PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN IN SESSION.

Closing Business of the W. F. M. Convention at St. John.

At the Thursday morning's session of the W. F. M. S. in St. John, an interesting discussion took place on the advisability of extending the work of the society to include home missions as well as foreign missions. Miss Carmichael's resolution to change the constitution of the society so that the society will extend that work to home missions and to drop the word "foreign" from the name of the society then came up. Miss Carmichael spoke on the resolution, tracing briefly the history of the movement and giving the reasons for the change. This movement was discussed at the North Sydney meeting last year and had come up at other meetings also. Miss Carmichael was very much opposed to the idea of founding a second society for the home work, pointing out that as other societies carried on both branches of the work, there was no need of starting such a second society.

In an excellent speech, this resolution was seconded by Mrs. J. H. Thomson. She related how she had seen the two branches of the work carried on by the same society in Colorado and other parts of the United States. Mrs. Morrison suggested that the meeting in silent prayer ask for God's guidance in their work. A short prayer was offered by the president.

Mrs. McLean of Springhill, spoke about the great possibilities of mission work in the Northwest. Sixty-five new stations were opened during the last year. She was strongly in favor of the society extending their work to the home mission field. One of their chief aims should be to keep this Canada of ours Christian from ocean to ocean.

Mrs. Wm. Pendrigh of Yarmouth the next speaker, favored keeping the two branches of the work apart. Mrs. McLean of Lorneville, said that the chief opposition to the change arose from the feeling that the constitution should not be changed. She pointed out that the work of the society had already been broadened and she thought that the time had now arrived for a second extension.

Mrs. McLeod of Sydney, said that she was always opposed to the change. However, she thought that the society was not in unity, and every year was drifting further apart.

At the afternoon session Miss Carmichael of New Glasgow, withdrew her resolution of the morning session, and the meeting then unanimously passed Miss Blackwood's resolution that when an auxiliary band, or any ladies' branch, in addition to its contribution to foreign missions wishes to contribute to home missions it shall be lawful for it to do so. Falconer, Pictou; Miss D. C. Fraser, New Glasgow.

The report was adopted. A balance of $997.53 was announced as being in the hands of the treasurer, $500 of which it was decided to keep for the working expenses, the remainder, Miss Carmichael proposed, should be kept as a reserve fund, but it was finally decided to hand it over to the board of foreign missions.

The estimated for the following year were then read and approved by the meeting. They were as follows:

New Hebrides	$1,650
Santa Lucia	300
Trinidad	7,200
Demerara	63,250
Korea	4,600
Total	$77,000

The question drawn was considered and answered by Mrs. Thomson, Dennis, McKean, McLean, Blackwood, Carmichael, Strathie and Fraser. New Glasgow was chosen for the next place of meeting. The report of resolutions and courtesies was then submitted and approved of. The meeting then adjourned sine die.

PREMIER PETERS WRATHY

Says Charlottetown Clergyman is Seeking Notoriety re Prohibition Law.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 13.—Hon. Arthur Peters, premier and attorney general, replies in the press to the criticisms of the Rev. James Simpson on Section 13, or "the treating section," of the Prohibition Act, and to other observations made by the reverend gentleman.

Mr. Peters expresses astonishment that a man in Mr. Simpson's position should advance such an absurd contention that administering the Holy Communion is illegal under that section which prohibits the giving away of liquor by any person upon any of the streets, lanes, by-ways or any city or town in the province or upon any highway, roads, by-roads, lanes or other places not herebefore specifically mentioned or described in the act.

Mr. Simpson bases his argument on the words "or other places." The attorney general maintains that this expression signifies places or persons of the same sort as those before mentioned, and that no judge would be ignorant enough to construe them according to Mr. Simpson's interpretation.

Mr. Peters further adds that the only solution of the question why Mr. Simpson wrote the letter is to procure a little cheap notoriety. This action in endeavoring to question the validity of the act must be to throw discredit on a statute which works well. A closer study of the act would show Mr. Simpson that there is a section authorizing the sale of wine for sacramental purposes. The references to Prince Louis were uncalled for and untrue and he would like Mr. Simpson to explain how he ascertained that the price tasted every liquor except cold water.

Mr. Simpson, who is now in Amherst, has not seen the premier's letter, publishes an open letter to Prosecutor Jenkins stating that if the ruling of the magistrate is correct, he, in administering the communion, is just as guilty of the violation of the act as Mr. Power, who was fined $100 for giving a companion a drink out of a bottle. He was determined as well as other clergymen, to obtain, if necessary, a mandamus from the supreme court to discriminate between class and class. While the prosecutor was tracking down Power the act was being violated across the hall from the police court, where refreshments were being served to a prince.

Mr. Simpson, concluding, said: "I consider the amendment iniquitous and will fight to get it repealed."

A TRAGIC DEATH.

Former Noted Quebec Politician Found Dying in His Office.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Hon. Arthur Turcotte, who was made prothonotary of the district of Montreal by the late Premier Mercier, of Quebec, and attained notoriety by his casting a vote which kept the Joly government in power at Quebec for nearly two years, died last night with tragic suddenness.

He was at his office during the afternoon and as he did not return home after 5 as usual, it was wondered what had happened, and later a search was made. In the office he was found expiring and he died two hours afterwards without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Turcotte began his political career when he was practising law at Three Rivers. He was elected as a Liberal to the local legislature, and gave his support to the Liberal premier. He was later defeated and again re-elected, as a supporter of Honore Mercier. He was still prothonotary at the time of his death.

A conference was held at Edmundston Thursday evening between Mayor Burpee and a number of leading citizens and Wm. Downie, the general superintendent of the Atlantic division of the C. P. R., and as a result Mr. Downie has promised to use his efforts to meet the wishes of the people there and if carried out an arrangement of train service for the winter season very satisfactory to the business people there will soon be in operation.
