BOSTON CANUCKS

Royally Celebrated Great Liberal Victory.

ASSEMBLED UNDER AUSPICES OF CANADIAN CLUB.

And Received Full Reports of Election Results.

Boston, Nov. 5.—It is to be doubted if in Canada itself there was a more enthusiastic election night gathering than that which took place in the hall of the Boston Young Men's Christian Union on Thursday evening. It is always the custom of the Canadian-born residents of Boston, and vicinity to get together on the night of the Dominion election and receive such returns as may come to hand before midnight, but yesterday's foregathering of the clans eclipsed in size and interest any that has previously occurred.

The arrangements were under the auspices of the Canadian Club of this city, one of the most enterprising organizations of its kind in the United States, and they were carried out with an elaborateness that would have done credit to Montreal, Halifax or Toronto. By means of a special Western Union wire, which was run right into the hall, the election returns from all over the Dominion, collected by that company at Winnipeg, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Quebec, Halifax and St. John, were received almost as quickly as they were by the waiting throngs in the Dominion itself, and before nine o'clock the results in most of the important local contests were known, while the general result was discounted with the receipt of the very first bulletin.

CROWDS OF BLUENOSES.

By eight o'clock there were nearly 600 persons in the hall, many ladies being present, every seat being occupied and a number being obliged to stand. Every province in the Dominion was represented, the majority, of course, being from the Maritime Provinces and eager to learn the outcome of the contests in their native Counties.

Nova Scotians predominated, as they usually do on such occasions, and it was a Bluenose, President John F. Masters, a native of Kentville, who called the big gathering to order at eight o'clock, briefly explained the aims and objects of the Canadian Club and referred to the very large colony of Canadians domiciled in this part of the United States.

While the early returns were awaited, Vice-President Charles H. McIntyre, a native of New Brunswick, and a well known Boston lawyer, made an interesting address, in the course of which he outlined the principal issues in the political contest just culminating in Canada and briefly sketched the form of government and recent progress of the Dominion. Mr. McIntyre made an excellent impression, and was generously applauded.

LEADERS WERE CHEERED.

The stereopticon operator then began to get in his work, first throwing upon the screen the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, each of which was tumultuously applauded. Then followed portraits of King Edward VII., President Roosevelt, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Lord Minto, Earl Grey, Sir Frederick Borden, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Mr. R. L. Borden, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. J. W. Longley and other notables.

The applause that greeted the portraits of the party leaders showed that the sympathies of the audience were pretty evenly balanced, but it must have been that everyone present joined in the tumult of applause and cheers that greeted the well known countenance of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. So great was the uproar that the telegraph operator who had taken up his position near the platform, was driven from the scene to an adjoining room, as it was impossible for him to follow the sound of his instrument.

CHRONICLE'S GOOD NEWS.

Bedlam broke loose again when the first bulletins, indicating the Liberal landslide, were read by Assistant-Secretary Asa R. Minard, a native of Port Medway, N. S. The first definite news of the tidal wave in Nova Scotia came with the receipt of a private telegram from the Morning Chronicle Halifax, and further confirmation came a little later in the form of a despatch from a prominent Conservative editor of Halifax, admitting that the province had been swept cleanly by the Liberals, but adding: "God still reigns, and the people will return to reason."

When the news came that Mr. R. L. Borden, the Conservative leader, had gone to defeat in Halifax, there was consternation among the Conservative sympathisers, and many of the Liberals present expressed regret that he could not have been snatched as a brand from the burning.

"It's too all-fired unanimous in Nova Scotia," commented one man in the audience.

PROUD OF THE LEADERS.

The applause that followed the announcement that Hon. W. S. Fielding and Sir Frederick Borden had received "bumper" majorities was a pretty good indication of the popularity of these gentlemen with the Boston Canadians.

The uncertainty as to the outcome in New Brunswick, and especially in the City of St. John, kept the interest of the many New Brunswickers present at fever heat and there was a great demonstration when the election of Mr. Emmerson was announced. The outcome in St. John was scarcely more of a surprise than the result in Quebec, for Canadians hereabouts follow the political history of their native land almost as closely as do those who still reside there. In addition to the portraits of the leading candidates a series of bright cartoons bearing on the election contest were flashed on the screen, and from time to time snappy comments were likewise projected there, serving to add to the zest of the occasion.

