SCARCELY ORTHODOX.

Hon. W. Dell Perley, the former Margerville resident who settled at Wolsley, N. W. T., some twenty-five years ago and has prospered, owning a big farm, and a seat in the Senate, has always been recognized as a stalwart, perhaps somewhat of an extreme Tory ever since he contested Sunbury unsuccessfully against Hon. Chas. Burpee in 1878, but his friends, must be fearing for his fall from grace, if they are to judge by his present attitude in the Saskatchewan provincial elections.

Senator Perley wanted the elections run on straight Dominion issues, but Mr. Haultain, feeling that the Tories would have little chance of success in such a contest, climbed onto the provincial rights platform, and is seeking Liberal as well as Tory support. There is therefore friction between the Senator and the premier.

Another little circumstance serves to widen the chasm between the two gentlemen. Senator Perley has a son-in-law, Mr. Levi Thompson, a bright young lawyer of Wolsley, who is a sturdy Liberal and the candidate of his party in that constituency. Now it would be a pity if Senator Perley and his son-in-law should appear on opposing political platforms, and vote in different directions, and there is a strong suspicion, amounting to almost a certainty, that for the first time in his life the Senator in the approaching election will mark his ballot for a Liberal candidate, his son-in-law, Mr. Thompson.

How do we know that? In the Winnipeg Free Press we find a report of a Liberal meeting at Wolsley, addressed by Hon. Walter Scott, premier of Saskatchewan, in the interests of Mr. Thompson, and who do you think presided at the gathering? No less an individual than our strenuous and distinguished friend Senator Perley, and his observations in opening the meeting give strong assurance that he has withdrawn his support from Mr. Haultain, and will vote Liberal. Senator Perley is reported as follows:

"The Senator in his opening address again emphatically explained his position in relation to the present political contest. He deprecated the fact that the Conservative party as a party was not in the present contest. He pointed out that at the Regina convention he had taken a strong stand against the non-party resolution that was eventually carried, and he left the impression with the audience that he did not consider the attitude of the Conservative leaders as honest, and straight forward. His stirring words had a ring of sincerity that brought round after round of applause from his listeners."

Fancy Senator Perley receiving "round after round of applause," from a Liberal audience.

The senator has always been a great political favorite with the St. John Sun, which will naturally be much pained at his present attitude in the Saskatchewan contest.

A VALUABLE ESTATE.

It is estimated that the estate of the late Senator Fulford of Brockville, Ont. is worth from ten to fifteen million dollars, all made within the past twenty years. It is known that at least 95 per cent. of his wealth is represented in gilt edge securities, which could be turned into ready cash within a week, if necessary. The remaining five per cent. represents good investments yielding a profitable revenue.

As to his will, it is stated he made a new one not later than three months ago. By its provisions it is said Mrs. Fulford and her three children are the principal beneficiaries. The bulk of the big fortune goes to them. It is also thought he has dealt liberally with charitable institutions. Senator Fulford was a real druggist, until he branched off into the proprietary medicine business in which he made his enormous fortune, "Pink Pills for Pale People" were the principal factors in bringing him his great wealth.

It having been definitely announced that a ball will be given in the parliament buildings in this city next Friday evening in honor of Prince Louis, it is time for the dress-makers to get busy preparing society ladies for the important event.

Whoever originated the idea of marching the school children of Fredericton through the streets on a late October day, and those who gave authority for the parade must have been unmindful of the climatic dangers likely to threaten the little ones. It is all very well to display our enthusiasm at the centennial of a great historic event, but it should not be done at the expense of our children, who could as well have learned the lessons to be taught by the occasion in their comfortable school rooms free from the exposure of an outdoor parade at this season of the year.

St. John Sun.—The Moncton Transcript cherishes the idea that the new survey of the proposed valley route of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway is only intended to confirm the selection of the central route, and to furnish argument to defend that choice. But suppose the survey should not confirm the selection, and should furnish argument the other way?

