DAILY HERALD.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1905.

THE EXHIBITION.

Beautiful weather conditions greeted the opening of the exhibition to-day, and the management is greatly encouraged by the prospects of a very successful show.

Of course much remains to be done before the affair is in perfect working order, but by tomorrow the exhibits will be about all in place, and things squared away for the active days that are to follow.

Probably never in Fredericton has there been gathered a greater variety of a larger number of exhibits than are shown at the present fair, and the side attractions are such as to recommend them to the public taste. To bring such a combination to the notice of the people and to command a liberal patronage, has entailed a vast amount of painstaking labor on the members of the various committees, and they are entitled to the thanks of the people of Fredericton, as well of those who are coming from all parts of the province and from the neighboring State of Maine, to see the exhibition.

To many hundreds the horse races will form an attractive feature, and there is every promise of a very successful meeting. All the classes are well filled with horses that are known to the sporting public as fast ones, and the expectation is that some records will be broken before the program is finished.

To the strangers who are gathering in Fredericton the Herald offers a hearty welcome. We have a beautiful city with many important public institutions, attractive residences, and other features of interest worthy of inspection, and we trust that all who come here may fully enjoy their visit, and return home with pleasant recollections of the capital city of New Brunswick and the provincial exhibition of 1905.

AS BAD AS EVER.

The hope expressed of Mr. Bourassa, M. P., that with his marriage, which occurred a couple of weeks ago, he might moderate the character of his public speeches, is not likely to be realized, for he is found at a church door in Quebec last Sunday savagely denouncing Sir Wilfrid Laurier for betraying the French Canadians and Roman Catholics of Canada into the hands of their enemies through the medium of the autonomy bill. The premier is accused of sacrificing the interests of these people to satisfy his Protestant supporters in parliament, and in the country.

Now that is rather a hard accusation, especially in view of the fact that another class of the Canadian people declare that Sir Wilfrid has been playing into the hands of his Roman Catholic brethren.

Surely one of these parties must be wrong, for the premier with the same stroke of policy could not sacrifice the interests of such extremes, and both classes treat the premier unjustly. The great middle class who are not carried away by sectarian appeals, will not attach much importance to either Mr. Bourassa on the one side, or Dr. Sproul on the other, but will continue to believe that Sir Wilfrid has done what he considered best for the Canadian people as a whole, and not for any particular section of them.

Mr. Bourassa probably does not believe what he says. He is a gentleman who enjoys notoriety, and not being able to achieve it in other ways, he seeks publicity by the very extremeness and violence of his harangues.

Sir Wilfrid has stood all kinds of attacks since he became the head of a strong and popular government, and he is not likely to be turned aside from his patriotic and effective service for Canada by the brayings of a Bourassa, or the covert attacks of a Sproul or a Hughes.

At 12.40 a reception to the Prince was held at the city hall where an address of welcome was received from the mayor and corporation.

OLIVER HOMEWARD BOUND.

Minister of the Interior Speaks of Conditions in the Yukon, which he has just Visited.

Calgary, Alberta, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Hon. Frank Oliver, wife and daughter, in returning from Yukon, passed through here for Edmonton, where Mr. Oliver will spend a few days before going east.

Mr. Oliver spoke enthusiastically of the Yukon, although the output of gold will not reach the amount of years past, due to the fact that mining is a bit harder now than in days gone by, and partly because the population in the district is not what it was. However, there will be an output of eight millions. In speaking of the Keewatin matter, Mr. Oliver said he could not understand the objection being raised to the action taken. Manitoba would not say Keewatin was ever connected with that province, and she had no claim, nor could the province say it was deprived of anything as Keewatin has practically no agricultural lands and her resources are not considerable, while on the other hand the cost of administering the district would be considerable.

That is what the Y. M. C. A. will be doing in their Star course this coming season. They propose selling course ticket tickets for a series of entertainments worth five dollars for the low sum of one dollar. How they do it would occupy too much time to explain at present, but those who canvass the citizens for tickets will explain to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. J. Benham and little daughter, of Campbellton, arrived here today to visit the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Benham.
