

ST. VITUS DANCE.

MUST BE TREATED THROUGH THE BLOOD AND NERVES.

One of the Worst Cases on Record Cured Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

St. Vitus dance is a nervous disease chiefly afflicting children. There are a number of signs by which it may be detected such as a twitching of the muscles of the face, shaky hands, or a jerky motion of the arms, a trembling or a dragging of the legs, irritability and restlessness. St. Vitus dance is caused by disordered nerves and blood—that is why it is always cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills fill the veins with pure, rich red blood, which in turn soothes and braces the nerves, making the sufferer well. Mrs. Luffman, Poucher's Mills, Ont., tells how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured her daughter, Louise. "I do not think it possible," says Mrs. Luffman, "that anyone could be afflicted with a more severe form of St. Vitus dance than that which attacked my daughter. Her arms and legs would twitch and jerk, her face was drawn, and finally her left side became numb as though paralyzed. Her speech became thick and indistinct and she could neither stand still nor sit down. Two doctors attended her, but gave her no benefit. The last doctor who attended her told me she would never get better. It was at this discouraging time we decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking two boxes we could see an improvement; she could sleep better and the spasms were less severe. From that on she steadily grew better, and after using eight or ten boxes she was as strong and healthy a girl as you will find anywhere, and she has not had the least symptom of the trouble since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the surest cure for St. Vitus dance, hysteria, neuralgia, nervous exhaustion, paralysis, and all the nervous troubles of men, women and children. But you must get the genuine with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A PECULIAR SUIT.

Jerome Internoscia, former Italian consul at Montreal, has entered a suit at St. Sholastique against Vincent Bonelli, a wealthy merchant of Vicksburg, Mass., who has a summer residence in the mountains at St. Agatha.

In his declaration Internoscia alleges that he was engaged to marry Bonelli's daughter, Annie, and that the engagement was broken off through the efforts of the defendant. Internoscia does not demand any compensation for his injured affections, but sues for $2,800 as the amount expended upon his courtship. He gives an itemized account of this expenditure, charging for postage, fruit, flowers, car fare, cab hire, wearing apparel, etc.

The young woman was being educated in the convent at Sault au Re collet, and Internoscia charges for the services of his sister, who went out there on sundry times to see her and to convey presents.

Bonelli bought a house, intending to present it as a wedding present to his daughter. Internoscia moved in, and in his bill charges his at one time prospective father-in-law with the cost of removal and with the difference between the cost of living in the new house and what it would have cost him had he remained in his former residence.

When the match was broken off the young lady returned all the presents he had given her, and these Internoscia disposed of, charging up the loss to Bonelli. But the principal charge is for 465 hours Internoscia alleges he spent in Miss Bonelli's company at the rate of $2 per hour.

The case is arousing a great deal of interest.

HOT WEATHER DANGERS.

More little ones die during the hot months than any other season. At this time stomach and bowel trouble assume their most dangerous form, and sometimes a few hours delay in the treatment means the loss of a little life. Baby's Own Tablets is the best medicine in the world to prevent these troubles, or to cure them if they attack the little one unexpectedly. Every mother should have a box of these tablets in the house—their prompt use may save a child's life. Mrs. Arthur Cote, of St. Fortunat, Que., says: "My little one was greatly troubled with colic and bowel trouble, but since using Baby's Own Tablets the trouble has disappeared, and she is growing nicely and has good health." These Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiates and are safe for a new born baby or a well grown child. Bold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DO THE DEAD RETURN.

Discussion of Stories and Experiences Showing that They Sometimes Do.

I have had only one experience in telegraphy, said the man, but that was a strong one. I ran away from home when I was a boy of nine. My father was cruel to me, but I loved my mother dearly. I got on a ship at the Brooklyn docks, bound for I don't know where. Eventually, after much roaming, I landed at Bombay, where I became printer's devil on a small paper.

I was taken ill there of fever, so ill that I thought I was at the point of death. That night it was very hot, but somehow I got out of bed and stood at the lattice of the open window.

That was some seven years after I had run away from home, but I had never once forgotten my mother. She was my idol. I prayed to her. In my troubles I talked aloud to her and she must have heard me; for, though all the rest had long before given me up for dead, she would never believe it.

Well, as I stood there I said to her that I was sorry I had left her and caused her so much unhappiness. That now that I was about to die I wanted her to understand that. I wanted her to know, too, that I had always loved her.

