The Way They Do It

A Fredericton Oddfellow who has been residing in New Hampshire for some time, has been ill for the last three months and his lodge here has been remitting him his weekly benefits. The other day the American Oddfellows discovered his receipts were not large enough for the needs of his family and at once supplemented his grant with the sum of fifty dollars.

Died at Augusta.

News has been received of the death at Augusta, Me., of Mrs. Pamela C. Reid, a former resident of this city. Mrs. Reid was a daughter of the late Mr. Sylvester Wood, of Fredericton, and the wife of Mr. W. H. Reid, for some time in the employ of Messrs. J. & A. McMillan, of St. John, and now of the firm of Smith & Reid, state binders at Augusta. Mrs. Reid was a cousin of the late Sir Leonard Tilley and has many relatives throughout the province, who will hear of her death with regret.

Brakeman Injured.

Thomas DeWitt of Fredericton Junction, a brakeman on the C. P. R., was seriously injured at the St. John railway station Monday. He was on the top of a box car when the train was entering the station, and owing to the driving hail storm did not notice his proximity to the building until his head struck heavily against the top of the entrance, stunning him, badly cutting his head and seriously injuring his arm. He was discovered shortly afterward lying in an unconscious condition on the car, whence it is a wonder he had not fallen, and was taken to Fairville, where he is boarding, and where he received medical attendance.

Hockey Matches.

The St. Stephen team defeated the Marysvilles at the latter's rink last night, 1 to 0. The Fredericton team's negotiations with the St. Stephens for a match at Marysville fell through. The Mohawks of St. John play the Carling Club team here tomorrow evening.

Visited the Sloyd School.

The Lieutenant Governor and Speaker Robinson paid a visit to the Sloyd school this morning. Mr. Macredie was instructing a class at the time. The visitors expressed themselves as greatly interested and highly approved of the innovation into our school system.

Free Music.

In order that regimental bands may become proficient in marches likely to be played by massed bands in divisional or brigade camps, one set of music of 30 cards will be issued to each regiment free by the militia department.

Not Accepted.

H. C. Simmons, of this city, who enlisted in the South African constabulary at St. John, was finally weeded out with a half dozen others before the force left last night for Halifax.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

Corrected Returns of Monday's Civic Elections.

DR. CROCKET'S MAJORITY FOR MAYOR WAS 282.

Dr. McNally Led the Poll in Carleton Ward.

SKETCHES OF THE NEW MAYOR AND ALDERMEN.

In the hurry of getting the returns of the civic elections Monday afternoon, some errors crept into the Herald's figures and we publish below the corrected returns:

	For Mayor.	City Hall House	Court Total
Dr. Crocket,	291	253	544
W. E. Smith,	125	137	262
Aldermen—Carleton Ward.
Dr. G. J. McNally,	291	201	492
P. Farrell,	197	288	485
John Maxwell,	165	165	330

The vote on sewerage was as follows:
For sewerage.....138 134 272
Against sewerage.....205 117 322

The city council as now constituted is as follows:

Mayor—Dr. W. C. Crocket.
Aldermen—Wellington Ward—Ald. M. Ryan; Ald. G. Ward; Merrithew.
St. Ann's Ward—Ald. A. H. Vanwart, Ald. A. E. Everett.
Carleton Ward—Ald. P. Farrell, Ald. Geo. J. McNally.
Queen's Ward—Ald. John Moore, Ald. W. G. Clarke.
Kings Ward—Ald. C. F. McKendrick, Ald. William Roseborough.

After the close of the polls Monday, City Clerk Beckwith summed up the returns for the two polls and declared the result at the city council chamber in the presence of a large crowd of spectators.

Mayor-elect Crocket was then called upon and was given a warm reception. He briefly returned his thanks for the splendid majority the citizens had given him.

Dr. Crocket said:—My first duty is to thank you for having elected me, and to such a handsome majority, to preside over your civic affairs. I regard it as an evidence of your good will and confidence, and I shall endeavor to retain that confidence by a conscientious discharge of the duties of the office. If I had consulted my own personal interests and inclinations I certainly would not have been a candidate for the mayoralty, but for the past year or two, many of my friends and several citizens who were most intimate friends, kept urging upon me the advisability of coming forward in the interests of the public health. I gave a reluctant assent and soon found myself into the contest, and of course it is very evident from the state of the poll that my platform has met with your approbation. And here let me suggest to the aldermen, so many of whom sailed without opposing winds into the haven of unrest, that they had better make a mental note of the vote of today, so that when they appear for re-election they will be able to give, in sanitary matters, a satisfactory answer to the pertinent question of the electors "What have ye done?"

I greatly regret that the question of sewerage has been defeated, but it is quite evident from the vote in its favor that the final and satisfactory settlement of the matter cannot long be deferred.

With respect to the contest just closed, I can say with the greatest candor that during the whole course of it, I have given utterance to no harsh word, nor have I entertained toward my opponent any but the most kindly feelings. I believe that he can say the same, for only an hour or two ago when it must have been evident to the friends of Mr. Smith and to Mr. Smith himself, that the day was lost to them, he said to me, "well whatever way this contest terminates we will continue friends, and I feel that if you had not been the opposing candidate you would have voted for me." I could wish that all elections were run in this kindly spirit. I desire especially to thank those who were so active in my support and who bore the burden and heat of the day. To those who voted against me, I have no feeling of ill will. I thank you again for making me your chief magistrate.

