THE EXHIBITION.

Notwithstanding yesterday's unfavorable weather, the attendance at the exhibition was surprisingly large, and the total attendance so far is very gratifying to the management.

No citizen of Fredericton who can conveniently attend should miss the opportunity of seeing the best show ever presented to them here, and it is hoped that tomorrow's attendance both afternoon and evening will send a thrill of joy through the hearts of the management.

WOULD STILL BE POLITICAL.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson does not believe in committing the management of the Intercolonial railway to a commission. In conversation with the Montreal Herald this dialogue occurred:

"You do not favor the appointment of a commission, then?"

"I do not see how a commission is going to improve the existing conditions. You may think you will get rid of political influence if you have a commission, but you cannot do it. Their very appointments would be political."

"But suppose you appoint railway experts, men who have nothing to do with politics?"

"But think what you would have to pay for them?"

"If you could get men like Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, Mr. Hays or Mr. McNicol, you would have to pay them thirty thousand to fifty thousand dollars a year, and do you think the country would stand for that?"

Hon. H. R. Emmerson: "I went over the Canada Eastern section, which was acquired only about a year ago, and found it to be in splendid condition. The government paid for that road, one hundred and thirty-six miles in length, exclusive of sidings, eight hundred thousand dollars. This is less than six thousand dollars per mile. With the business that this has developed, and taking the whole of the circumstances into consideration, I conceive this to be the best railway transaction that was ever negotiated in Canada by a corporation or government, and it is being demonstrated today that it is of immense advantage to the Intercolonial and the country which it serves."

The Sun is at its old tricks, quoting a Tory newspaper against the Liberal government and seeking to make its readers believe they are perusing a Liberal opinion. The Winnipeg Tribune is about as much Liberal as the Sun itself. Its editor, Mr. Richardson, was once a Liberal, but he became disgruntled because he was not taken into the cabinet instead of Mr. Sifton, and he has been fighting the Liberals ever since. Last election he was a candidate for parliament in Brandon against Mr. Sifton, and had the full support of the Tory party.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson is quite optimistic with respect to the prospect of abolishing, or at least materially reducing the I. C. R. deficit. To the Montreal Herald, he said "All the influences that have worked together in the creation of the deficit have been taken in hand, and it is more than a hope and desire on my part when I say that the country need not despair as to the results that will be demonstrated."

Numerous complaints reach the Herald office of non-delivery of the Twice-a-week issue of this paper to its country readers. We beg to assure our friends that the fault is not in this office, from which the papers are promptly and regularly despatched. We have taken action to discover the trouble and trust that all cause for complaint will soon be removed.

There does not seem to have been any evidence to connect a Fredericton girl with the mysterious murder case in Boston, and until such is produced it seems a cruel thing to drag the young girl's name into the discussion. The description of the murdered girl in no way answers that of Miss Walker. Later information says that Miss Walker is alive and well at Chelsea.

The American millionaires get about whatever they want. The most recent acquisition of one of them is a private chaplain. As the millionaire in question is head of one of the big life insurance companies he needs all the prayers possible, and the chaplain is likely to be worked overtime.

M. Witte has returned to Russia after negotiating the peace treaty at Portsmouth, but as yet the public in this part of the world have heard of no unfriendly demonstrations. Perhaps the cable censors are responsible for that condition.

The weather man acted badly yesterday, but he's atoning for it today, and we trust he will be in his good behaviour tomorrow so that Fredericton's big show may go out in a blaze of glory.

Toronto News.—A vagrant arrested in Paris speaks a language that no one can understand. The judge thinks that he must have come from Canada. Perhaps so. He may have been a brakeman in this country.

A FINE EXHIBIT.

McFarlane's Wagons Attracting Attention.

Among the splendid display of wagons to be seen at the exhibition this week that of the McFarlane wagon works at Nashwaaksis take the lead and are much admired by visitors present. During the big fair Mr. McFarlane not only disposed of his entire stock on exhibition but also sold several others from his factory as a result of his exhibit which shows his wagons and other works of a similar nature has only to be seen to be appreciated.

The exhibited included two express wagons shown in the large wagon tent, two crank wagons which possess the advantage of being twelve to sixteen inches lower than the straight axle, and will lengthen out and turn in the same space as a high wagon. It can be loaded so as to distribute the weight evenly on all four wheels.

Perhaps the neatest and best constructed thing of the kind on exhibition is the improved hay rack which can be removed as easily by a small boy as an ordinary one can by two men. The portage wagon is a dandy it is of peculiar construction of front gear and the law of inertia makes the wagon much lighter than any other wagon and there is absolutely no whipping of pole no matter how rough the road.

Their line of farm wagons is most complete and they are in a position to serve the people of the provinces very promptly and in a most satisfactory manner. Among the many testimonials received by the McFarlane people we were permitted to copy the following letter from Mr. W. Harry Allen, the well known farmer and hunters guide, and it may be of interest:

Home Camp, Little River.
Mr. W. L. McFarlane,
Nashwaaksis, N. B.

Dear Sir:—One of my sportsmen is so pleased with the way that my wagon works on the portage road that he has decided to have one put up for his own use next summer.

Will you please give your price for the gear (without wheels) delivered at Morrisstown, N. J., U. S. A. If you cannot give price please send me the name and address of the concern who manufacture the gear.

Yours very truly,
W. H. ALLEN,
Poniac.

P. S. Please answer at once as my man is not going to stay much longer.

Again yours,
W. H. A.

BITS OF NEWS.

Items of Interest Culled from Our Exchanges and Other Sources.

Annie Craft, aged twenty-two, and daughter of Abraham Craft of Carleton, St. John, took a dose of belladonna liniment Monday afternoon while sitting in King Square and now lies in a critical condition in the General Public Hospital. It is said by those who were near the young woman when she committed the deed, that she was disappointed about a letter which failed to arrive. She had a bottle, which was of the four ounce size, in her pocket. It was plainly marked poison, and the evidence is that she deliberately drank the greater part of it.

Word has been received of the death in Burnside of Rev. H. E. Morrow, a veteran Baptist missionary representing the American board. He was a native of St. Peter's, P. E. I., and a graduate of Acadia College.

A Story of Beck and Everts.
Senator Everts once unwittingly gave deep offense to bluff Senator Beck. He was discussing the latter's bill forbidding members of congress to practice before the supreme court, and, having occasion to refer to lawyers whose practice was limited to specialties and who never had occasion to appear before the highest judicial tribunal in the land, he called them "unilateral" lawyers.
The professional dignity of Senator Beck was wounded. He had been fairly successful at the bar in Kentucky, but he had early laid aside the law for politics, and there were even some of his colleagues who did not know he was a lawyer. Daniel O'Connell's war of epithets with the fisherman in which he finally triumphed by calling her a "contumacious parallelopipedon" was nothing to the Scotch epithets which Senator Beck began hurling at Senator Everts. He finally satisfied his wounded amour propre by assuring the senate that a unilateral lawyer in Kentucky was more respected than a quadrilateral pettifogger in New York.
Senator Everts had not been in the senate long enough then to understand Senator Beck's peculiarities, but he finally succeeded in pacifying the sturdy Kentuckian, and their relations became quite kindly.
