

THE GREAT TOBIQUE COUNTRY.

Described in Poetical Language by a New Brunswick Guide.

(G. E. Armstrong in The National Sportsman).

For those who admire the charms of nature, with the most beautiful scenic surroundings, something out of the common, and off the beaten track, the great Tobique and Nepisiguit River region is especially alluring.

Nature was prodigal when this vast solitude was formed. When the dry land appeared, driven upward by Titanic internal forces and thrown into mountains and hills of every shape, the water was gathered into every valley and remains in lakes and streams, each with its own charms, each beautiful with the combination of hill and valley, and forest-lined slope, each attractive in its way, each rich in scapes that a painter would desire to copy.

Embraced in this province are two of the grandest, though at the same time the least known, of the innumerable rivers and streams, whose very names are suggestive of romantic interest and beauty. The Tobique, lying in the counties of Victoria and Restigouche for its whole length, from its junction with the noble St. John to its very head waters, conveys a boundless vision of all that is wild and primitive for woodland scenery, and all that is excitable and otherwise enjoyable for plenty of fish and game supply.

The canoeist who explores the principal sources of this lovely mountain stream will have secured a wealth of picturesque experience that will remain with him in reminiscence as long as life shall last. He will have seen a region untainted for the most part by the touch of man, where the forest trails are scoured deep in the solid earth by the countless generations of moose and caribou, where the tremendous note of the loon is borne afar on the pulseless evening air, where the gamey trout will seize a flannel rag as readily as the most alluring fly, and where one's sleep at night is broken by the sloppy blow of the jumping salmon as he tumbles back in his native pool.

If the tourist should ascend the tortuous waters of the Little Tobique he will find himself on the beautiful shores of Nictor Lake, which shines like a gem in its emerald setting at the base of Bald Mountain, the highest summit in the province. From this commanding eminence the traveler surveys a vast unbroken sea of foliage, whose undulations roll against the storied cliffs of Gaspe to the north and the coroneted peak of old Katahdin to the south.

Crossing over the three mile carry from Nictor Lake, you find yourself on the banks of the upper Bathurst Lake, the very headwaters of the wild and rugged Nepisiguit, where the trout abound and leap at the fly almost before the water is touched. One and a half miles down the side of this beautiful lake you come to the neatly built log cabin erected on the bank by a babbling brook, with waters cold and clear as crystal. One can stand on the veranda and catch the gamy trout from the lake as fast as he cares to land them. The stillness of the woods, and the odor of the balsam and pine trees, with the long ranges of beautiful mountains in the distance, makes this one of the most pleasant resting place.

You can often see as many as a dozen moose at once swaggering up and down the marshy shores of these four mountain lakes, some fifty miles from the nearest civilization.

After leaving these beautiful lakes you start winding your way down the Nepisiguit.

Among the many hills and mountains, now this way and now that, progress presenting with every turn of the canvas canoe something new and attractive of nature's handiwork with an atmosphere pure like that of the ocean, laden only with the scent of the pine and the balsam, with naught to break the stillness save the splash of the trout or the tread of the lordly moose as he comes in for his bath.

Sailing down this peaceful river through unbroken forest just as nature formed it, for some sixty miles, you come to the great falls, where the river plunges over a precipice and through a rugged gorge that seems to have been placed there by some convulsion of nature, the contrast is surpassed only by that of Niagara and has only been visited by the few sportsmen who have taken this trip.

From here to the sea is a distance of 20 miles, and the river is very rapid, and making this trip very exciting for the sportsman, who runs the rapids in the safe canvas canoe, manned by an expert canoe-man who understands his business well.

At the mouth of this river is situated the quiet and beautiful town of Bathurst, where the sportsmen can take the train for home on one of the best trains in Canada.

There is, indeed, no tourist canoe trip where the man seeking a vacation from the city's noise and worry would enjoy a better or more pleasing holiday rest than to make the trip up the Tobique and down the Nepisiguit rivers by canoe.

Any one wishing to make this trip can be favored by writing me for any information he may desire.

published in the public press, Mr. Tourigny, K. C., of Three Rivers, counsel for Hon. Mr. Parent, moved that certain parts of the allegations contained in the plea be struck out. The motion was argued before Mr. Justice Larue, who announced that he would render his decision on Thursday next, the 18th inst.

It now transpires that the records connected with the case have by some means or other disappeared from the vaults of the Three Rivers court house, where they were placed for safe keeping.