FUNNY MEN'S WORK.

Both parties were indiscriminately "roasted," some of the epigrams being as follows:

"The Tories are busy packing their Grand Trunk."

"Looks like four years more of Laurier and prosperity."

"The Dutch have again captured Holland. The Liberals win out in Quebec."

"Andy Blair has taken a side-track but he still has steam up."

"Yarmouth has nobly upheld the Law."

"Copp is no Digby chicken."

VIEWS OF HOME LAND.

In the intervals between announcing of bulletins and the resultant lung-testing operations, a series of beautiful colored views were thrown on the screen by Rev. A. T. Kempton, the well known lecturer, and also a Nova Scotian. These included selections from Mr. Kempton's illustrated "Evangeline," and his lectures on Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, "Myles Standish" and "Hawatha," the latter being the most magnificent stereopticon pictures ever displayed in this city, and the result of a recent visit to the delightful land of the Ojibways. This part of the evening's entertainment gave unbounded pleasure to the audience, and helped to round out a Canadian reunion that will not soon be forgotten by the participants.

The gathering was not finally dissolved until 10.30, by which time it was definitely known that the government would have an increased majority in Parliament. The bulletin service was the quickest and most complete that has ever been received in this city on the night of a Canadian election, even Manitoba and British Columbia being heard from by 10 o'clock.

It is pleasing to realize that Canada's sons and daughters, even when living far from home, and perchance subjects of a different government still remain loyal to their native land and its institutions.

Americans are known as a dyspeptic people. The extent of this disease may be inferred from the multitude of so called "medicines" offered as a remedy. They are often in tablet form and have no value except as palliatives of the immediate effects of dyspepsia. The man who used them may feel better but is surely getting worse. They do not touch the real cause of the disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine specially prepared to cure diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It is not made to give temporary relief but to effect a permanent cure. In ninety-eight cases out of every hundred it cures perfectly and permanently.

It has cost Dr. Pierce $25,000 to give away in the last year the copies of his People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which have been applied for. This book of 1008 pages is sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing and customs. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BABE FORGOTTEN BY HIS MOTHER.

She Had Thirteen to Look After and She Lost One of Them.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—Up to this morning the officials of the C. P. R. has been under the impression that the lost articles collected on their trains at one time or another included everything for passengers to lose, from a pair of false teeth sunk in an apple to a set of regimental colors. The record was broken, however, this morning and the limit reached when a starry little baby boy of about two years of age was found to have been forgotten by his mother in the excitement of getting off the train to change cars at Montreal Junction.

It appears that the youngster belonged to a family of thirteen children, and that the whole brood, under the mother's wing, was travelling down towards Quebec. A change of cars had to be made at Montreal Junction, and in the bustle consequent upon getting her numerous progeny off the train, the mother overlooked her youngest son and heir, and the omission was not noticed until a count of heads was made, and when, with a cry of horror, she noticed that she was one short. By this time the train had pulled out, and when Windsor station was reached the youthful citizen was gathered up among lost baggage and brought to the station agent's office, where he was well taken care of until the distracted mother, who took the next train to town, gathered him to her bosom. Mr. Millar, the station agent, vouches for the fact that when the baby saw his mother coming he gave her a most indignant look, as if to say, "You're a nice kind of a mother to go and forget a chap like that, ain't you?"

CHASED BY A BIG BLACK BEAR.

First Hunter Ran After Firing Three Bullets.

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Last Saturday Mrs. Gilvair, wife of the Erie Railroad operator at Elgin, Pa., about forty miles west of Jamestown, was surprised to see a big black bear amble leisurely through the main street of the village. She called her husband. He mounted a bicycle and rode to the Concord Tower, where he had a rifle. Returning he chased the bear down the railroad track. When about fifty feet distant he fired three bullets into the animal's anatomy. The bear then left the railroad track and ran for a ravine.

Gilvair took a short cut and met his quarry at the end of the ravine. Brainstuck upon his haunches and growled angrily. Gilvair's hunting enthusiasm evaporated so rapidly that he fired his last wild shot, and then, dropping his gun, he ran like a jackrabbit. The bear sauntered into the neighboring woods, apparently unharmed.

