

W. P. JONES SPEECH

The commissioners of the lunatic asylum were acting in the interests of the municipality of Carleton county and Mr. Bell might have lived a long time in the asylum and there might have been eventually a big bill for the municipality to pay for his support, and Mr. Carter, in such case, would be the very first person to howl against the government if this bill had been charged to the municipality of Carleton as he would say there was ample property to pay for the maintenance.

Now, sir, I do not wish to be understood that it is my custom, nor is it my disposition, to go into personal ties in an election campaign. I have not done so in this campaign and I believe that the three gentlemen who compose the opposition ticket in this county and who are personal friends of mine, are honorable men and I do not believe that they are instrumental in propagating and distributing this lie, but I cannot finish my remarks with reference to this matter without saying a few words about Mr. Titus Carter.

CREIGHTON BELL'S SUICIDE.

Now, who is Mr. Titus J. Carter? Mr. Titus J. Carter is a lawyer, I am sorry to say. Mr. Titus J. Carter came to Woodstock and he went to the parish of Kent and he gathered up material in connection with the Daniel Bell estate from which he prepared affidavits as a basis for his equity suit.

David Bell and Mansfield Bell, two of the sons of Daniel Bell, refused to have anything to do with the matter, but Mr. Carter prevailed upon Creighton Bell to swear to the affidavits. Now, gentlemen, I am making these statements advisedly. I am prepared to go into this matter with Mr. Carter. Mr. Carter can hold me to account for these statements just as soon as he pleases to do so.

Two or three days after Creighton Bell swore to these affidavits he told some friends that he was in trouble. They asked him what it was. He said: "I have sworn to a lie; that means a penitentiary offence, but I never intend to go there;" and about a week after he swore to the affidavits he was a dead man, having cut his throat with a razor and committed suicide.

Gentlemen, I leave you to draw your own inferences. I have stated the facts.

Ogilvie's Flour is Popular Everywhere.

The best advertisement the Province of Manitoba has ever had was the selection of Ogilvie's flour for the table of the Prince and Princess of Wales. It brought the wheat quality and productiveness of the province to the immediate notice of thirty five millions of people in the British Isles and to many millions of other Britons beyond the seas. Ogilvie's flour has now a world wide reputation, and wherever it has gone one hears none but the best reports of its quality.

Sure to Follow.

"Hello, central!" called the man at the phone. "Give me the gas office." "Yes, sir," replied the operator. "but I must warn you in advance that we cannot tolerate any bad language over the wire."

Valuable Advice to Mothers.

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of an approaching attack of Grippe, Sore Throat, or sickness of any kind, first thing get out your bottle of Nerviline. Rub the chest and neck with Nerviline and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No liniment or pain reliever equals Polson's Nerviline, which is a necessity in every household. Large bottle costs only 25c.

A Mean Retort.

Bertha—I'm sorry you asked me to marry you. It pains me to refuse. Will (cheerfully)—Oh, don't worry! Perhaps you know best what I'm escaping.

"Come, Jimmie, you've had enough for to-night."
"Really it seems a boy is never done eating. I believe Jimmie would eat half a box of Christie's Biscuits if I would let him."
"Of course, they won't hurt him, and they are so fresh and crisp that I don't blame the boy for liking them, but then, every little boy's stomach has its limitations."

His Oversight.

He—Why didn't you answer my letter asking you to marry me?
She—You didn't inclose a stamp.

The Critical Time of Life.

Is between the years of fifty-seven and sixty-two. Nature's power slows down, vitality becomes less, and the progress of decay sets in. A means of extending old age and renewing decreasing vigor is to take Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone keeps up the appetite, and in the formation of red vitalizing blood, imparts clearness to the tired brain, force, energy and spirits just when they are needed most. To take Ferrozone regularly means adding from ten to twenty years to life. Large boxes 50c., or six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists or Polson Co., Kingston, Ont. Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are Certain.

Foolish Resolutions.

He vowed to shave himself this year And use not words profane.

FEEDS ONE—STARVES OTHER

Feeds the body—starves the microbes! That is what Scott's Emulsion does in consumption.

We can't expect to understand all about these germs and microbes the doctors talk of. They say that one kind causes consumption. Consumption microbes feed on weak lungs. Perhaps that's so.

At any rate we know that Scott's Emulsion has a peculiar action on the lungs which gives the lungs new life and vigor. Healthy lungs starve the microbes out.

Life for the lungs and flesh for the body, that is what the consumptive has a right to expect from Scott's Emulsion. An ideal food and tonic for any form of wasting disease.

How the Novel Ended.

Helen—Why is it novels always have a good ending?
Sue—Well, the one I read yesterday didn't have a good ending.
Helen—It didn't?
Sue—No; mamma threw it in the fire.

He Surprised Her.

Kidder—Skinner played a mean trick on his wife. He told her if she learned how to cook he'd give her a surprise.
Slimkins—Did she learn to cook?
Kidder—Yes, and then he surprised her by discharging the cook.

Hoped He Might Improve.
Husband (vituperatively)—I was an idiot when I married you, Mary.
Wife (quietly)—Yes, Tom, I knew you were. But what could I do? You seemed my only chance, and I thought then that you might improve a little with time.
