FOOTBALL.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST AMERICAN FOOTBALL.

Athaca, N. Y., Nov. 14.—President Schurman, of Cornell University, believes college football would be purified by doing away with gate receipts. On this subject he said:

"I have always thought that the excessive eagerness of football in our American colleges and universities is, after brutality, by far the most objectionable feature of the game. It is the public source of commercialism, gambling and professionalism."

"I cannot but think the time will come when it will be regarded as degrading to ask students to exhibit their athletic skill for the sake of gate receipts. No change in that direction, however, will be possible until several of the leading universities agree to a general reform of football. Such a reform would embrace the elimination of mass plays, and it would cut down largely the amount of money now devoted to the support of the game."

"The costliest features at the present time, apart from the necessary upkeep of the athletic field, are, I believe, the salaries of the professional coaches, the maintenance of the training table and the luxurious travel and hotel accommodations provided for the teams. If the American University public will consent to make a recreation instead of a business of football all these expenditures would be greatly reduced."

"While no university can, acting by itself, effect any great reform, some progress has been made in Cornell University. The cost of maintaining football, which formerly stood at $20,000 or more, has during the last few years been kept at about $15,000. This amount, which it is said, is not large, when compared with the expenditures of other universities, is in itself considered entirely too much. Of course, it comes from gate receipts."

"If there were no gate receipts the game would have to be supported by the voluntary contributions of students and alumni. If, however, the reforms I have suggested were adopted by several representative universities, if football were no longer organized as a business, but were played for sports sake, the voluntary contributions of students and alumni would be adequate for the necessary expenditures of the game."

YALE WON CLOSE GAME.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13.—In a game full of sensational plays Yale defeated Brown University Saturday 11 to 0.

Not until well through the second half did the Yale supporters feel certain that Brown would not score a touch down and early in the game they even had quackings lest the visitors would win out because of the strength they showed in rushing the ball.

BRITISHERS WIN AT SOCKER.

New York, Nov. 13.—An International association football game between America, represented by the Columbia University team, and England, represented by the eleven from H. M. S. Bedford, was played at American League park Saturday. Columbia held her own in the first half, which ended in a tie at 1, but the college seemed to tire in the second half and the Englishmen scored three goals, winning 4 to 0.

PRINCE LOUIS SEES INDIANS PLAY.

West Point, Nov. 13.—Failure to kick a goal caused West Point to lose Saturday to the Carlisle Indians, 6 to 5. The goal, which would have tied the score, was missed by less than six inches.

Prince Louis of Battenberg was an interested spectator of the game.

Two entirely different types of football players were pitted against each other, the Indians using trick plays throughout the game, and the army eleven relying on its superior physical strength to crush its way to the goal line. Each team scored once by its distinctive style of play.

THE TURF.

NEW YORK HORSE SHOW.

New York, Nov. 14.—The twenty-first annual exhibition of the National Horse Show Association, which opened in Madison Square Garden yesterday, was larger in point of the number of entries than any previous show, and was also of unusual social importance.

Yesterday's programme included the judging of classes of saddle horses, hunters or jumpers, pacers in harness, ponies in harness, harness horses, four-in-hands, harness tandems, thoroughbred stallions, roadsters and road rigs, qualified hunters and thoroughbred qualified or green hunters.

One of the first owners to win a first prize yesterday was Eben D. Jordan, of Boston, who was the heaviest winner at last year's horse show. Mr. Jordan took the blue ribbon in the class of pairs of ponies shown in harness with Tangierine and Dominoe.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt took second with Spots and Frills. The first surprise of the show came in the early afternoon, when the entries of Reginald Vanderbilt, Alfred Vanderbilt and Judge Moore, were all beaten in the class of heavy weight carriage horses by the entry of J. Campbell Thompson, of this city.

THE RING.

WHERE'LL FITZ MEET O'BRIEN?

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—Where will be the ring in which Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack O'Brien are to fight be asked?

At first it was thought that San Francisco was to be the battleground, and that the men would contest the heavyweight championship here on December 20.

