A PARTY IDOL

Who Inspires the Respectful Homage of Canadians.INDEPENDENT TORONTO NEWS ON LAURIER.

Editorially the Toronto News, independent, says:

It is doubtful if Canada has ever known a more remarkable public demonstration than that at Massey Hall in honor of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There was something peculiarly intimate and personal in the welcome to the Prime Minister. A picturesque figure, with the marks of age upon him, "wearing in the greatness of his way," he grows ever closer in the affections of his countrymen. He has that strange and mysterious gift, which Sir John Macdonald possessed in almost equal degree, of touching the heart and the imagination of the people. While he is no less a party idol than was Sir John Macdonald, it is no injustice to the great man who has gone to say that he inspires a chivalrous respect among the mass of his opponents that the Conservative leader never possessed. The affection of Liberals for their leader was intensified by their sense of the long illness through which he had passed and the still visible effects upon his face and frame. There was a passionate loyalty in the emphasis which they laid upon the usual utterance that he hoped to live—he was not permitted to say how long—and a singular intensity in all the tumultuous demonstrations of feeling which his speech aroused.

To himself, as to the meeting, the occasion must be memorable. He was speaking to the great English and Protestant centre of Canada, a French-Canadian and a Roman Catholic, before an audience conscious that he held almost the undivided support of the Parliamentary representation from the French Province, and yet under such circumstances he received perhaps the crowning popular tribute of all his public career. That is something which he can well afford to cherish, and something in which we may all take pride as a revelation of the liberal temper and catholic disposition of the Canadian people. The speech was noteworthy for its rare fervor and eloquent simplicity. In cold type it may not have all the beauty and gravity of the spoken word, but was an exhibition of the power of one man to move and impress and inspire a great audience for the passing hour, it must stand unrivalled in our politics. In its main scope and its direct purpose, it was an appeal to the British heart and the national spirit of Ontario, by a political leader who greatly desired from this English speaking Province a favorable judgment upon the work and policy of his administration. There was more of appeal than of argument, more perhaps of fervor than of force, but the whole performance was singularly persuasive and powerful, and must be greatly influential with his fellow-countrymen. We must wait for the response, but it seems impossible that from such a sowing no fruit should be gathered.

NOVA SCOTIA WHIRLWIND.

A Poetic Description of the Gourley Campaign.

(Montreal Herald.)

"Mr. Seymour E. Gourley is still keeping up his whirlwind tour in Colchester."—Halifax paper.]

Hear it rumble in the distance.
Faint at first, and like a sighing;
Now it's louder, it is nearing;
See the sticks and timber flying,
Hear the rushing of the whirlwind,
Rushing, roaring, sweeping, leaping,
Swelling, bowling, writhing, wringing,
Shocking, rocking, bounding, creeping,

Howling, shrieking, breathless panting,
Whizzing, sizzing, wildly ranting;
Mighty whirlwind, breezes and bluster,
Words and gas, noise and shouting
Only Gourley, frothing, spouting
Down in Nova Scotia.

Hear the bawling, sprawling, brawling,
Hear the mountains trembling, shaking,
Loudly growls the noise and clatter;
Feel the hills and valleys quaking,
Tearing, twisting, squirming, rumbling,
Riving, diving, bounding, waving,
Troubling, grumbling, babbling, screaming,
Sounding, heaving, pouring, raving,
Dancing, prancing, pouring, gushing
Thumping breathlessly and bumping,
Bumping, thumping, grinding, thrashing,
Flashing, dashing, smashing, jumping;
Only Gourley's lungs a-pumping
Down in Nova Scotia.

Here his voice in rancorous thunder,
See the skies take on a lustre,
Here the mighty jaw a-creaking
Of the great and only Buster;
Lightnings flash and people wonder;
Swiftly down the pike he's ploughing
Winds and words and arms are flying,
Mighty gales are roaring, sobbing;
Now the earth shakes, tips a mountain,
Something like the glad explosion
Of a soda water fountain.
Bang! Bang! Bang! and likewise Bingo,
Only Gourley's gentle lingo
Down in Nova Scotia.

A treacherous wind hits you in the back and the next morning you have lumbago. Rub well and often with Perry Davis' Painkiller, and you will be astonished to find out how quickly all soreness is banished.

It's difficult for some men to mean what they say.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER.

A CUSTOMER has written the E. B. Eddy Company as follows:
"DEAR SIR,—As regards the use of Eddy's Impervious Sheathing, I was recommended to try it for lining bedroom Walls of my summer cottage and by using white mouldings with it, the effect is pretty, and it has answered admirably for the past 5 years. I also used it to cover the walls externally of my ice house and painted the same a light olive color, and it has weathered the storm, snow and ice for the same period, and is now in good condition. I most willingly recommend its use."