Just then it became a little light in the east and there began to be a breeze, cooling the intensity of the heat. I heard her voice at the same time saying as plainly as I am talking to you now: You will not die.

Then it was as if she kissed me as I stood there.

I got well and went home to her. She told me the day and hour that I stood at the lattice in India talking to her and her answer to me.

I believe in such things, said the Psychic Woman, and also in the nearness of the soul or spirit to earth and loved ones immediately after death particularly in the case of those who die suddenly. Not long ago a friend, a young man came to see me. He was the wreck of himself. His eyes were hollow, his face haggard.

What in the world has changed you so I asked him.

This, he answered. My best friend died suddenly and he has been haunting me. I see him near me always, and I wish he would rest in his grave and quit haunting me.

I know all about that. I knew a man of such splendid physique that you would have thought to look at him that he would live forever. He was taken with appendicitis and died in three days.

He had beautiful auburn hair—a splendid mass of it, as thick as could be. He used to sit, when living, in a certain chair, when he called on me, and the sunshine coming in at the window made a soft flame of his hair. I used to go to the head of the stairs and watch him come up, his fine hair gleaming in the dusk of the stairway.

For weeks after he died, whenever I entered the room I could see him in that chair with the sunlight on his hair. Whenever I went out and looked down the stairway, I could see the shine of his beautiful hair as he came up. You may call it nervousness or the effect of my constant thought of him, but as for me, I believe the spirit of him was there.

One proof, to my mind, is this story of an old manor house that belonged to an army officer who had rented it and gone to India. The house was in the suburbs of London. The officer had lost an arm.

A girl whose father had rented the manor house was stricken with the kodak fever. She took pictures of the house, one room after another, until she had taken them all. Then she took the films to a London photographer to be developed and printed. After a week or so she called for them.

They are very good, said the photographer, with the exception of one that is a little dim—the one of the one-armed man who is sitting in the library by the table.

What one-armed man, she asked in amazement, there wasn't a single soul in any room when I took the pictures. Not a soul!

There was a man in the library, reiterated the photographer, for here is the picture of him.

He brought out the picture of the library and there was the one-armed man sitting sadly by the table. Upon investigation it was found that the owner of the house, the one-armed army officer, had died suddenly in India on the day on which she had photographed his home.

Was there anything more natural than that his soul should come back on a visit to his old home the moment it was freed from his body? Or that my friend's soul should come back and visit me?

Birth-marks which mark and mar the outside of the body are a grief to every mother whose children may bear them. But for every child who bears a birth-mark on the skin there are many who bear an indelible birth-mark on the mind. Nervous mothers have nervous children and many a man and woman owes an irritable and despondent temperament to those days of dread when the mother waited the hour of her maternity. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription strengthens the mother for her trial. With strength comes a buoyancy of spirits and quietness of mind, which is one of the happiest gifts a mother can bestow on her offspring. By giving vigor and elasticity to the delicate womanly organs "Favorite Prescription" practically does away with the pain of maternity and makes the baby's advent as natural and as simple as the blossoming of a flower. There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic contained in "Favorite Prescription."

THE POTATO CROP.

Some Valuable Information for the Prevention of Loss.

Farmers continue to lose hundreds of bushels of potatoes every year from blight and rot which might be saved by spraying the vines with Bordeaux mixture. The results obtained at the Central Experimental Farm and elsewhere have proved over and over again how well it pays to spray, but comparatively few farmers spray their potatoes for the prevention of rot even yet. At Ottawa one variety that was sprayed yielded at the rate of 201 bushels more per acre than the same variety unsprayed, and taking the average of 11 varieties there was an increase of 120 bushels per acre. The formula used is 6 lbs. bluestone, 4 lbs. lime, and 40 gallons water. If the potato beetle is still active 8 ozs. Paris green may be added to this. If fresh lime cannot be obtained, 7½ lbs of washing soda will take its place. There should be about 4 sprayings, the first about the middle of July, the second from ten days to two weeks later, the third and fourth at about the same intervals, the object being to keep the vines covered with the mixture until September.

It has been proven by experiment that over half the crop of potatoes will be produced after August 22nd, if the vines are kept green, and this is what spraying will do, as, at the Experimental Farm, the vines have been kept green from 18 to 20 days longer than where left unsprayed. The cost of 4 sprayings is about $7.

Fuller particulars will be furnished on application to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.