Ald. McNally was next called for and was given a hearty welcome. He thanked the electors of the city for the magnificent vote which he had received returning him as they had at the head of the poll. He had come before the citizens advocating certain reforms and he could assure them that he would lay these matters before the council and endeavor to have them carried out. He wished the electors to watch his course at the council and he believed that at the end of the aldermanic year they could say that he had not abused the confidence which they had placed in him.

The veteran Ald. Farrell was heartily cheered as he mounted the rostrum in reply to repeated calls. He thanked the electors for returning him. He was proud to know that after twenty years of service at the council, they did not think he was to any serious extent unfaithful to his trust. He had always had many contests. Snaps did not come his way but he had always endeavored to fight manfully. He regretted the downfall of his colleague, ex-Ald. Maxwell, who had served at the board with him, but believed that Dr. McNally and he would fill the bill to perfection. He assured those who had voted against him that if they had any thing to bring before the council he would be pleased to consider their case without prejudice, and according to his convictions.

Ald. Everett responded to repeated calls and briefly thanked the electors for his return. He supposed he had started out wrongly by securing his election by acclamation, but he would endeavor to do his duty in looking after the affairs of the city.

The New Mayor.

Dr. William Caldwell Crocket, the new Mayor of Fredericton, is a son of Dr. William Crocket, formerly principal of the Normal School and Chief Superintendent of Education for New Brunswick, and now a professor in Morris College, Quebec. Mayor Crocket after mastering the drugist business with Mr. Geo. C. Hunt, passed through the New Brunswick University where he graduated B. A. Going thence to McGill University he studied medicine, taking his degree and afterwards completing his education at Edinburgh. Returning to Fredericton, he commenced to practice, and in the fourteen years he has been at it, has built up a large and lucrative business.

Mayor Crocket, has been president of St. Andrew's Society, chairman of the local board of health, and a member of Victoria Hospital commission. In religion he is a Presbyterian, and in politics a conservative. His wife is the only daughter of the late Mr. Caldwell of Dalhousie, who for a term represented Restigouche in the House of Commons, and they have two children. The Mayor is forty years old, was born at Campbellton, and never before sought civic honors.

The New Aldermen.

Dr. George J. McNally the new alderman for Carleton ward, is a native of Queensbury in this county, a son of Conn Alanson McNally of that parish and is something over 30 years old. He graduated in medicine at McGill, afterwards studying abroad, and has been practicing his profession in this city for the past two years. He is unmarried and a good looking.

Ald. Albert E. Everett, the new representative for St. Ann's ward, is a native of Kingsclear and son of Benjamin A. Everett, who some years ago sat for Carleton ward in the city council, and was well known as the proprietor of Long's Hotel. Ald. Everett is the proprietor of Windsor Hall, Fredericton's new hotel, and has never before been in civic politics. His wife is a daughter of Mr. John A. Campbell, of Kingsclear, M. P. P. for York.

Ald. William Roseborough, who replaces W. E. Smith for King's ward, is a native of Fredericton, and has been at the council board before. He is a contractor and is so well known that an extended introduction is unnecessary.

AN OFFICIAL VISIT.

Grand Master Allan Warmly Welcomed by Victoria Lodge of Oddfellows.

The Oddfellows were all astir last evening over the presence of C. B. Allen, E. q. of St. John, Grand Master of the Maritime Provinces of Canada. A reception committee met the distinguished visitor at the station and escorted him to the Queen Hotel.

Later in the evening, accompanied by W. S. Hooper, D. G. M., he visited Victoria Lodge and was received with all the formalities of the fraternity. There was a very large attendance of members from Nashwaak lodge, of Marysville, and several brothers from the Covered bridge. Bro. the Rev. G. M. Campbell also took a prominent part in the proceedings and represented Prince Edward Lodge of Moncton.

On behalf of Nashwaak Lodge, Victoria Lodge, and the visiting brethren, Mr. Sampson delivered an address of welcome to the Grand Master, who has made himself very popular among his brethren.

Grand Master Allen replied in a most happy manner, and for more than an hour addressed the brethren upon their duties and upon the objects of the Order.

An intermission followed when a committee of the young men distributed cake and ice cream, and the Grand Master made personally acquainted with all present.

Upon resuming business, Bro. Sampson presented a resolution appreciative of the Grand Master's address and expressing pleasure at his visit. This was seconded by Noble Grand Lee of Nashwaak Lodge, and endorsed in a most happy and interesting address by Rev. Mr. Campbell, who has himself been familiar with the mysteries of Oddfellowship for nearly two decades.

During the evening a letter was read from J. Fred Richards of Ottawa, and various items of business engaged the consideration of the members until nearly midnight.

Bro. Wilkes furnished the ice cream and cake and was complimented upon their quality.

THE DEATH ROLL.

George E. Howard Expires After a Long Illness.

After an illness extending over six weeks, from jaundice, grippe and typhoid fever, George E. Howard, of the well-known firm of Howard & Crangle, passed away at his home on King street at 11.30 a. m. today. The deceased was a great sufferer but retained consciousness almost to the end, and bade his family and friends a touching farewell.

Mr. Howard was a native of Fredericton, son of the late James Howard, and resided here nearly all his life.
