

IS J. J. DALY MONEY-MAD?

His Wife From Toronto Meets Him After Six Years.

Daly Under Arrest in New Rochelle, N. Y., on Charge of Obtaining Money Under False Pretences.

Greenwich, Conn., Oct. 9.—Mrs. J. J. Daly, from Toronto, with her son, Gerald, and Sheriff William E. Ritch, went to Bridgeport today, and at the County jail were allowed to see the woman's husband, who was bound over last week on the charge of obtaining money under false pretences from James Carmichael. Daly was found in the outer corridor of the jail along with four other prisoners, and Mrs. Daly promptly identified and walked up and kissed him, and so did the son. He kissed them in return, but showed no emotion. It was the first time that husband and wife had seen each other for nearly six years, when Daly suddenly left Canada after his advertising and publishing business had failed.

INSANE ON MONEY QUESTION.

Mrs. Daly had come to Greenwich Sunday and went to jail with the belief that her husband was insane on the money question, and when she left it she had the same impression. He told her that he had left Toronto for the purpose of getting money in the United States to carry on his business, and that he had been busy collecting it since he saw her.

Daly admitted that he had collected large sums of money in the United States, and said that he had tried in all manner possible to locate his wife by writing to Toronto and looking through hundreds of city directories. He refused to say where he had put all the money that he had collected. He said that he was glad that he had found his wife after such a long search, and declared that he had done nothing for which he could be held.

MAY BRING HER HUSBAND BACK

Mrs. Daly was very kind in her talk to her husband, and humored him, and asked him if he had never thought of her and her struggle to support herself and her son. She promised to get him back to Toronto, have all his business troubles straightened out and get him a position. She left Bridgeport on the eight o'clock train for New York, intending to visit her cousin, Mr. Haily of Brooklyn, the Wynkoop, Crawford & Hallenbeck Company. She was advised that if some man in Canada who had been the victim of her husband should make a complaint there for his arrest and secure a requisition to take him there for trial, the Connecticut authorities, when they found that he would not be allowed to go free to work the public again, might consent to let him be taken to Canada to save the state expense. Then, if he should be proven insane, as the wife believes him to be, he could be committed to an asylum. Mrs. Daly said that she would do so, and she thanked the sheriff for his kindly interest in securing her husband.

ANOTHER DALY MISSING.

It is the belief that Daly has deposited money in a bank somewhere, for he never drank or smoked and his papers show that for the past five years he has induced nearly a hundred men to part with sums of money on the promise to pay them large interest for their influence in getting their friends to give up money to him. He has a sort of chain letter arrangement to keep the money flowing in from other investors. Daly was a prominent business man in Guelph, Ontario, until he made so much money in farm properties that he saw millions ahead and became money mad, so his wife says.

ROYAL RECEPTION TO VICE-REGAL PARTY.

Demonstration at Winnipeg in Honor of Earl and Lady Grey.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 9.—Winnipeg received Earl and Countess Grey with a hearty demonstration of loyalty on Saturday night, and a very large proportion of the total population were on the streets to carry torches or shout a welcome to the vice regal party. Indeed, it is estimated that not less than 50,000 people were in the throng. From most of the buildings along the route of march brilliant illuminations shed a bright glow over the thousands who thronged the streets. In every way Winnipeg showed characteristic loyalty, enthusiasm and general good feeling and had arrangements not mischaracterized at the depot the welcome would have been unprecedented in the history of the city.

At the C. P. R. depot, the arrival of the train was awaited by His Honor Sir Daniel H. McMillan, Mayor Sharpe and other prominent citizens. The vice regal party travelled in the private car Victoria, which, when the train drew up, was boarded by the Lieutenant Governor, Premier Roblin and His Worship the Mayor, who, after being introduced to Their Excellencies, escorted the Earl and Countess and their suite to the platform, where they were received by a guard of honor from the 90th Regiment.

As Their Excellencies approached the guard of honor gave a general salute, and the band of the regiment struck up "God Save the King." The Governor General, his military secretary, Colonel Hanbury Williams, and his aide de camp, Captain Newton, inspected the guard, and complimented Captain Beil on the appearance of his men. Their Excellencies were also informally received by the civic reception committee, and they were then conducted through the station, and, between lines of stalwart city policeman in charge of Inspector Munroe, to their carriages. The Mayor and Colonel Hanbury Williams took seats in Their Excellencies carriage, and Lady Grey, on taking her seat, was presented with a very beautiful shower bouquet of red roses.

