BAD FOR ST. JOHN.

The ship laborers of St. John are killing the goose that lays the golden egg. They thought they could hold up the steamship companies doing business at that port by striking for an exorbitant wage, but the companies took the grip with the longshoremen and are coming out ahead. The companies are getting all the men they need at present from Montreal, strikers are still on strike, but meanwhile the St. John men are idle with their families needing the money they might be earning. If the local men do not come to terms, the companies will unload some of their ships at Halifax. This has happened already, and will continue, to the great detriment of the port of St. John.

A public meeting called for this evening to discuss the strike, was to have been presided over by the mayor, but that gentleman has reconsidered his promise and declines to identify himself with the movement, evidently believing that the demands of the longshoremen are unreasonable.

The strikers who have had steady winter employment at a fair rate will soon discover their mistake. There is every sympathy for the laboring man, but in the St. John strike the demands appear unreasonable, and the steamship companies are quite right in standing to their guns.

If the longshoremen are well advised they will break the strike at once, accept the reasonable wages offered them, get to work and save the winter port business to St. John.

THE PRINCE'S DEFENDERS.

The respectable New York papers, while admitting the truth of the story that Mayor McEllan induced the British authorities to postpone the visit of Prince Louis of Battenberg to that city until after the mayoralty election, lost Candidate Hearst, a British lion tail twister, would use it to McEllan's disadvantage, strongly condemn the effort, to prejudice the prince and his position as a British admiral by representing him as an obscure German—a mere hanger on at the court of St. James and a person who commands a British squadron simply because he is related by marriage to the royal family.

The Brooklyn Eagle is one of the newspapers that speaks up for the prince, making the observation among others that he happens to earn his living, and that Harper's Weekly makes no mistake when it says:

"New York had a good time with Admiral Prince Louis and to all appearance the Admiral Prince had a good time with New York. Certainly New York never had a more agreeable, appreciative and responsive guest, or one better able to endure the considerable fatigues of an enthusiastic hospitality. He came up smiling after every round of attentions. He liked every one he met, praised everything he saw, maintained a perfect good humor, said the right thing on every occasion, talked abundantly and judiciously to the newspaper men, said not a word that would have been better unspoken, and showed himself in all particulars a model visitor. It has been a great pleasure to receive and entertain so pleasant a gentleman. At any rate, New York was glad to see Prince Louis, and we all hope that he had real fun here and that if, as one of his sailormen predicts, he has the gout when he gets out to sea again, it won't be a worse attack than the game ashore was worth."

THE GEROW CASE.

Col. Marsh Reserves Judgment Until December 5th.

The case of the King on the information of Indian Commissioner Farrell, vs. J. W. Gerow, charged with giving liquor to an Indian, was concluded in the police court this morning and judgment reserved until December 5th. William Hector, (colored), was called for the defence and endeavored to prove an alibi on behalf of Gerow. He stated that the latter was out of town on Monday last, the day he was supposed to have given liquor to Sockbasin. Mr. O. S. Crockett, M. P., who is defending Gerow, briefly addressed the court on behalf of his client. He contended that no offence had been committed and that the section of the Indian act under which the proceedings were taken, did not cover cases of this kind.

Indian Commissioner Farrell, who conducted the case for the prosecution in a manner most creditable to a layman, replied briefly to Mr. Crockett. He said that he had the fact brought home to him a number of times that there were miserable characters in the community ready and willing to supply Indians with liquor for the sake of getting a free drink themselves. In this case it had been proved conclusively that Gerow had supplied four bottles of gin to Sockbasin on Monday last. The result had been that Sockbasin had become intoxicated and had beaten his wife besides smashing in the door of his home. The fact that Gerow had called at his (Farrell's) home and voluntarily admitted that he had given liquor to the Indians, was pretty good evidence of his guilt. He had been approached by parties urging him to deal leniently with Gerow, but he did not intend to show any leniency in the matter. So long as he held the office of Indian agent he intended to do his duty and prosecute all persons who furnish liquor to Indians to the fullest extent of the law.

