

A NOTED HORSEMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Mr. Antoine Wendling, owner of Deveras 2114 and proprietor of the Clifton House, Brockville, says no liniment compares with Nerviline for general use around the stable. For strains, sprains, swellings, internal pain and especially for affections of the whirl bone Nerviline is unequalled. Mr. Wendling believes Nerviline is indispensable as a horse liniment, it has strength, penetrating power, and works thoroughly. Every horse and stock owner should use Nerviline. Sold in large 25c. bottles.

HOBBIES.Interesting Data of Their Value in the Wilds of Labrador.

Every man, especially in scantily settled regions like this, should have a hobby of some sort to occupy his mind. We lay all one Sunday in a dense fog in a small harbor on an uninhabited island, in which we had taken refuge in the foggy darkness of Saturday night. The unusual experience of so many hours of enforced rest made time hang almost heavily on our hands, and we whiled away the afternoon walk in collecting various shrubs and pressing them, and learning their names from one of the numerous books of reference which are published at prices within the reach of every one in these days. Most of these books contain excellent keys for classifying and naming any plant one finds, and the puzzle to the mind in some direction totally unconnected with one's daily work affords much more rest than time of mere idleness. Most of these guide books also, give one interesting legends attached to these various humble friends which beset our paths every time we go ashore. These not only interest the mind but furnish fresh sources of interest and conversation, where new topics are remarkable by their absence.

Take, for instance, the common Crowberry—common all over Newfoundland. Every one knows that this plant is a northern shrub which no cold is able to destroy, and yet how many have noticed the main reason why it can resist temperatures which would destroy most other common plants. (Phanerogams). The reason is that the leaves are rolled back on themselves, and the outer edges stuck together so that the breathing mouths of the leaves are covered up. In this way there is never any of that excessive evaporation which reduces the temperature so rapidly, and changes of temperature hardly affect it at all. Take again the common White Flower (Ledum Latifolium), or Labrador Tea. Why can it also resist the cold so well? Here the breathing mouths are protected by thick yellowish wool, so thick that one wonders that one has so often seen it and not noticed this peculiarity about it. The flowers we got here were really beautiful. The Marsh Holy Rose, called Andromeda, because it is said it resembles her as her feet were chained to the rock under water. With it is the Marsh Laurel—the small variety known as the Lamb-kill, which has been so fatal to goats in this country. Indeed, I found that some of the members of the crew were well aware of its prepossessions, they having had a little experience in stock raising in that line in Conception Bay.—From Dr. Grenfell's letters on the Fisher Folk of Labrador.

DOMINIONDAY,*JULY 1,*1904.*EXPERTS AGREE

IN DECLARING THAT THE CHETICAMP DISTRICT, WHERE THE RICHFIELD PROPERTY IS SITUATED, CONTAINS ORE DEPOSITS OF GREAT VALUE, WHICH WILL MAKE IT ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT MINING SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY

Leading authorities unite in agreeing that the mining possibilities of the District of Cheticamp, Cape Breton, are greater than those of any other section of Nova Scotia. There is no other part of the Province in which such vast mineral deposits have been uncovered. Experts pronounce it the most promising field in Nova Scotia for extensive and permanent mining operations. The RICHFIELD property is expected to be the first to produce in this great field. It is capable of producing an enormous amount of ore daily, its splendid natural advantages enabling it to be opened in a number of places. The RICHFIELD ore values include gold, copper, silver and arsenic. Any person desirous of obtaining full information regarding the RICHFIELD COMPANY is invited to address the advertiser, who will forward a booklet just issued containing the history of the enterprise, describing the magnificent property at Cheticamp and pointing out the reasons why the owners are confident of making it a highly profitable venture. Intending investors are requested to use the following Inquiry Form:
