EDUCATION IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Miss Clara Bridges Gave an Interesting Talk Before St. John Teachers' Association.

Last evening the Teachers' Association met in the I. O. F. Hall on Charlotte street to tender a farewell to the Misses Clara and Bessie Bridges of Fredericton and Miss Minnie Fowles.

The Misses Bridges leave from Halifax on Monday by the Tunisian for Liverpool, thence to London and from London to South Africa to resume their work in Pretoria. Miss Fowles has secured a position as teacher out west, and leaves shortly to take up her new position.

W. J. S. Myles, president of the Teachers' Association, presided.

Miss Clara Bridges, a former teacher in the Fredericton Model School, gave a very pleasing and interesting talk on her work in Pretoria and the general conditions in connection with school life. Since going to Pretoria she has had charge of several schools, and now she is building up a new school. There is a great deal of difference in the method of conducting schools there from the way in which they are conducted here. The hours are from eight o'clock until one in the winter and from eight until one-thirty in summer, with a half hour intermission at eleven o'clock, when the teachers generally have a lunch which they bring with them. They have a different system of keeping the register. When children are on time and answer to their names the teacher marks with red ink, but when they are tardy, instead of making a T, a black mark is made opposite their name. Miss Bridges was of opinion that it worked pretty well, as the children always seemed to dread having a black mark against him. The school, which Miss Bridges is now building up is composed of children of the wealthier class, as the rich people do not wish their children to go to school with children of the poorer class. At the age of ten years the boys and girls are sent to separate schools. In the kindergarten schools games and songs as well as the primary work are taught. Dutch is taught to those who wish it. As to the feeling between the English and Dutch population Miss Bridges said it was the general opinion that the Dutch were becoming much more reconciled to English rule. The parents expect the teacher to give the children a great deal of homework, and the teacher who does not give the pupils' home work to do is considered no good. The parents take more interest in the advancement of their children than is the case here. They inspect their exercise books, looking back to see the progress made.

If a child is kept from school, the parents send an excuse couched in the most polite language. Miss Bridges told of one little incident where the child had been kept from school for a day. The next morning she received a very polite note from the mother, stating that the child's father had been absent at the war for two years, and wished on his home coming to have all the children remain with him for the first day. Miss Bridges preserved the note and sent it to her brother. She also spoke of the politeness manifested by the boys which was the more pleasing as she hardly expected to find such culture displayed.

Manual training and domestic science are also taught in the schools but there is no commercial school during the day. There is, however, a night school for those who wish a business education. Inspectors visit schools once a month. There are four terms in the year, each lasting twelve weeks. One great difficulty teachers experience is caused by the addition of new pupils. The people move frequently from one place to another, and children are admitted at all times.

At the end of the year there would not be more than fifteen or twenty pupils who entered at the first of the year. In Pretoria there is only one other Canadian teacher besides the Misses Bridges. They have no snow at all in Pretoria.

At the conclusion of Miss Bridges' address, a vote of thanks was tendered her for the very interesting talk.

After the more formal part of the programme had been rendered, those assembled were invited to partake of a very dainty luncheon.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