Col. Marsh announced that he would deliver judgment in the case on December 5th.

SPLIT IN THE PARTY.

Sir Edward Grey Joins Lord Rosebery in Combatting C. B.'s Home Rule Advocacy.

London, Nov. 28.—Lord Rosebery's emphatic repudiation, in his speech at Bodmin, Cornwall, of the Home Rule policy of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, leader of the Liberal party, as outlined by that statesman when speaking at Stirling (Scotland), Nov. 23, which seems to have widened the breach in the party at the moment when a dissolution of parliament is threatened, owing to the split in the Liberal party over the fiscal question, is the latest sensation in the political circles of the United Kingdom.

Sir Edward Grey, who was under secretary for foreign affairs in the Liberal administration of 1892, speaking at Newcastle last night attempted to dispute the wide-spread impression that the positions taken by Lord Rosebery and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman are irreconcilable. He said he thought Lord Rosebery had put a wrong meaning on Sir Henry's speech at Stirling and that undoubtedly an explanation from the latter would prove there had been a misunderstanding.

Sir Edward said the policy of the Liberal government should be along the lines followed by Premier Balfour, George Wyndham, former chief secretary for Ireland, and Sir Anthony P. MacDonnell, under secretary to the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in giving Ireland the widest possible scope for the development of her local institutions. He declared, however, that he distinctly repudiated the idea of home rule for Ireland as part of the Liberal policy.

Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, speaking at Redditch last night, said that the crisis in the cabinet existed solely in the imagination of the newspapers.

A YOUTHFUL FOLLY.

Solicitor General of Canada Converted From the Independence Idea.

Montreal, Nov. 28.—A special London cable says: Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, solicitor-general for Canada, made a piquant speech on French-Canadianism at a banquet tendered to himself and Donald MacMaster, K. C., at the Hotel Cecil by Mr. Griffith, secretary of the high commissioner's office. Distinguished members of parliament and others were present.

Mr. Lemieux recounted playfully what he called the sins of his youth, namely, advocacy of French-Canadian independence. He said that this was not practical. Such an issue would mean absorption by the United States and the loss of what French-Canadians held most dear.

The French-Canadians felt that they must stop and consider when such an estimable gentleman as Sir Fredericton Pollock propounded new imperial schemes. They were profoundly satisfied with their present constitutional freedom, though of course if John Bull gave a preference in his markets to Canada, they would say "Merci." Canada, however, would never say "Give us preference or we quit the empire." That was absurd. The speech excited much interest.

A REAL GOOD LAUGH.

Sunshine Hawks at the Opera House Next Tuesday—Friday Morning Reserved Seat Sale Opens.

Sunshine Hawks, the laughing philosopher, of the south, one of the funniest men on the stage today, will be the second attraction in the Spencer Star Course at the Opera House next Tuesday evening. The Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices the course is being held, are selling the course tickets for 80 cents, now and a great many more will be sold before the next entertainment, which without the slightest question will be one of the most entertaining of the entire course. The mission in life of Mr. A. W. Hawks is to make people laugh, and to do so only by inspiring them with nothing but good thoughts. There is nothing but cleanliness in all of the laughing philosopher's witticisms, and to hear him is an education. To be in his company for two hours sends one away a better man or woman. Don't forget the laughing philosopher next Tuesday evening and secure your reserved seats Friday morning.—d.

Chas. Jacobson, private secretary to Governor Davis of Arkansas, has given out a statement to the effect that Governor Davis had wired him from Fayetteville, stating that former Congressman Hugh Dinsmore and Jack Walker assaulted him in his room at a hotel with drawn revolvers, and that he (the governor) was struck over the head with a revolver. The governor in turn, according to statement, struck Dinsmore over the head with a large can. Other reports are current about the affair. Davis is said to have made strong remarks which Dinsmore objected to.
