MRS. CHADWICK'S JEWELS.

Two Valuable Gems are Held in Vault at Washington.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—There lies in one of the vaults of the Treasury Department at Washington one diamond (rubust) and one emerald ring, formerly the property of Mrs. Chadwick. They were sent to Comptroller Ridgely by the Receiver of the City National Bank of Oberlin, it being the judgment of the treasury officials that the jewels should be deposited in the treasury for safe keeping. The ornaments were placed with the bank's security for a loan.

The revenue officers are still investigating the story that $60,000 of gems, said to belong to Mrs. Chadwick, were smuggled into the country.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Commenting upon the fact that he had been served with an order by the Federal authorities "to produce certain diamonds and gems," Attorney S. P. Dawley, counsel for Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, said: "I have not received so much as a peep shoe buckle from either Mrs. Chadwick or her husband, Dr. Chadwick. The serving of such an order strikes me as being humorous. Mrs. Chadwick has certainly not turned any diamonds over to me."

Mr. Dawley stated further there would be no delay in the trial of the Chadwicks' case, so far as the defence was concerned. The defence will be ready to go on with the trial as soon as it is called. "The fact of the matter is that the sooner the trial is called so much the better for my client," he said.

THE NEW AGRICULTURE.

Farming as a Business—How to Improve the Farm House.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.

We are moving out of the old conditions, said Prof. C. C. James, Ontario's deputy minister of agriculture at the Maritime Winter Fair. When our settlers first came to Canada they faced the primeval forest, and during all the clearing period the old agriculture held sway. With a new generation, conditions began to change; live stock came in, large barns were built, butter and cheese began to be made, and we gradually changed all our methods. This building and the exhibits it contains are proof that we are trying to keep up with the demands of the times and to compete with other countries by following the New Agriculture.

The New Agriculture must be conducted upon business principles. In old times it did not seem so necessary to pursue these business methods; in fact, with the surroundings then existent, there was no chance to do so. In our towns and cities the merchant and the manufacturer has also had to change his methods of business. The farmer is just as much a manufacturer as the man in town who makes boots, clothes and hardware. The manufacturer in town finds it necessary to make the kind of goods that the consumer demands. It is also one of the conditions today that the farm should produce what his customers want. We must consider what our district is best capable of producing, and work along that line. Grow the crops and keep the live stock that thrive the best where we live.

The manufacturer must produce economically. Our best saw mills, for instance, are now run with practically no waste of material; even the dust is used. One of the best examples of economical manufacturing is seen in the great stock yards of Chicago, where absolutely every part of an animal is turned into a marketable product. So the farmer must endeavor to convert to a profitable use all his products. He should see to it that there is no waste land under weeds, under fences, or in careless cultivation. The farmer has, perhaps, in his operations greater problems to meet than any other manufacturer, if he would avoid unnecessary waste.

The New Agriculture must be conducted upon scientific principles. There should not today be any objection to book farming, for the intelligent men can from agricultural books and papers get the valuable experience of other men who have done the work he is trying to do. Our people are wisely beginning to lay aside their prejudice against books, and to try to get the best information from every available source. Scientific men have been and are studying and finding out truths about plant growth, the constituents of our soils, the breeding and feeding of animals, the growing of fruit, etc., and it will pay us to learn what these men have found out.

The farm work of the future will be a great deal more enjoyable. In Ontario the farmers are very seldom referred to as "old haysacks." The intelligent man who watches closely all the results of his work is interested and takes pleasure in it. The world has lately found out that the farmer can be benefited by an education applicable to his business.

A few years ago in Ontario we first found out that a farmer had a wife, and we are doing what we can for the betterment of the woman of the farm. In the past she has had a hard life—her work has been practically unending and she has not had the benefit of labor-saving devices to the same extent as her husband. We are trying to relieve the farmer's wife of all the drudgery possible by our system of women's institutes and domestic science teaching. We have also found out that there are children on the farm, and we are inaugurating a movement to try to provide the right kind of education for these children.

The home is where our agriculture starts and is nurtured. The reformation of the agricultural home is the start, after all, of our New Agriculture. Establish a farmer with an inclination to knowledge, a wife who knows how to make the most of her opportunities, and children getting a rational education, and I care not how poor that farm is, it will succeed. With these conditions, we shall hear no more about the "old haysack," but we shall see the farmer walking the streets of our towns as well dressed as anyone, and respected as one of the best citizens of Canada.

Yours very truly,
W. A. CLEMENS,
Pub. Clerk.