This fact was communicated to Hon. Mr. Parent a few days ago, but was kept secret in order that the records might be recovered, but up to the present they cannot be traced. Mr. Tourigny has made every effort to discover the whereabouts of the documents, without avail, and in despair has asked Senator Legris' counsel that the copies of the records, by common consent, replace the originals.

Hon. Mr. Parent is naturally exercised over the incident, and will spare no efforts to trace the stolen records. But in the event of his being unsuccessful in this direction, and if the defendant does not agree to the substitution of the copies for the original records, he will recommence proceedings, if necessary, as he declares that he will never rest until he is thoroughly vindicated of the charges alleged against him.

NEW PORTFOLIO FOR WHITNEY.

Will be Known as President of the Council.

In the Ontario Legislature Tuesday afternoon the Premier made an announcement regarding the new portfolio. It will be known as the Presidency of the Council, and will be filled by Mr. Whitney himself. The only other Ontario Premier since confederation who has held a similar position was Hon. Edward Blake, K. C., who filled it from Dec. 20, 1871, to Oct. 25, 1872.

The new Department of Lands and Mines will, it is understood, be presided over by a Minister from New Orleans, thus fulfilling the promise made by the Conservatives before the election that they would give representation to the northern districts in the cabinet. The general feeling is that Mr. Frank Cochrane will be the Minister, and that he will sit for East Nipissing, the present member, Mr. Lanarche, retiring.

The Attorney-Generalship, which Mr. Whitney will vacate, will be taken over by Hon. J. J. Foy. It is probable that a new distribution of the subjects dealt with by certain of the Departments—Crown Lands and one or two others—may be made by Order-in-Council, the Premier assuming the responsibility.

ANOTHER BANKER TO PRISON.

That Will Make Eleven of Them in the Ohio State Institution.

Cleveland, O., May 17.—L. P. Ohlinger, ex-president of the closed Wooster (Ohio) National Bank, pleaded guilty before Judge Taylor in the United States District Court Monday to a count in one of the indictments charging him with having issued a draft when there were no funds in the bank to meet it. Judge Taylor sentenced Ohlinger to eight years' imprisonment in the Ohio Penitentiary.

Ohlinger is an ex-Congressman, ex-County-Treasurer, Postmaster at Wooster under President Cleveland's administration, and collector of internal revenue at Cleveland during President Cleveland's second administration.

ARE ALL WOMEN PRETTY?

Quite an unnecessary question, because so many women have such poor complexions. We want to tell all women with pale sallow cheeks about Ferrozone, which quickly imparts fine color and gives the skin a clear, rich appearance. It's pure blood that makes fine complexions, so by producing lots of vitalizing blood, building up the debilitated system, increasing the circulation, Ferrozone quickly brings the glow of health to faded cheeks. It's no trouble at all to beautify your looks—simply use Ferrozone. Try it. Price 50c. at druggists.

A GOOD MOVE.

A move in the right direction has recently been made by E. W. Gillett Co., Ltd., of Toronto, in placing an order for gasoline business rigs to be used by them for advertising purposes throughout the Dominion and for delivering their goods to the Grocery Trade in Toronto. Motors for business purposes are being largely used in England as well as other European countries. In the large U. S. cities today they are almost as common as wagons drawn by horses. The Express Companies in most of the American cities have adopted the use of the horseless vehicle to a very great extent.

From actual tests it has been found that one business motor wagon will deliver as many goods in a day as can be delivered by twelve teams of horses. It will not be surprising to find that other large concerns will gradually fall into line.

FOR A STIFF NECK

Or any soreness in the muscles of the back or sides you can't get anything half so good as Nerviline, the most powerful liniment made. "My neck was so stiff I couldn't turn it a quarter of an inch," writes Fred T. Baldwin of Portsmouth. "I had it rubbed with Nerviline a few times and all the soreness and stiffness disappeared. I don't know another liniment you can depend on like Nerviline; it's splendid for colds, lameness and can't be beaten for cramps and internal pain." Try Nerviline yourself. Price 25c.

RECEPTION TO COL. BUCHAN.

Montreal Herald.—On Saturday evening the officers of the 5th Military District gave a reception to Colonel Lawrence Buchan, C. M. G., the officer recently appointed to the command of the district in succession to Colonel Gordon. The reception was held in the Military Institute, and, besides being a warm welcome to Colonel Buchan, was made the occasion of a good many felicitous toasts and speeches.
