Laurier Praises Canada.

Returning from His Visit to the West He Declares it is the Best Heritage God Could Give to Man.

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the chief guest at the luncheon of the directors of the Canada Central Fair yesterday. In replying to the toast of his health, proposed by Senator Edwards, Sir Wilfrid said:

"As to the crops of the Northwest no words can describe them. The quantity of fertile land is to the eastern man a revelation. I had thought that in the course of my experience I had witnessed the best things in the Dominion of Canada. I had seen the valley of the Annapolis, in the province of Nova Scotia, through which, as was said by Joseph Howe, you can travel for forty miles under apple blossoms. I had seen the valley of the Richelieu in my own native province, which I thought could not be surpassed. I had seen the fertile land of the province of Ontario between Coburg and Sarnia which is claimed to be the garden of Canada.

"But when you see the valley of the Saskatchewan and the Red River Valley growing under a crop of forty bushels to the acre, field after field and mile after mile of the finest land there is under tillage, you have some faint conception, but only a faint conception, of what the qualities of the western country are. In fact we do not know the extent of the riches we have. And the more it is explored and developed, the more we will come to the conclusion that we have here the best heritage which God could give to man." (Cheers.)

After referring to the Toronto exhibition which had become a permanent feature of civic life there, and alluding to the warmth of the reception he had always received there, a warmth which always kept up until polling day (laughter) the premier said:

"Well, gentlemen, I am a citizen, not of Toronto, but of Ottawa and whatever may be the changes, which the political atmosphere may bring I am a citizen of Ottawa and intend to remain so—(cheers)—and my heart is engrossed in one thing, the beautifying of this magnificent city. Nature has done more for Ottawa than it has done for any city in Canada, with the exception, perhaps of Quebec. But it is not sufficient that nature should have done so much for this city. The citizens of the capital must lend their help and supplement what nature has done and I would like to be able to say and to think at this moment that the exhibition in Ottawa will be come more on a par with the exhibition in Toronto. (Applause.) There is room for the two, the distance which separates Ottawa from Toronto provides enough territory for both."

BOSTON'S MAYOR DEAD

Hon. P. A. Collins Had a Long and Honorable Public Career.

Boston, Sept. 15.—The death of Mayor Patrick A. Collins at Hot Springs, Va., was announced here yesterday afternoon by M. J. Curran, secretary to the mayor, who had received a brief telegram to that effect.

Mayor Collins left here about a week ago for Hot Springs to obtain a greatly needed rest. He was accompanied by his eldest son, Paul. When he started south the mayor was apparently in good health but when he had been away about a week he complained more or less of being ill. The immediate cause of his death was a hemorrhage. The mayor had kept his room for three days, but had not been confined to his bed entirely. He was sitting up talking with his son yesterday morning when seized with the attack, death occurring at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Pole, who had been attending him, did not anticipate the sudden termination of Mayor Collins, and upon his arrival at the bedside of the stricken man, found that he was beyond medical skill.

Up to a late hour last night the arrangements for the funeral of Mayor Patrick A. Collins had not been completed. It is expected that the funeral will be held on Monday or Tuesday of next week at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, the largest Roman Catholic edifice in the city. The death of Mayor Collins caused general sorrow among all classes of citizens, especially among Boston business men, many of whom regarded him as a party affiliation supported him in his campaigns for chief magistrate.

Among the numerous tributes to his worth as a citizen and public man were expressions from former President Grover Cleveland, under whom Mr. Collins was consul general at London; Richard Olney, secretary of state under Mr. Cleveland; former Secretary of the Navy John D. Long; Governor William Douglas; William Redmond, M. P., and other prominent men.

During the afternoon flags were half-masted throughout the city, and over the fire alarm system sixty-one blows were struck, one for each year of Mayor Collins' life.

The body will arrive in Boston at 1:30 a. m. Saturday.

Daniel A. Whelton, chairman of the board of aldermen, will act as Mayor Collins' successor, and will probably hold the office until the close of the year. It is not thought that a special election will be called as the regular municipal election will be held in about three months.

Mayor Collins was one of the leading Democrats of the country. He served in congress from 1883 till 1889, and was United States consul-general at London from 1893 to 1897.

PLEADS GUILTY.

Cole Arraigned at Portland for Murder of Steeves.

Portland, Me., Sept. 15.—Edward F. Cole appeared to be unconcerned when he was arraigned in the Superior court yesterday to answer to the indictment presented by the grand jury and charging him with the murder of John F. Steeves, his former acquaintance in Hillsboro (N. B.).

The proceedings were formal and very short. The clerk read the indictment, and in answer to the usual question, Cole replied "not guilty" in a firm tone.

Scott Wilson was appointed by the court to act in the prisoner's behalf at the trial. Mr. Wilson has been interested in the case from its beginning, and appeared for Cole at the hearing in the municipal court. He is confident of his client's innocence, and expects his acquittal.

The day for trial has not yet been set, but it will probably come late in the term, which it is expected to be long on account of the unusually long list of indictments presented. At Mr. Wilson's office today it was learned that there has not yet been a consultation between the prisoner's counsel and the county attorney on the subject of the trial date, but that the defense expect that the other matters pending will be all disposed of before the murder case is taken up.

From the beginning of the year until the present time there have been twenty-one suicides in Winnipeg or an average of three a month. Five persons who have taken their lives since the first of the year chose hanging as the easiest way, one took strychnine, five carbolic acid, five drowned, one cut her throat and four blew their brains out. Since August 21 to date there have been eight cases of suicide. Nine who committed suicide were foreigners, the fact of Winnipeg having a mixed population being largely responsible for the large number.

DALHOUSIE'S PRESIDENT.

Pays Tribute to Former Professors of the University of New Brunswick.

In his address at the convocation of Dalhousie University at Halifax, on Wednesday, President Forest said:

Since our closing in April, we have lost from our staff, Professor Dixon, Dr. Hebb, and Professor Stockley. Professor Dixon has been called to one of the most important positions in engineering in England. He has been appointed to the chief position in the department of Civil Engineering in the University of Birmingham. During the four years he was with us, he most unselfishly served the University. He was most untiring in service. His advice and aid have been invaluable to us in organizing the Department of Engineering. We most deeply regret his departure, but we most heartily congratulate him on his promotion.

Prof. Stockley's stay with us was brief. Last year he gave a course in Modern French. We feel that the City as well as the University has sustained a great loss in his removal to University work in Cork.

We have very great pleasure in welcoming to the University, Professors Stanley, McKenzie and Brydone Jack.

Professor Brydone Jack takes up the work laid down by Prof. Dixon. Mr. Jack has had a distinguished career, first in the University of New Brunswick, from which he received the degree of B. A., and later, at one of the best schools of Engineering in America—Rensselaer at Troy, N. Y. Mr. Jack has had a varied and highly successful career in the practical work of his profession while his work as a teacher has been equally successful. Chancellor Harrison, of the University of New Brunswick, speaks in the warmest terms of his work as Dean and Professor of Civil Engineering in that University. He worthily upheld the traditions of his distinguished father, Dr. Brydone Jack, for many years President and Professor of Mathematics of the University of New Brunswick. We welcome Mr. Jack to Dalhousie, and promise him plenty of work and the co-operation and support of his colleagues.
