DAILY HERALD.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1905.

THE CLOSING DAY.

The success of the Fredericton exhibition, financially and in every other way is practically assured, but the citizens of Fredericton can yet do a lot towards making success, doubly sure by turning out in large numbers this evening, the last opportunity offered to see the great show.

A special programme including a torchlight parade of the firemen to the grounds has been prepared, and all features of the exhibition will continue in full running order this evening.

The managers who have worked so hard to make the exhibition a credit to Fredericton and to New Brunswick make a special appeal for a large attendance this evening, and we trust they will not be disappointed.

AN EXCELLENT PROPOSAL.

An effort is being made to organize a New Brunswick Press Association, and newspaper men from all over the province will be invited to meet in Fredericton some time in November to accomplish that object. This is an age of co-operation among men in the same line of business, for mutual benefit, and the newspaper fraternity, can well serve its interests by an organization such as that proposed. Mr. Hawke of the Moncton Transcript and Mr. Malaney of the Woodstock Press, are respectively president and secretary pro tem, and they will issue a call for the meeting which it is hoped will be well attended, and which will doubtless secure good results.

Such an association was formed in Nova Scotia two years ago, and it is healthy and vigorous. In the upper provinces and the west Press associations flourish, and the meetings and excursions are among the prominent gatherings each year.

A FAMOUS CASE.

After a residence of six years in Canada, Gaynor and Green, two noted United States offenders, are to be extradited, and will have to stand trial in their own country, on the charges against them.

The story of their flight and their fight for liberty is a long one, and reflects no great credit on the Canadian courts, in which the case has been repeatedly hung up, and even carried to the privy council in England. The men would have had to face the charges long ago had they been poor, but they have employed an immense amount of money in feeing lawyers to postpone as long as possible the evil day. All this, however, has not availed to secure their freedom, and if the charges are proved, Gaynor and Green will soon be languishing behind prison bars instead of luxuriating at leading Quebec hotels, enjoying their ill-gotten gains.

Benjamin D. Greene and John F. Gaynor of New York were indicted at Savannah, Ga., in 1899, charged with embezzlement and conspiracy to defraud the United States Government in connection with contracts for harbor improvements at that place. Captain Oberlin M. Carter, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., was convicted on the same charge, dismissed from the army and imprisoned at Fort Leavenworth for a term of years. Greene and Gaynor were arrested in New York, but they resisted extradition to Georgia, and when a decision was rendered against them in a Commissioner's Court they fled to Canada. Each forfeited bail to the amount of forty thousand dollars. Measures were taken to secure extradition, and there was some hope of a favorable outcome, when the accused men fled from Montreal to Quebec, thus changing the legal jurisdiction. In May, 1902, detectives kidnapped them and, taking them aboard a fast tug, carried them to Montreal, where it was hoped the measures for extradition would be successful. There was an exciting chase on the river. Upon arrival in Montreal Judge Lafontaine committed the men to jail, but Judge Caron of Quebec granted a writ of habeas corpus, and Greene and Gaynor were taken back to that place and set at liberty.

Intense feeling was caused among officials of the Administration in Washington when it was found that the Attorney-General of Canada was a member of the law firm retained to defend Greene and Gaynor against extradition. When Elihu Root went to London as a member of the Alaska Boundary Tribunal a friendly feeling was created in influential quarters, and it is generally believed that this visit had a direct bearing on the interposition of the British Government in an effort to secure the extradition of Greene and Gaynor from Canada. At any rate, an appeal by the United States to the Privy Council of England was entertained, and in February last a decree was handed down in favor of the United States. The Lords in Council advised that the two judgments of Judge Caron at Quebec must be reversed, the respondents paying the costs of the proceedings.

Since that time, however, two separate legal actions have been brought by Greene and Gaynor in Canada to prevent extradition. The first was in Judge Lafontaine's court in Montreal, and he decided against the accused men. The petition to Judge Ouimet, which is believed to be the last resort of Greene and Gaynor, has now also been dismissed. The United States Government is supposed to have lost more than two million dollars through the conspiracy with which Greene, Gaynor and Carter were charged.

EARLY IN THE FIELD.

The Fredericton exhibition directors cheered by the success of their efforts in the show line in 1903 and 1905, met this morning, and, after expressing satisfaction at the great triumph of the present exhibition, decided to hold another in the year 1907, choosing for their dates Sept. 11 to 19. The directors also decided to grant diplomas to all Maritime Province manufacturers exhibiting at this year's show.

The Boston Herald offers a reward of $1,000 for information that will lead to the discovery of the person who committed the murder of the woman whose mutilated remains were found floating in a dress suit case in the harbor.

An Ottawa despatch says that the National Transcontinental Railway Commissioners leave the capital at the end of this week to look over the rival New Brunswick routes.

A BOLD ROBBERY.

Money Stolen from the I.C.R. Freight Office at Point du Chene.

Moncton, Sept. 27.—(Special).—A bold robbery was committed by an unknown party at Point du Chene on Saturday morning last. During the temporary absence of Mr. Burns from the I. C. R. freight office, some one entered and broke open the cash drawer and stole the contents of the till, amounting to about thirty-nine dollars. When Mr. Burns returned after an absence of a few minutes he found the cash drawer broken from its fastenings and the money gone.

Mr. Thos. Duncan, a well known I. C. R. machinist, was married this morning to Miss Annie L. Lawrence, daughter of Mr. William Lawrence of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. McConnell in the presence of a few immediate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan left on a wedding trip to Sydney and Halifax and will visit St. John, the groom's former home, before taking up their residence in Moncton.

MONCTON POLICE.

Raided Two Bawdy Houses and Made a Capture.

Moncton, Sept. 27.—(Special).—The police raided a couple of houses on the outskirts of the city at three o'clock this morning in search of parties charged with immoral conduct. The officers' first visited a house on Salisbury road and arrested Walter Bishop and Mrs. Snarr, who has a husband living in town. The complaint was laid by her husband. Bishop is married and belongs here.

Willard Keith, a married man belonging to Petitcodiac, who has been working in Moncton, and an unmarried woman named Jane Beths, were arrested in a house on Mountain Road, on the complaint of neighbors. The parties will be brought before the police magistrate this afternoon.

HEROES HONORED.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 27.—(Special).—At a Drum Head service, in which Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia, took part, this city has just seen the unveiling of a Tablet for Vancouver heroes who laid down their lives in the Boer war. The men whose memory has thus been honored are Private W. Jackson, Private W. F. Whiteley, and Trooper F. C. McIntosh.

MANIFESTO ISSUED.

Hungary Coalitionists Take Issue with the King.

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 27.—(Special).—A committee of coalitionists has issued a manifesto to the nation in reply to the programme submitted to its leaders by the Emperor King. The manifesto declares that on some points His Majesty's programmes are not conformitory to the constitution, referring especially to his contention that the question of language of the command of the Hungarian army must be entirely eliminated from the discussion.

It is asserted that this is equivalent to the abolition of the nation's right to control its officers for which there is no legal authority.

The newspapers characterize the statements of the Austrian premier, Baron Gauth von Frankenthurn, as an unwarrantable interference with Hungary's international affairs.
