THE LATE MR. SHIVES.

Fredericton especially has a melancholy interest in the tragic death of Mr. Kilgour Shives, for that much esteemed and deeply lamented gentleman was a native of this city, and his father conducted an important industry here.

Those who had the pleasure of knowing the victim of the deplorable shooting accident very highly esteemed him, and sincere sorrow is felt all over the province at his untimely end.

Mr. Shives was easily one of the leading millmen and lumbermen in New Brunswick, and at a comparatively early age had built up industries which give employment to a large number of men. He was a quiet, unostentatious gentleman, with a genial, kindly disposition and a generous heart, making warm friends wherever his acquaintanceship extended.

After combatting many difficulties he had succeeded in establishing a great business venture, alike profitable to himself and the province, but alas he is cut down in the very prime of manhood, and in the midst of his great activity.

His last hours were spent in agony yet he had tender thought for the bereaved ones, and gave minute directions to those who saw his life blood ebb out in the lonely forest far from the loved home circle and all that he held dear.

To the mourning ones so suddenly shocked by a great loss, the deep heartfelt sympathy of the province is extended.

MR. AYLESWORTH'S POSITION.

We publish today the text of Hon. A. B. Aylesworth's speech in his North York campaign, in which he created somewhat of a political sensation by declaring himself unalterably opposed to the pension scheme for ex-cabinet ministers.

It is hard to believe that the new postmaster general would have thus delivered himself without an understanding with his leader and colleagues, and his utterance we think, may be taken as an indication that the objectionable measure will be repealed.

Mr. Aylesworth defends the indemnity increase and made strong arguments in support of his position.

On the whole his address was that of a man of broad ideas and energetic action, and he seems to have carried conviction to his audience.

Mr. W. F. McLean, M. P., who is making vicious attacks on Mr. Aylesworth in his newspaper and on the stump, is confronted by former good words he said of the postmaster general.

As late as October, 1903, when Mr. Aylesworth was talked of as likely to become a member of the Ross government of Ontario, Mr. McLean in the World, said of him: "Mr. Aylesworth, K. C., stands high in the public admiration of the people of Canada, today, and he will be strongly urged to enter politics. Already Mr. Aylesworth's name has been connected with a city constituency."

"That the Liberal party would be strengthened by the acquisition of Aylesworth is a fact which denies contradiction. The greatest need of him is in the Ontario government, but it is inconceivable that a man of Mr. Aylesworth's high political ideas would ally himself with the administration in Queen's Park. The Laurier government would probably accept with eagerness the services of Mr. Aylesworth. With the exception of Hon. Charles A. Fitzpatrick and Mr. R. L. Borden, the Dominion House is weak in legal ability. These eminent lawyers, require reinforcement to make good the loss of Hon. Edward Blake, Sir John Thompson and D'Alton McCarthy."

"Mr. Aylesworth has never shown a strong desire to enter political life, but public enthusiasm, arising out of his courageous defence of Canada's interests at London, may make it difficult for him to refuse the call. There is just one consideration that might cause him to positively decline an early nomination. The duties which he discharged at London were purely judicial. When he refused to sign the award he simply acted the part of the honest, resolute judge. He was not thinking of Canada's interests or Canadian sentiment. His judgment as an impartial jurist was that the award did an injustice to Canada, and he refused to sign it. "No Canadian will believe that Mr. Aylesworth was governed by personal or political motives in declining to endorse the award. If he returned to Canada to plunge into active political life, unworthy motives might be imputed by so-called imperialists, who seem to think that strong, dignified resolution cannot come out of a colonial."

This is a very complete and well-deserved certificate of political character, and in view of it Mr. McLean's present attacks on Mr. Aylesworth lose their force.

It is stated that China is paving the way for the introduction of constitutional government, as the result of Japanese influence. It would be remarkable if Russia and China should both receive civil liberties from the efforts of the Japanese ascendancy in the east, but providence seems to have worked in a wonderful way through the agency of the yellow men of the new world power.

It will be a year tomorrow since Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his government won such a signal victory at the polls in a general election.

BITS OF NEWS.

A tornado struck Mountain View, Oklahoma, Saturday evening, killing seven persons and injuring many others, and damaging much property.

Josie Carr, the fourteen years old girl who killed the baby she kidnapped, pleaded guilty to the charge at Toronto Saturday, and was sentenced to seven years in Kingston penitentiary.