In the meantime the country side had been alarmed, and a army of farmers started off on a bear hunt, armed with a miscellaneous assortment of weapons, ranging all the way from the latest model Winchester to an iron barn shovel. They said they'd "get that darn bear if they had to chase him clear to Carry, by gosh." The bear, however, made its way to Beaver Dam, and two schoolboys, Ed. Bliss and Clem Pierce cornered it in an apple orchard and killed it.

Nova Scotia's New Bishop.

Halifax, Nov. 9.—Bishop and Mrs. Worrell arrived here Tuesday night from Montreal. They were met at Windsor Junction by a number of clergy and laity who went out from the city and accompanied them in. At North street station there was another large gathering of church people to greet the new bishop. He was driven to the Waverly House, where he will reside until his residence is ready.

Thursday morning his enthronement will take place with elaborate ceremony at St. Luke's cathedral and in the evening he will hold a reception.

THREE MILLION THEATRE.

Magnificence of Playhouse Will Dazzle New World.

City of Mexico, Nov. 8.—Plans for a $3,000,000 national theatre are being prepared by Juan Borrari, a noted architect. When completed the building will compare favorably with any amusement place in the world. The structure will not be finished for two years.

The plans have not yet been accepted, but there is no doubt that they will be. Indeed, so certain are the people, who are backing the enterprise that it will be accomplished, they are now talking about the opening night. It is the intention to make the event memorable. Arrangements are already under way to engage the most notable players of the world for the opening night.

The government will lend its patronage to the great playhouse in more ways than one. While it is the intention of the management to bring out the best plays, and engage the greatest actors of both continents, all is to be done at prices which will enable all classes to enjoy the productions. The magnificence of the playhouse will dazzle the new world. It will be the dream of an enthusiastic artist.

Nova Scotia, which has much less to gain from the construction of the Transcontinental railway, unanimously endorses the government's railway policy, while the river counties of New Brunswick with the exception of Victoria-Madawaska and Carleton, have voted against the project. The road will be built however, it will come down the St. John valley, and the people living in York, Sunbury and Queens, who voted against the government, and sneered at the prospect of the road's construction, will wonder how they allowed themselves to be fooled by the Tories.

QUEST ENDS AT GRAVE.

Separated 25 Years, Lady Semon Sought Family.

STORY OF THE WIFE OF A PHYSICIAN TO THE KING.

Unable to Find Sister in Canada.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—After searching for many years for her brother and sister, Lady Semon, wife of Sir Felix Semon, who is a physician to King Edward, and who recently hunted big game on the Tobique river, New Brunswick, left here for New York today, having, it is said, accomplished her mission, so far as it was possible.

With her husband she will sail this week for London, after making provision for the erection of a handsome mausoleum over the body of her brother, which she discovered is lying in a grave in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Lady Semon came to this city in September in search of her brother and sister, from whom she was separated in Germany twenty-five years ago. She was then Fraulein Redeker, the eldest of three children. Her brother, Adolph, left home when a youth and came to America. For a while he maintained a correspondence with his sister, but eventually they lost track of him. Later Lady Semon's sister, Emilie, married and went to Canada, and the family gradually lost track of her also.

In the meantime the remaining sister married Felix Semon.

Longing for bigger fields, he left his native village and went to London, where his meteoric rise and subsequent accession to knighthood is a matter of history.

His wife had always grieved for her brother and sister, and her unhappiness was such that her husband decided to forsake his practice for a few months to aid his wife in finding her relatives. They reached Philadelphia after many wanderings and found that Adolph Redeker was dead. His widow and son, however, were living at No. 2,613 Columbia avenue.

Adolph Redeker was buried in Laurel Hill Cemetery, and his sister immediately determined to erect a suitable monument over his grave. Before providing for this, however, she decided to search for her sister.

For more than a month Lady Semon and her husband have been travelling through Canada, stopping at every town of prominence and making inquiries, but unavailingly, and the search was finally abandoned and Sir Felix and his wife returned here.

Rev. Mr. Sables preached here last Sunday.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Wm. Woodcock's condition shows no further improvement.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who did herculean work in the election campaign, impaired, although in the closing days he caught cold from which, however, he is rapidly recovering. The premier's triumphant tour of Ontario was one of the causes that led to the reduction of the Tory majority in that province. Sir Wilfrid will return to Ottawa this evening, and his friends there are preparing a great reception for him.
