A MIGHTY HUNTER.

Jim Paul, Guide and Moose Hunter,

ONE OF NEW BRUNSWICK'S FAMOUS CHARACTERS

In Attendance Upon the Sportsmen's Show

HIS EXPERIENCES WHILE GUIDING NOTABLES IN SEARCH OF BIG GAME.

(Chicago Times-Herald.)

Jim Paul of New Brunswick has an Indian name, but it is unspellable. He insists it is "all the same as Jim Paul," and at any rate that is how he is known by sportsmen from New York to London and by Canadian officials from Halifax to Ottawa. In his buckskin suit and soft feather-tipped hat Jim is one of the most picturesque figures of the sportsmen's show at the Coliseum. When he takes up his birch bark megaphone and imitates the call of the female moose the big bull in the Coliseum vestibule pricks up his ears with interest. Perhaps it is the roar of the cable cars that is heard for the answering blow of the big moose, whether or no, Jim's moose call is one the city folk cannot often hear.

Jim refused the other day to trust himself on his way from the Coliseum to the Temple without a guide, but in the New Brunswick woods he would turn the trails from the Atlantic to the St. Lawrence, and he thinks nothing of tracking a bear for ten or twelve days. His father was an Indian and his mother a white woman. When the hereditary line of chiefs of the Mellicite Indians died out twelve years ago the tribe adopted an elective system and chose Jim for head man. He has been re-elected every three years except last year.

"They didn't hold no election last year," explains Jim. "They knew I would beat, and they just let me stay in." But Jim's forte is that of moose hunter. "I learned from my father, but I do better than him," says Jim. "Only one other man in New Brunswick who can make call like me."

With his birch bark horn he can make the call of both the male and the female animal, but it is the bull that the hunter generally wants. On a calm, frosty night the "moose" of the guide's horn can be heard by the keen ears of the moose for a distance of four miles. But the skillful halfbreed does not overdo the thing, and the call may only be given at intervals of an hour. The answering bellow of the bull sounds like the blow of an axe on a tree. When Jim hears a distant creaking through the underbrush he knows that the bull is on the way to seek a mate.

"Then I tease by calling low," explains Jim, and so remarkable is the deception that the keen-witted animal has been brought with a fifteen feet of the hidden fraud and his death-dealing companion.

This noted guide makes his headquarters at Fredericton, N. B., and is well known to hunters from the eastern states, for they have taken the place of the Englishmen in chasing the big game of the eastern province. The outsider must pay a license of $30 to enter the woods, and is permitted to kill but one moose, one caribou and two deer. There is no limit on the number of bears. The guide pays a license of $2, but may kill no more game than the outsider. Jim asserts that under this system the moose are increasing in numbers.

It has fallen to his lot to guide many distinguished personages, among them Princess Louise, the Marquis of Lorne and Lord Charles Beresford. The princess confined her sport to fishing, and among her catch was a fifteen-pound salmon. She trusted her precious person in a canoe with the half-breed guide.

"She was a nice lady," testifies Jim. "She was very quiet, and never gave me any trouble in the canoe. We went up to the St. Lawrence shore and had a good time."

But it was Lord Charles Beresford who completely won the guide's heart, for his lordship, beside being a good fellow, scattered money right and left.

"He give $150 beside my pay," explains Jim, "and $50 to each of the two men with me. When we hired a wagon and the man said it was $20 Lord Charles would say: 'Oh, that's too cheap; here's $40.' When we stopped at a farmhouse, if he thought the people was poor he give $5 to each one of the folks. When we got through he asked me how much I think the trip cost him. I guessed $500, but he said it was $4,000. He killed a moose and a caribou, and I gave him the caribou I killed. He had a Chinaman for a body servant, and one day the Chinaman let one of his $25 boots burn at the fire. Beresford had a temper. He grabbed the Chinaman by the pigtail, took a switch and gave him a good licking. That was years ago. I met him in New York two years ago. He said to me: 'Jim, you remember that Chinaman? Well, I sent him to the bank to cash my checks, and one day he ran away with $16,000. I could catch him, but what was the use? I couldn't get the money back, and I let him go.'"

Jim is 45 years old and has been a guide for twenty-seven years. He doesn't drink, and in races at Fredericton last year he beat young men at ten, five and two miles. He married a woman from the Mellicite tribe twelve-five years old and has a family of two sons and ten daughters. Two of the girls are with him at the Coliseum selling bows and arrows, little canoes and other trinkets made by the Indians. Jim rules over three villages with about 1,000 Indians. He thinks his white blood and training have made him a better Indian than the full bloods.