Premier Tweedie, who has returned from Ottawa, says that in the event of Judge Sedgewick of the Supreme court of Canada not being able to resume his seat on the bench Judge Barker of St. John, is likely to be his successor, and that Hon. A. S. White of Sussex, would likely be appointed to the vacancy thus created in the New Brunswick Supreme court bench.

Tomorrow would be a good day for a generous display of flags and bunting in Fredericton. It will be the centennial of Nelson's great victory at Trafalgar, and if we all have not the opportunity to speak publicly or write of the glorious event, we can make some little display of our gratitude for the honor and renown Nelson brought to the Empire.

An Ottawa lawyer declines to accept a seat on the Ontario supreme court bench, because it would involve his residing at Toronto. This is rather hard on the Queen city and will furnish a good text for the funny writers of the Montreal Press, who always dig their quills into "Hogtown."

Hon. Mr. Emmerson gives an emphatic contradiction to the rumor that the Intercolonial railway is to be sold to an English syndicate, and declares that he will be able to present to parliament a plan of retrenchment whereby the annual deficits of the road will disappear.

BITS OF NEWS.

Items of Interest Culled from Our Exchanges and Other Sources.

The Mt. Allison football team defeated the St. Joseph's football team at Sackville Thursday 14 to 0.

Mrs. Ezra Tolman, a member of one of the prominent families in the state, committed suicide Thursday at Fairfield, Maine, by cutting her throat. She was eighty-six years old, and leaves two sons and one daughter.

The Prince and Princess of Wales started on their six months' tour of India Thursday. King Edward, Queen Alexandra and other members of the Royal family and the cabinet ministers bid them farewell at the railroad station.

A runaway freight car with stone, collided with a passenger car on the Lewis electric railway line Thursday, and as a result H. M. Henderson of St. John, N. B., the new agent there for Collier's Weekly, was probably fatally injured, and is now at Lewis Hotel Dieu Hospital. Conductor Richard of the passenger car was slightly injured.

A slight collision occurred on the I. C. R. between east and west bound specials near Trois Pistoles, Quebec, about 7 o'clock Thursday morning, blocking the track until 2 or 3 o'clock that afternoon. The engines met head on, but were only going slow at the time. The locomotives and some cars were damaged, and the track also torn up. Fog is said to be the cause of the collision. The damage is probably between $1,000 and $2,000.

THE ISLAND'S CLAIMS.

For Better Winter Communication are Being Presented to Mr. Prefontaine.

Charlottetown, Oct. 20.—Hon. Mr. Prefontaine, minister of marine and fisheries, arrived last night and was met at the wharf by Premier Peters, members of his government and other prominent citizens. Tonight he will be banqueted by friends at the Hotel Victoria.

Winter communication between the island and mainland will be the great question brought before the minister who will hear various delegations on it. Premier Peters, on behalf of the provincial government, in presenting a statement to the minister re-winter service, will say that the proper course for the department to take is first to decide upon what route the new icebreaking steamer is to run and to take evidence as to tides, currents, thickness of ice, etc., on that route.

Last winter's experience proved conclusively that there are periods when no boat could enter Pictou harbor, for ice was piled up and grounded in the channel forming an impenetrable barrier that took nearly two months to overcome. No ice steamer can be built to combat such conditions.

The first thing to decide, therefore, is another harbor on the mainland, Georgetown, on the island side, being all right, but Pictou is a veritable funnel which catches the drifting ice and is bound to be blocked with northeast winds.

It is possible for other harbors to be found, says the premier, where a steamer could cross the broad part of the gulf, where the ice does not pack, but it is moving with the wind. Through that ice a modern ice-breaking steamer could go with out much difficulty.

Rev. E. A. McCurdy's house at Clifton, near Truro, was burned to the ground Wednesday night. Part of the library and household furniture was saved. The house was unoccupied at the time, Mr. McCurdy being in Halifax. It is supposed the fire started in a spark from the pipe of a painter who was working on the building.
