

REJECTS JAPS TERMS.

And the Expectation is That the War Will be Fought to the Bitter End.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 11.—Russia's reply to the Japanese terms of peace will be delivered by Mr. Witte to Baron Komura today. Upon the two crucial points, indemnity and the cession of the island of Sakhalin, the reply is an absolute non-possimus. Other points are accepted as bases for discussion while still others accepted conditionally.

The Japanese plenipotentiaries are expected to ask for an immediate adjournment to examine and prepare their reply. Mr. Witte will probably intimate that the Russian plenipotentiaries expect the Japanese to display as much expedition as they (the Russians) have shown in the preparation of their response. Monday, therefore, is expected to be the day on which the real discussion will begin. The time for fencing is over and less than a week must decide whether a basis of peace is possible.

The tactics of the Japanese are inscrutable. They have shown throughout the war this ability to guard their secrets, military, naval and diplomatic and now not the remotest clue comes from behind their closed doors as to whether they are prepared to make substantial concessions. Silence and secrecy are their watchwords. But if the conditions as submitted constitute their last word hope of peace may be regarded as having disappeared if the feeling reflected in Russian circles is a true criterion. And that no substantial concessions on the main issues will be made is the belief both in Russian and Japanese circles.

In the inner camps of both plenipotentiaries the deepest pessimism reigns. Mr. Witte, it is positively known, believes the prospects of an agreement are so remote as to be practically nil. He has no desire to prolong the agony and instead of fencing when the plenipotentiaries come together when the Japanese have had the opportunity to examine the reply there is strong reason to believe he will not only welcome but will insist upon an immediate discussion of all the proposed bases.

JAPANESE TERMS WILL NOT VARY.

That the Japanese terms are so far as they touch the main points will not be withdrawn or materially modified is the opinion of the most competent Japanese authority on the ground who will talk for publication, namely, Julio Kumei Matsumoto, a member of the Japanese parliament who is here as a financial emissary of Japan and who is in close communication with Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira. The reasons he assigns are extremely interesting.

"Japan he says, has no desire to humiliate Russia more than is necessary and even now is seeking to avoid wounding Russia's susceptibilities but public opinion in Japan is absolutely so firm upon the main issues that no Japanese statesman could possibly dare to withdraw the terms which have been proposed as the basis of peace.

"The Japanese government has only asked what, according to Japanese ideas, are considered most moderate terms. A strong party in Japan favored claiming not only Sakhalin, the Liao Tung peninsula, protectorate over Corea and the evacuation of Manchuria, but also the cession to Japan of the territory around the mouth of the Amur."

"CONFERENCE WILL END AT ONCE."

The New York Sun's correspondent at St. Petersburg cabled last night as follows:

"Japan's terms of peace as reported this morning correspond with expectation. They confirm the information derived from a high authority after the meeting of the peace envoys on board the Mayflower, namely that no common ground at present exists upon which the belligerents can negotiate a peace."

"Popular opinion is unanimous that this ends the incident and that the peace conference will dissolve forthwith. Witte's action in immediately rejecting the demand for a war contribution and the cession of the island of Sakhalin is universally approved. Any attempt to compromise these points would be resented by all classes."

"There is no indication yet of what the official action will be, but a high functionary said to the Sun correspondent: 'Now we shall have to combat a l'outrance and the country will be united on this point.'"

"In a word, the effect of the publication of the Japanese terms has been to simplify the whole situation, solidify Russian sentiment and prepare the country for willing sacrifices in the great struggle which is now inevitable."

VICTIM OF CIGARETTES.

Wild Son of a Broker a Deserter from American Navy.

FATHER ACCUSES YOUNG MAN OF ROBBERY.

Brooklyn Eagle.—Arrested last night after having robbed his parents' home of jewels and apparel said to have been worth one thousand dollars, Eugene V. Starace, eighteen years old, a handsome chap, tall, broad shouldered, with light hair and blue eyes, was charged with vagrancy in the Gates avenue court today and held until the United States naval authorities can get their hands on him. Young Starace is a deserter and as bad, according to his father, Giovanni Starace, a wealthy importing broker, living at 222 McDonough street, as he is good looking.