Unlike most Indians, Jim speaks freely with strangers and is a companionable man. He speaks English fluently, and he is proud of the fact that his children have had an opportunity to go to a good school established by the whites.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

Some Notes of Personal Interest.

Here are some interesting statistics about the personal side of William McKinley:—

Height—Five feet seven and one-half inches.

Weight—One hundred and seventy-five pounds.

Chest measurement—Forty-two inches.

Collar—No. 18.

Glove—No. 7 1/2.

Hat—No. 7 1/8.

Has been ill but once during his first term as President. Had the grip for ten days last December. Recovered perfectly.

His life is insured for $50,000.

He was fifty-eight years of age on January 29 last.

His father and mother were both old when they died, his mother living to be more than eighty.

His diet is simple. He eats a light breakfast, but little luncheon, and a good dinner. Prefers plainly cooked meats and likes few sweets.

Drinks one cup of coffee at breakfast and black coffee at dinner.

Smokes one cigar after each meal. His cigars are finest Havana tobacco, perfect size, and of medium strength.

He sleeps seven hours each night, is not troubled with insomnia. His exercise consists of a lively walk through the White House grounds several times each week.

WOODSTOCK

(Special correspondence to the Herald.)

March 14.—The roads leading into town are yet passable for heavy loaded teams and much wood and lumber is coming in.

Stanley Bull, the oldest son of Franklin Bull of Bull's Creek, a young man well and popularly known about town left for St. John on Friday, where he joined the South African constabulary. He will be greatly missed among the boys.

Arrangements were completed on Saturday night between the band committee of the 67th regiment and the Woodstock band, whereby the latter enters the 67th as the regiment band. The boys are playing out nearly every night at the rink and will be in good shape no doubt for camp.

Sergt. Major Cox lectures here tonight in the opera house and from all appearances will be greeted with a full house.

A young man recently coming into the river from D. S. Gibson's lumber camp saw a drove of thirteen caribou. They were getting along at a good rate of speed through the deep snow.

Li Col. Dunbar of Fredericton was in town last Tuesday inspecting the armour.

of the Woodstock Field Battery and No. 1 Co. 67 regt. The Col. made a thorough examination of both and expressed himself as being well pleased with the manner in which the king's property was being kept.

The Houlton band gave a minstrel show here in the opera house, last Friday evening. The house was full, large numbers of people driving over from the sister town to take part in the fun. A street parade was the special feature of the afternoon in which the Houlton and Woodstock bands both took part. They playing of both bands was much appreciated. There were about twenty-five members in the company including their orchestra. The local hits were greatly appreciated by the audience but were justly considered a little too pointed by a good many.

The C. P. R. Co., are replacing their old wooden bridge over the Meduxnekeag, by a substantial steel structure. It is strictly necessary as the old one to all appearances was getting pretty shabby.

A Pocket Physician.

Is something unique. To be had in a Catarhaze Inhaler. This wonderful, convenient little instrument is very versatile, it actually kills those nasty colds in the head in half an hour, and relieves sore throat in about five minutes. Patients recovering from pneumonia find Catarhaze a valuable aid, as it strengthens and improves the lungs. For the voice nothing is half so good, and great singers, public speakers use Catarhaze and say they would not be without it because it prevents hoarseness and renders the voice capable of greater endurance. As for Catarrh, Asthma and Bronchitis, Catarhaze alone is the only positive cure for those diseases. Ladies affirm that for sick headache and tired feeling across the eyes nothing is so helpful as Catarhaze, which also restores impaired hearing that is caused by Catarrh. Catarhaze prevents and is guaranteed to cure all diseases of the respiratory organs, and you can get it from any druggist, large size, $1.00; small size, 25c. A trial sent for 10c. by H. C. Polson & Co. Kingston, Canada, or Hartford, Conn., U. S.

UPPER MAGAGUADAVIC.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)
March 11.—Mr. Hood and son, who had a crew in the woods hauling logs, have finished and are home.

Miss Tressa Gartley, who was visiting friends in St. Stephen, has returned home again.

Miss Frances Hood has gone to Fiume Ridge to take charge of the school there. She will be missed among her young friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ray are receiving congratulations on a certain domestic event—a daughter; also Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, another baby boy.

Mr. John Jamieson has returned home from Uncle Sam's domain, and says the other boys will soon follow.

