen votes between the total votes of Laurence and Pearson, while Black has led his colleague, Stairs, by 122 votes.

Lunenburg, which gave only two of a Liberal majority at the last election, polls a Liberal vote now fifty per cent, in excess of the Tories.

Halifax unhesitatingly elects all three Liberals.

The vote in Inverness shows the return of both Liberals in spite of the three cornered fight which threatened to involve vote-splitting.