Father D'Amour, the parish priest at Edmundston, who fell unconscious on Sunday evening, Oct. 29th, just as he returned to his presbytery, and who was found to be in a serious condition, is reported somewhat improved.

On Saturday morning the body of a boy named Willie Nicholson was found in the woods near Reserve Mines, Cape Breton, about a mile from his home. He left on the previous morning to shoot rabbits, and he is supposed to have been killed by the accidental discharge of the gun.

Harry McLeod, B. A. I., of St. John, will leave this evening for Columbus, Ohio, to accept a position on the Indianapolis division of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. McLeod will be engaged in construction work. He is a graduate of the University of New Brunswick and for some months has been working with the Intercolonial.

The British war office has asked Canada to pay the cost of maintaining the British garrison regiment of Halifax from July 1 until their removal on November 13. Canada has had a force organized ready to replace the British troops at Halifax and has only been prevented from doing so by the failure of the war office to remove their men and make room for the Canadians. As Canada has had to pay her own men the request of the war office will not be granted.

The police of Hamilton, Ont., were notified at noon Saturday of a double murder or suicide in Tapleytown, the little village over the mountain back of Stoney Creek. Philander Burkholder and his wife were found dead in their home that morning by neighbors and the condition of the bodies indicate either murder or suicide. County Constable Springslead of Stoney Creek, was called and the local police are working on the case. The couple were well to do and no reason for suicide can be assigned.

The dead body of Winona Charlotte Newton, aged 18 years, daughter of Thomas Newton, a painter, was found Saturday beside a bridge over a small stream near 55th Street and College Avenue, on the outskirts of Kansas City. The girl's face had been disfigured by many cuts, there were finger marks on her throat and her skull was fractured above the right eye. A stone, weighing 150 pounds, weighed down the body, and the police's theory is that the girl went to the bridge that night to meet her sweetheart but that they quarrelled, and that he murdered her. Fred Francis, the alleged sweetheart of Miss Newton, was arrested Sunday night.

An unfortunate shooting casualty occurred Saturday near Chatham, by which Martin Cripps, a lad of 16 years, son of John Cripps of that town, received serious wounds which may yet prove fatal. Cripps and a young chap named Arsenau were out shooting partridge, when by some means Arsenau's gun was discharged, the whole charge taking effect in the head, shoulder and hand of Cripps. The poor chap was able to reach the doctor unaided, who removed more than twenty pellets of shot from his face and shoulder as well as a few from his hand. One of his eyes was injured, but it is not thought that he will lose the sight of it.

MARYSVILLE NEWS.

Nov. 6.—There was a large crowd at the Baptist Church yesterday afternoon to hear Rev. A. A. Rideout preach a special sermon to the Prentice Boys and Orangemen. The discourse was a very able one, and the speaker was in his usual excellent form.

There was a nine o'clock service in All Saint's Church yesterday morning, on which occasion Archdeacon Bryan occupied the pulpit and preached a very able and masterly sermon.

TELEPHONE MATTERS

The Union Company Have Declined City Council's Offer.

The Union Telephone Company, which is seeking to enter the city with their lines, have notified Mayor McNally that they do not intend to accept the city's offer to lease poles to them on government land. The company have met the city's offer with a counter proposition, which in brief is that they be allowed to erect the poles and lease the same to the city. A similar offer was made to the city some time ago by the N. B. Telephone Company and declined, and Mayor McNally thinks the Union Company's offer is likely to meet the same fate. His Worship is very pronounced in the opinion that the city should keep a tight grasp upon all public utilities.

It is reported that the next move to be made on the telephone chess-board will be an amalgamation of the Union and Central Companies. Both have pretty liberal charters, and by uniting would be able to present quite a strong front to rival concerns.

HOME AGAIN.

The U. N. B. football team returned this morning from their trip to Nova Scotia.

Lewis P. Fairbanks who died at Halifax Saturday evening, was one of the best known men of that city. His father was Hon. Charles Fairbanks, M. P. P., afterwards master of the rolls and one of the constructors in 1826 of the Shubenacadie canal project which failed and the property was purchased by Lewis. He was 75 years old. One of his sons is manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Springhill.

M. Labori, the eminent French lawyer, who defended Capt. Dreyfus, arrived in New York last week from Paris. M. Labori is married to a Kentville lady, sister of Mr. Harry O'Key, who married Miss Inez Ross, daughter of Mr. Malcolm Ross, of this city.
