Von Moltke on Whist.

A German magazine published the subjoined anecdote about Moltke: "Did you, your excellency, play whist when you were in France?" asked Herr von Bennigsen of the great battle thinker one evening over a rubber. "Every day, when it was possible," replied Moltke. "We played half farthing points, so that at worst the players could not lose more than a shilling." One day Count Berthussy was his partner. "Why, my dear count, did you play spades?" said Moltke, in a sharp and serious tone. "I had an idea, your excellency, that you wanted spades." "But, my dear count, one does not play whist according to ideas, but according to rule," replied the field marshal, shaking his head.

His Wonderful Dream.

"Say," said the newspaper man thoughtfully, "I had a great dream last night. Thought I was making a mint of money." "How?" asked his friend. "Why, I dreamed I was a space rate reporter on a Russian paper." "I can't see how there was so much money in that." "But that isn't all of it. I dreamed that I was assigned to get the names at a court ball." "Tough job!" "Of course it was a tough job, but just think of the money. Why, every name was a yard long and had a string of titles to it besides. Oh, I was just coining money when I woke up."

The Parlor Match.

Referring to the parlor match, The wisest thing, no doubt, That may be done with it will be To merely put it out.

Too Peaceful.

"Dey is brothers, ain't dey?" "I guess not. I never seed 'em fight in'."

Aglow.

Now comes the time of wintry snow Which poets sing with glad acclaim. Then youthful cheeks will be aglow; I hope the stoves will be the same. —Washington Star.

A Gift of the Gods.

A great singer is a gift of the gods, and should belong by divine right to all the people. Whenever a Santley, a Patti, a Jenny Lind, a Campanini, an Edouard de Reszke, or a Nilsson is born the government should claim him or her for the nation, to sing for everybody as an enlightening, uplifting, soul inspiring influence. Libraries may help a few bookworms from time to time. A great singer would help millions of depressed souls during a lifetime.

No Frills For Him.

"What is your husband's alma mater?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "Oh," her hostess replied, "Josiah ain't got any. He always signs his initials just plain, old fashioned, without any puttin' on." —Chicago Record-Herald.

QUICKEST AND MOST EFFECTIVE.

I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in my family for the last six years, and have found it the quickest and most effective medicine for all kinds of coughs and colds I have ever used. My little boy had a severe attack of bronchitis, but before using half a bottle of the Syrup he was completely cured. I cannot praise it enough.