A squadron of the R. C. M. R., under Capt. Mackie, formed a mounted escort around the Vice-regal carriage, and by some unfortunate mistake led the way along Higgins avenue into Main street, instead of by Maple street and Henry avenue, where mounted and unmounted police were waiting to head the procession, and where the 13th Field Battery, a portion of the 90th Regiment, the Army and Navy Veterans, and the School Cadets were prepared to follow up the Vice-regal carriage.

This blunder rather disorganized the procession, and matters were made worse by the carriage and escort being taken along at a trot, which rendered it impossible for the 90th Band and the marching portion of the parade to keep pace.

Following the Vice-regal carriage were carriages containing other members of the party; Countess Morley and her daughter, Lady Mary Parker; Lady Evelyn Grey, Colonel and Mrs. Hanbury Williams, Captain Newton, A.D.C., Major Paske, Comptroller of the Household.

In the first of these carriages His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Premier Roblin escorted Lady Evelyn Grey and Mrs. Hanbury-Williams, who like Her Excellency were handed charming bouquets.

The Governor-General and Lady Grey, accompanied by Sir Daniel and Lady McMillan, the Lady Evelyn Grey and Captain Newton, A.D.C., attended divine service at Holy Trinity Church on Sunday morning, when an eloquent sermon was preached by

PARISIAN COSTUME A LA PRINCESSE.

One of the new bluish violet shades of chiffon mohair makes up charmingly in this street costume, or costume trotteur, as the Parisians term them. While in cut it is plain enough for morning and shopping wear, nevertheless it is sufficiently dressy in effect to do duty for afternoon occasions as well. The skirt is built up after the princess model, just the hint of an underskirt cleverly indicated at the left side, where, incidentally, the fastening occurs. Straps

Archdeacon Fortin, D.D. This morning they visited Ogilvie's flour mills, and in the afternoon at 3.30 an address is to be presented to their excellencies at the City Hall by the Mayor and Council. The presentation of the address will be followed from 2 to 5 o'clock by a public reception in the Council Chamber. Tonight there will be a State dinner at the Government House.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY KILLED COMPANION.

Alfred Duvall, of Bracebridge, Ont., Shot by Orville Hall.

Bracebridge, Ont., Oct. 11.—Another shooting accident has occurred here, this time with fatal results, and the town is considerably stirred over the event.

Saturday evening shortly before 6 o'clock, Alfred Duvall, aged sixteen, was shot and almost instantly killed by Orville Hall, a lad of seven years son of George Hall, grocer.

The deceased and a companion, named David Jack, called at Hall's store for tobacco, and were served by young Hall. The father was absent.

The two boys lingered in front of the store for a few minutes, when Duvall decided to change his five-cent purchase for a ten-cent package of tobacco.

Young Hall took the tobacco, but instead of exchanging it went to a rear room and returned with a Snider rifle. He was told by Duvall to "put that thing down, and give me my tobacco." For reply young Hall said: "I will shoot you," and pulled the hammer of the gun back half way. Then with the words "the gun isn't loaded," he pulled the hammer full back. The trigger slipped and discharged the contents of the gun into Duvall's neck. The latter fell unconscious, and died twenty minutes later. The regular vein had been severed, and the boy bled to death.

An inquest was held Saturday night, at which the above particulars were gleaned from Hall and Jack. An adjournment was made until tonight, when the case again comes up.

Duvall, the deceased, was a son of John Duvall, for twenty-five years employed with the Beardmore Leather Co. The young man was working in the Dominion Linen Mills.

married, her grandfather, Godfrey Gravel of 207 Water Street, locked her in her bedroom. The young woman's street clothes were removed, and Wilfrid Larable waited in vain for his bride.

He knocked at the door and Godfrey Gravel told him to go away as his granddaughter was under age and her parents did not recognize the ceremony as legal.

All day Sunday Larable was without sight of his wife. Monday he stated his case to a lawyer, who swore out a search warrant and with Officer Campbell they went to 207 Water Street.

They obtained an entrance, and Larable's missing bride, attired in her night dress, rushed into the arms of her young husband. The Gravel family attempted a rescue by force, but Officer Campbell held them off, while Mr. and Mrs. Larable fled down the street. They were pursued and, though some stones were thrown at them, they got away safely, and are now safe from the bride's angry relatives.

Larable is a respectable young brick layer, twenty-two years of age. The young woman is a very pretty girl.

GOT THE MONEY THOUGH.