A later report from New York told that the rival heavyweights demanded pictures and that Coffroth had promised to bring them together some fine afternoon in December at Colma.

Now, anyone who is acquainted with the San Francisco climate knows that we are liable to have more sunshine in December than in July, but for all that it would be very unwise to set a December date for an alfresco entertainment out this way. The weather is too capricious, and instead of blue skies and balmy air on a given afternoon in the last month of the year we might find ourselves in the middle of a three weeks' rainfall.

Coffroth is a native son and knows all about these things and it isn't likely that he would begin work on an outdoor attraction before February at least. As it is very evident that Fitzsimmons and O'Brien expect to box in December, the inference is that Coffroth sees his way clear to put the men in the ring at Mechanics' Pavilion in this city, but that he is not disclosing his plans in their entirety, for fear that some of the politicians who have furthered his proposals might chide him for making disclosures before the proper moment arrived.

If Fitz adheres to his plans he will arrive in San Francisco during this week. He is to lay over in Chicago, where a friend is to give him a preparation which will keep his feet from busting when he tackles road work.

In view of the fact that Fitz's pedal extremities were in a bad way when he trained for George Gardner, foot readiness is something that the freed warrior might apply to his hands with advantage. The feet play an important part in Queensbury pastimes, of course, but Fitz must not devote all his "tootsies" or the impression may gain ground that he and Jack are going to take a while at "La Savate."

JEFF'S RETIREMENT.

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—A story came from far-away Australia recently to the effect that a Melbourne promoter had offered ex-Champion Jim Jeffries a handsome guarantee to make the trip to Kangaroo land and box the winner of the Dick Kenrick-Bill Squires fight. It may be of slight interest to American sporting men to know that the Kenrick-Squires contest took place at Melbourne on September 7. Kenrick, who seems to be a counterpart of John L. Sullivan's sparring partner, McCormick from Texas, was knocked out in the fourth round.

There is little fear of Jeffries journeying to Australia to meet Squires. As far as he has gone, Jeff seems to be thoroughly sincere about his retirement. What might happen if Squires came to this country and conquered all before him is another question. Jeffries told the writer once that the only thing that would bring him back into the game would be the spectacle of some bruiser from abroad walking away with the championship.

There is not much likelihood of Squires coming this way, however, and from the best information obtainable he would not make much headway if he did come. He is a rugged fellow, with plenty of grit and punching power, but would probably meet his Waterloo in a go with Marvin Hart.

BOWLING.

RUBBER BALLS FOR BOWLING.

The introduction of the hard rubber ball on the New York alleys has proved an innovation, and it is fast becoming popular. Bowlers who were once of the opinion that nothing could ever take the place of the old lignum vitae sphere have altered their opinion and are now using the perfected ball with better results in many instances. The advantage of the bowler using the new sphere in a tournament or match game is obvious. He has at his command a perfect ball. No uneven weight in the wood to cause a deficiency, no effect of the weather to guard against. Little care required, which is not the case with a wooden sphere. An improvement has been made in the grip, the holes being spiral. This alone is a great advantage. Perspiring hands make little difference.

WHIRLED AROUND A SHAFT.

Popular Young Man Killed at Belleville Cement Works.

Belleville, Ont., Nov. 14.—The first accident at the Belleville Cement Works at Point Ann occurred at 9 o'clock this morning, when a young man named Arthur Cobb was instantly killed.

A belt pulled off, and as he was adjusting it he was caught and whirled around and before help came he was dead, being badly mangled. His father and brother were among the first on the scene. The victim and his parents arrived from England this spring, and were a fine family. Young Cobb was 17 years of age and very popular.

BORING WITH THE NORTH.

Northwest M. P. Cutting a Trail Through Unknown Country.