When arrested by Officers Wischbrink and Keegan, of the Ralph avenue station, at 10.30 o'clock last night Starace was strolling along Bushwick avenue with a young woman who took his apprehension very much to heart. Starace himself seemed unconcerned about the matter and remarked that such incidents were not unusual. Today in court he was composed, but not so the young woman, who, seated in the rear of the court room, listened to all that was said and finally, when the young man was returned to the pen, drew forth a handkerchief and caught the tears which fell from her bright eyes.

"Are you a deserter from the United States navy?" asked Magistrate Furlong when the youth was arraigned before him.

"Yes, sir," replied Starace, promptly. The magistrate asked if any officer representing the government was in court, and receiving no response asked if any of the young man's relatives were present. Mr. Starace, the father, accompanied by another son, stepped to the rail and told something of his son's misdoings. He said he had caused his arrest last night. Monday he said the boy had carried off watches, diamonds, rings and several suits of clothes; some of the goods had been recovered and others were still in pawnshops. "I do not wish to press the charge of robbery," said Mr. Starace, in a business like manner, "but I was obliged to do something to put a stop to this boy's nonsense. I would like him held for desertion."

"I cannot hold him for desertion, but I will adjourn this case in order to permit the naval authorities to be notified of your son's arrest," said the court.

Asked what was the trouble with the boy Mr. Starace said he attributed much of his misconduct to cigarette smoking. "I have tried in every way to redeem my son; pardoned him time and again but without the desired result. I sent him to school in this country and even had him go to college in Italy, hoping that he might be reformed. I think his brain is softened by the use of cigarettes."

"Are you insane?" questioned the court, turning to the boy. "I don't think so," replied the youth, smiling, apparently amused at the question.

"What is the trouble with you, anyway; why don't you behave yourself?" continued the court, speaking to young Starace.

"I do not know what is the matter unless it is the cigarette smoking. My son does not drink," interjected the father.

The boy, without noticing the girl in the rear of the court room, who was watching his every move, went back to the prisoners' pen with a smile on his face. The father seemed heartbroken. A little more than a year ago young Starace stole some jewelry from his parents and ran away from home. With another Brooklyn boy, Benjamin Lehman, he went to Wilmington, Del., where what money they had was exhausted. Without funds and friends they turned to the navy for a home. Both enlisted and Lehman was sent to the Pacific, where he now is, and Starace went to the Sailors' Home, in Washington, where he remained for about three months, when he returned to Philadelphia.

In December last Starace, who had enlisted under the name of Alfred E. Sullivan, stating he was twenty-one years old, when, as a matter of fact, he was only seventeen, heard that he was to be transferred to the battleship Colorado. Then he took French leave, coming to his home in Brooklyn. He behaved very well until Monday, when he packed up what he could well dispose of at a pawnshop and started out. The police believe he intended taking another journey.

SHOT WOMAN AND SELF.

A Startling Event At Aylmer, Quebec.

St. Thomas, Aug. 11.—What may yet result in a double tragedy occurred at Aylmer this morning. Joseph Menier, a Frenchman, known here as "Big Joe," shot Mrs. Guay, with whom he eloped a few months ago, and then turned the revolver on himself. The unfortunate woman was shot in the arm, and also in the head but at three p. m. it was not thought that her injuries would prove fatal. It appears that Menier sent Mrs. Guay a letter a few days ago, informing her that he intended to return and shoot her. The woman did not heed the warning and went about her work as usual. She was scrubbing the steps on the front verandah this morning when Menier appeared and opened fire on her, and as the woman fell the man turned the revolver on himself. The shot, however, instead of passing upward through his brain as aimed, passed downward and out through the neck. It is not thought that the man is injured fatally. The weapon used was one of the small twenty-one short variety, or death in both cases would have been a certainty.

Menier was arrested and placed behind the bars and medical aid summoned.

Diamond Dye Blacks

The Original Continuous Crimp Mat has Stood the Test of Ten Years.

THE KEYSTONE WIRE MAT is made of galvanized steel strips, three-eighths of an inch deep by one-sixteenth of an inch thick, binged together with galvanized steel rods, admitting of it being rolled up like an ordinary piece of straw matting. It is the most durable mat made. It is reversible, cannot warp or curl at the side or edge, and adapts itself to unequal surfaces. It always lies flat. No danger of slipping on this mat; it is safe in every direction; can be left out in very weather. It is self-cleaning. A good sized house mat can be rolled into so small a compass as to be easily carried.
