COUNTY COURT CHAMBERS.

Application to Judge Wilson in Case of Fraser vs. J. A. Humble.

In the case of Donald Fraser vs. John A. Humble an application was made before Judge Wilson this morning by R. B. Hanson to strike out notice of defense set up against the action, on a bill of exchange brought by plaintiff against the defendant, on the ground that there was no defense put in, but merely to gain time. R. W. McLellan opposed motion and read affidavit showing defense to be bona fide. After argument, Judge Wilson concluded to allow notice to remain on record, being of opinion that an issue of fact was raised which could not be decided by affidavits. R. B. Hanson was attorney for plaintiff and R. W. McLellan for defendant.

BACK TO FREDERICTON.

An English Family Who Are Glad to Return to This City.

A family named Smith came here from England over a year ago and rented the Adams house on Campbell street, which they occupied until June last when they decided that "there was no place like home."

They consequently sold out their belongings with the exception of some treasured personal effects which they wished to take back with them to the old country. So, one bright morning last June they left here with light hearts at the hope of again residing in old England.

In due course they arrived there, but found that, while only a short time had elapsed since their departure for America, conditions had greatly changed for them. They were starting over again, as it were. Times were dull, and a general depression existed over England. Hundreds of skilled laborers were walking the streets looking for bread.

Thinking the matter over, Mr. Smith decided that America was not so bad after all, and he decided to again leave the land of his birth and come back to Canada.

The family did so, and as a result arrived this morning. Mr. Smith says that he has paid for his experience, but is satisfied to remain in Canada and intends now to permanently remain here.
