Free Baptist Outing --- Those Tramps Again---Successful Berryling Party at Carlo.

(By Our Own Reporter.)

Aug. 25.—The pretty lawn at the rear of Mr. Melbourn Bailey's residence presented a very attractive and brilliant appearance yesterday afternoon and evening, the occasion being the annual outing of the Free Baptist congregation and Sabbath School. The grounds were all nicely arranged for an old time picnic, large swings having been erected and the usual games were introduced, such as bean toss, Indian ball toss, rifle shooting, etc., for which valuable prizes were given. The school children also had several different races and pastimes which were greatly enjoyed by all. The Marysville brass band furnished the music for the occasion. Of course all the Sabbath school scholars were admitted free and were served with refreshments. A large booth beautifully decorated, had been erected, from which fruit, candy, refreshing drinks and ice cream were sold. In the evening there was a very large crowd present and Rev. J. C. Wilson acted as auctioneer and disposed of all the remaining eatables at reasonable prices. As the day was delightful, the crowd large and the music excellent, the whole affair was a grand success.

Early yesterday morning a man pretending to be a ship-wrecked sailor, called at several houses asking for refreshments, but was turned away without getting anything to eat, until one kind hearted person took pity on the poor fellow and gave him his breakfast and he went on his way rejoicing. There has been so much cheap talk lately about tramps that it is hardly safe for a stranger to walk the roads. On the other hand several of our young ladies and boys are afraid to go out after dark for fear of being robbed, but most of the reports are untrue.

Several large parties drove out to Carlo yesterday in a blue berrying exhibition and it was certainly a very delightful outing through the old picturesque road to what is called the "Grab" road where the berries are very plentiful in fact they are inexhaustible and everybody got their share. Mr. Wm. Foss of Marysville and his little party picked over thirty-six quarts and spent a very enjoyable day in the country in the old picnic fashion. They left the plains shortly after four o'clock.

Mrs. Robert Rushbrook has returned from St. John.

Too many friends of Mr. Harry and Miss Grace Babbitt will be pleased to hear that they are getting better.

Mr. Manford Yeomans, who was reported as having the typhoid fever, is improving.

Miss Maud Elder of Marysville has been visiting her friend, Miss May Yeomans for the past few days.

LAURIER AT METAPEDIA.

Reception to be Tendered him by N. B. and Quebec Politicians Socn.

Newcastle, N. B., Aug. 24.—Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier arrived at Metapedia this morning in their private car, attached to the Maritime express. They were received by Senator Casgrain, Charles Marcell, M. P., and Mrs. Marcell and Mr. Casioles, manager of the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway, who presented to Lady Laurier a bouquet of flowers.

Both the premier and his wife are in excellent health and were anxious to reach Carleton, where they will be the guests of Senator and Mrs. Casgrain for a few days.

After a half-hour's pleasant conversation the government car was attached to the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Train, drawn by the locomotive Marcell, which was gayly decorated with bunting.

The date of the reception to the premier at New Carlisle, the county seat of Bonaventure, will be fixed in a few days. It promises to be a very elaborate affair and will be participated in by the electors of Bonaventure, Restigouche, Gloucester and Gaspé counties.

A House Cleaning Carol.

WHEN the soap is on the stairway and the carpet's on the line,
Then I do not mope and long for any "Home, Sweet Home," in mine.

For I know the books are corded in the cellar by the coal,
And the pictures are reposing by the punch and salad bowl,
And the mops and rags and dusters in confusion intertwine
When the soap is on the stairway and the carpet's on the line.

The piano's in the kitchen and the feather beds are hung
On the fence above the flowers where the bric-a-brac was hung;
There's a heap on the veranda—crockery and jardinières—
And a sound of mighty whacking in the back yard strikes my ears,
So I slope away discreetly, for some other spot I pine
When the soap is on the stairway and the carpet's on the line.

They would feed me on cold victuals; I would sleep upon a cot;
They might even say, "Get busy"—make me help them, like as not.
So I hover at a distance till I see them gather in
All the furniture and bedding, and com-
placently I grin
That a fellow's mighty lucky if he knows the mystic sign
When the soap is on the stairway and the carpet's on the line.

Woman's Crowning Glory.

It was just before the curtain rose. The great house was crowded. A small, nervous looking man, with a propitiatory smile on his face, leaned forward from his seat in the center aisle and whispered something to a tall woman who sat in front of him. There was a momentary silence like the lull before the storm. Then something happened. A human cyclone was let loose. People shrieked. Everything was in confusion. Ten minutes later the ushers carried out the nervous looking man, now hopelessly disfigured, and laid him tenderly in the waiting ambulance. Then it was the manager, with a look of intense sympathy, leaned over the prostrate form, his curiosity no longer able to restrain itself. "Would you mind," he asked, "telling me what you said to that woman?"

Even in his great pain the man shuddered as he feebly replied:
"Alas, I asked her if she would kindly remove her hair!"—Collier's Weekly.

His Estimate.

"You used to tell me I was birdlike," complains the fond wife.

The brutal husband continues to bury his nose in the paper.

"You used to tell me I was birdlike," repeats the fond wife, "but now you never act as if you thought so."

"You're still birdlike," growls the brutal husband.

"One wouldn't think you thought so to judge by!"

"Isn't a parrot a bird?"—Judge.

Not the Popular Stuff.

"That Mrs. Newcome next door to you plays the piano a great deal, doesn't she?"

"Yes, indeed."

"Is it good music?"

"It must be, for I can't make head or tail of it."—Philadelphia Press.

Descendant of Mohammed.

A lineal descent of Mohammed lives the life of a small shopkeeper in Cairo, Egypt. The famous ancestry of the tradesman is familiar throughout the city and insures good trade, especially among the tourists. The shop is a very modest affair and the stock in trade is not large.