Ottawa, Nov. 14.—Lieut.-Colonel Fred White, Controller of the Northwest Mounted Police has received a report from Superintendent Constantine, who is in charge of a party of Mounted Police entrusted with making a trail from St. John, B. C. to Lake Teslin, in the Yukon Territory. The party, consisting of two officers, six non-commissioned officers, twenty-two constables and two special constables, left Fort Saskatchewan, March 6th last, and returned to St. John, B. C., to winter on the 25th of September, having built a wagon trail to the junction of Halfway and Cypress Rivers, a distance of ninety-four miles. This is the hardest part of the undertaking. Steep hills had to be graded and streams bridged. This helped to delay the work, which was further hampered by heavy rain in August.

Work will be resumed early in the spring, and it is hoped before the following winter to reach a point a hundred miles northeast of Fort Graham, about 250 miles farther. Superintendent Constantine states that the soil around Lesser Slave Lake is a sandy loam, but good wheat, barley and oats are raised in small quantities. The Dominion Fishing Company are established in the lake, and shipping fish at such a rate as to make the natives apprehensive for the future. On the lava benches and the north bank of Peace River good crops of wheat, oats and barley, together with vegetables, are grown. One farmer at Vermilion last year sold three thousand dollars worth of wheat to the Hudson's Bay Company, who have a flour mill there.

With Election Day came the defeat of Cassidy, and Ordeman, having won $200 in cash, decided that, rather than forfeit one hundred dollars he would take the trip to Germany and visit his aged mother, who lives in Bremen.

The man from Ridgewood accompanied Ordeman to the Cunard Line office and the passage was purchased, and at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon many friends of Mr. Ordeman will wish him bon voyage as he sails on the Etruria. He will return on January 1.

and incidentally, when odds were 2 to 1 in favor of Cassidy, laid $100 on Bernel.

One night he met a Cassidy office-holder, residing at Ridgewood, who made a wager that if Bernel was elected he would pay Ordeman's passage to Germany and return, and also his expenses incurred on the trip, with the understanding that Ordeman take with him to Germany three lithographs of Joseph Bernel, to be placed in three different places in Bremen.

In the event of Ordeman not complying with this he must forfeit $100. On the other hand, if Cassidy was re-elected Mr. Ordeman was to take his family and move out of Queen's Borough, and not return until Cassidy was out of office.

Massachusetts Attorney General Declines the Use of His Name for an Injunction.

Boston, Nov. 15.—Attorney General Parker has decided not to interfere in the fight over the new rates of the Royal Arcanum, and will not comply with the request of the protestors against the rates, that he apply an injunction to prevent them from being enforced.

The decision was given out yesterday and in it the attorney general says in brief that he has decided not to interfere, as the condition of the Royal Arcanum is not such as to render its further proceedings hazardous either to the public or to its certificate holders, and as, in his opinion, the order has not exceeded its powers in adopting and putting into effect such rates.

The attorney general says further that any certificate holders whose individual rights given them by their certificates have been invaded by the adoption of new rates, may litigate the question for themselves without its intervention.

The leaders of the organized protest against the new rates have received the decision and will, if sufficient funds for litigation are guaranteed, immediately bring suit, in the names of the individuals, in the Massachusetts supreme court.

The hearing before the attorney general was held a few weeks ago. John P. Leahy and Moorfield Storey appearing for the petitioners, and former Attorney General Pillsbury and John Haskell Butler for the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum.

The petitioners desired that the attorney general allow an injunction to be brought in his name, the laws requiring that an injunction, to be brought in such a case, must be through him.

EX-PREMIER PETERS LOSES LITTLE GIRL.

His Six-Year-Old Daughter Burned to Death, Clothes Catching at Fireplace.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 14.—A lamentable accident occurred on Friday morning at the residence of Hon. Fred Peters, K. C., former premier of P. E. Island, with the result that Violet Avis, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peters died at St. Joseph Hospital on Sunday afternoon.

The little one had been standing close to the fireplace in her bedroom when her night gown caught fire. She came to the door and attracted attention of other members of the family, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Medical aid was hastily summoned and the pitifully burned child was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where every effort was made to overcome the effects of the burns and the shock, but unhappily without avail. (The victim was a cousin of Mrs. Percy Barnett, of Kingsclear.)