Mrs. Jamieson who was taken very ill after the death of her husband, is improving under the skillful treatment of Dr. Keith of Harvey.

Our school is still vacant for want of a teacher.

Mrs. W. E. Scott of Prince William, spent Sunday with her parents at Blaney for Houlton on Monday, to visit their daughter Mrs. Bort Taylor.

LAKEVILLE CORNER.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)
March 13.—George Briggs had the misfortune to lose one of his finest horses about a week ago.

A meeting was held in the Public Hall last night to discuss the subject of raising funds to repair the hall. A committee of eight persons were appointed to give an entertainment, which will be held on the 27th inst.

Rev. J. N. Parker, of Gagetown, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church on Sunday last.

Within the last two weeks frequent complaints have been made by the people of this section that two young colored men were unlawfully carrying loaded firearms on their person. Yesterday morning, Provincial Constable J. Warren Day suddenly confronted the two men and demanded any weapon about them. Upon examination one of them was found to have a number 32 calibre revolver with all five chambers loaded. The constable seized the weapon and will turn the case over to the authorities. The other man, who had carried one, but had sold it.

Live Agents Wanted.

Man or woman—lady preferred. We have pleasant and profitable employment for any man or woman at every post office address in Canada or United States, for an article of great merit, which sells at sight. Exclusive territory given to competent agents. Address N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Don't Be Caught.

Are you thoroughly equipped with clothes? Had you not better place your order with me at once for a working suit or a nice dress suit. I employ skilled labor, use good goods, and always give a good fit. I. C. Barden opp. Pton Business College York St. Pton.—d.

Get Corns?

Foolish to get them if you have? No fun in corns, but lots of pain. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor raises corns in twenty-four hours. Get a quick cure by raising it—druggists sell it.

We have heard of the man of a thousand. Of the man of the plough, pen and gun; But Union Blend Tea it is easy to see is the tea of two thousand and one.

McLaren's Imperial Cheese

Opened today at G. T. Whelpley's in small and medium jars.—d.

ARE YOU PLUMP

or thin? red cheeks or sallow life in your step or feel your weight? are you comfortable or hoping to be so next spring or summer or fall?

One is health; the other is not-quite health.

This condition of not-quite health can be turned into health with Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil.

It is a pity to get in the habit of thinking of health as a thing to be hoped for; why not go for it now!

There is only one way to make strength: by food. You want appetite first, then food. The emulsion will give you food-rest, to master your food with.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like. SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Canada.

DOUGLAS.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)
March 14.—We have had pretty cold and blustering weather until the last week, which seems more like spring.

The Fredericton Boom Company are repairing some piers at Douglas and Sugar Island booms.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dunphy have gone to New Hampshire to make their future home.

Mrs. Henry Coburn of Little River, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Dunphy. Mrs. Samuel Hallett of Marysville, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. George Dunphy, last week.

Mrs. Byron Kilbarn and family, of Kingsclear, spent a few days with friends and relatives in this place.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Currie on the arrival of a bouncing girl, also to Mr. and Mrs. Murray Scott on the arrival of a boy.

Sickness is quite plentiful in this place. Mrs. George Dunphy, Miss Jennie Ross and Mrs. William Clements are all very miserable.

Mrs. Charles McGibbon has been visiting at Gibson, Mauderville and Fredericton.

Always the Best.

Lucy & Co., wish to inform the public that they handle nothing but first class goods. Their stock is the cheapest because it is the best. Manufacturers usually have a large supply of inferior goods, the result of errors, inferior workmanship or some other cause. These they frequently offer us at a nominal price but we do not think them fit for our customers. Lucy & Co. don't deal in such goods. They annually return hundreds of pairs of boots and shoes, which are not up to the samples. They retain the best only. Their goods are the cheapest because they are the best. Deal with Lucy & Co.—d.

If you intend entertaining your friends at a social dance have your invitations and programmes printed at the Herald office.

If you have a hard hacking cough that no other remedy seems able to cure, try a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. There is nothing to equal it for loosening the phlegm, allaying the irritation and healing and strengthening the lungs and bronchial tubes.

Miss M. Bradshaw, Wesleyville, Ont., says: "My brother was troubled with a very bad hacking cough, which stuck to him in spite of everything we could do, but after using three bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup he was completely cured."

There are so many spurious "pine" preparations on the market that you should always be careful to get Dr. Wood's, the original and genuine.
