The News of the City and Vicinity

SINCE YESTERDAY.

General, Social, Personal and Political Items of Interest.

Weather Probs.

(Special to Daily Herald.)

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Maritime: Fresh to north winds, occasional showers. Friday strong wind and gales, mostly west to north, showery.

Western Horses.

Twenty-five western horses arrived here by the noon train yesterday, and are being sold at auction by C. I. Atherton on the exhibition grounds this afternoon.

No Truth in It.

Ald. Farrell has requested the Herald to state that he did not advocate the cutting down of the trees on Queen street or any other street, as the Gleaner reported him to have done at the last meeting of the Council.

Hawkins Discharged.

Private J. B. Hawkins of the 71st regiment, was arraigned in the police court this morning, on the charge of stealing a dissecting table from Camp Sussex. No person appearing to prosecute the charge, Col. Marsh discharged the prisoner on his own recognizance, to appear again if wanted.

Wedding Bells.

Holly Bridges, a well known young farmer of Sheffield, was married at Upper Jemseg yesterday to Miss Hattie Purdie, daughter of Frederick Purdie, of that place. The happy couple drove to the city, and after spending the night at the Queen, took their departure by the early train this morning for Boston.

Shot a Moose.

A party of Fredericton nimrods composed of W. A. Lindsay, Andrew Lindsay and George A. Beatty, who left here on Saturday to spend a week hunting in the Little River District, had the good fortune to secure a fine moose on Monday. The carcass arrived here by boat yesterday afternoon. The animal had a nicely formed pair of antlers, with a spread of about three feet.

Last Night's Show.

A fair sized audience witnessed the production of the musical comedy "Grimes Celler Door," at the opera house last evening, and all seemed to enjoy it. The specialties put on by members of the company were quite up to the average, but the acting was a trifle wearisome. The exhibition of tumbling by Louis Fierce was of a high order, and he was encored again and again.

They Were Counterfeits.

It now transpires that the three five pound Bank of New Brunswick notes found among some old papers by G. H. Miner in the departmental building a few days ago were counterfeits. They were enclosed in a large envelope as exhibits along with a copy of the proceedings of a counterfeiting case tried in the St. John criminal court in the early forties. All three notes were in a good state of preservation, and but for the report accompanying them they probably never would have been taken for counterfeits.

The Late Sacham Gabe.

The funeral of the late Gabe Acquin, the old Indian hunter and guide, whose death was announced in these columns yesterday, will take place at ten o'clock tomorrow morning from the St. Marys R. C. church. The services will be conducted by Rev. Father Ryan, and interment will be made at Sunnybank. A gentleman who knew Gabe quite intimately informs the Herald that he was twice across the Atlantic, he having attended the Colonial and Indian exhibition in London in 1886. He took a wigwam and a lot of Indian curios along with him, and attracted a great deal of attention. He visited London again in 1892 with Capt. Boyton's water circus.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Blackmer, left yesterday afternoon on a two weeks trip, and intend visiting Montreal, Niagara, the Pan-American exposition, Albany, New York and Boston.

COUNTY COURT.

The Business of the Term Has Been Finished.

The trial of the appeal case of Cronkite vs. Miller was concluded this morning, and resulted in the conviction of the police magistrate being set aside with costs.

The case of Thomas Davidson vs Robert Aiken was settled, after a jury had been empanelled.

The cases of Stockford vs Borden, and the Frost & Wood Co vs Hallett have been stood over until January by consent.

The case of McKay vs. Prescott was settled out of court.

The case of Cummings vs. Fawcett was undefended, and a judgment for $117 was entered for the plaintiff. At three o'clock Judge Wilson adjourned the court until ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Charge Dismissed.

Chas. W McBeath of Sheffield, charged with a criminal assault on Miss Jordan was before Squire Wm Harrison at Sheffield yesterday and was discharged from custody, the magistrate deciding that the evidence offered by the prosecution was not sufficiently conclusive to justify him sending the accused to a higher court for trial.

Broke the Record.

The promoters of the Fredericton exhibition have broken the exhibition record—they have a balance on hand. The balances are so frequently the other way at these exhibitions that it is a pleasure to refer to one on the right side of the ledger. We congratulate the Fredericton exhibition managers upon their success.—St. Andrews Beacon.

CRITICALLY ILL.

Mr. Clarke Wallace is in a Dangerous State.

(Toronto Globe.)

The condition of Hon. N. Clarke Wallace has become so critically serious that on Tuesday Dr. A. McPhedran was called in as a consulting physician to assist Dr. King, the family doctor. Mr. Wallace is suffering from pernicious anaemia, but there is hope that immediate danger does not exist. For the past two or three years Mr. Wallace has been a sufferer from his present complaint, but the crisis appears to have developed within the past month. The patient is not suffering pain, he is conscious all the time and is able to receive and chat with his friends. At his residence more of his friends have called than the doctors entirely approve of, for they constitute a disturbing element in the condition of Mr. Wallace. Peace and quiet are absolutely necessary at the present stage.

A GHASTLY FIND.

Body of Bugler Harry Reddon of the R. C. R. I., Found at Last.

LOST HIS LIFE BY DROWNING ON JUNE 29TH.

Discovery Made By An Employee of Estey's Mill.

REMAINS FOUND UNDER A RAFT, TIED JUST BELOW THE WATER WORKS PIER.

At last the river has given up its dead, and the mystery which surrounded the disappearance several months ago of Bugler Harry Reddon, of the R. C. R. I., has been cleared up. His body was found at 7.30 o'clock this morning by Jerry Gorman, an employee of R. A. Estey, beneath a raft of logs, moored a short distance below the water works pier. It was badly decomposed, but was easily recognized by the military trousers and sweater which fairly covered it. The body was found in a small opening near the centre of the raft, where it had been forced by the current, and had evidently been there for some time.

Mr. Gorman at once notified Coroner Seery of the ghastly find, and the coroner after viewing the body gave permission to have it removed. It was conveyed to the shore by Mr. Gorman, and laid out upon some boards. In removing the body from the water both legs and one arm dropped off, but were afterwards recovered.

News of the discovery spread quickly about the streets, and soon quite a crowd of spectators gathered upon the scene. Among the number were several of the deceased's late comrades from the R.C.R. I., one of whom was detailed to keep watch over the body until the arrival of Undertaker John G. Adams, who had been sent for by the coroner.

Bugler Reddon lost his life by drowning on the night of June 29th last. He had been out on the river in a sail boat along with Private Robie Harvey of the R. C. R. I., and they were last seen alive at the store of James Tennant on the Woodstock road. They started for the barracks about nine o'clock, but never reached their destination. The following morning the boat was found on the St. Mary's shore, just above the highway bridge, along with some articles of clothing belonging to the missing men. The conclusion arrived at was that the men had fallen out of the boat and lost their lives, and this theory was confirmed on the following Tuesday morning when the body of Harvie was found floating in the water below the railway bridge by the crew of the tug Hero. A diligent search was afterwards made for Reddon's body, but no trace of it could be found.

Both men belonged to Nova Scotia and saw active service in South Africa with the First Canadian Contingent. Reddon's home is at Windsor, and his relatives have been notified of the finding of his body.

A telegram was received by Major MacDougall this afternoon in response to one sent to Reddon's brother at Kentville, N. S., instructing him to have the remains interred here. The funeral will therefore take place at ten o'clock tomorrow morning under the auspices of the R. C. R. I. The band of the corps and a firing party of thirteen men will precede the hearse and the other members of the corps will act as mourners. Services will be conducted at St. Ann's church and interment will be made in the Rural cemetery.
