St. Mary's Departmental Store.

S. HERBERT LOGAN, Manager.

Everybody likes to buy at a busy store. It shows life. If the store has a dead appearance you may depend the goods lack something. Perhaps prices are high. Most likely the stock is ill kept.

A visit to this store will do you good even if you don't buy. Everything is full of go. Stocks are very desirable.

ANARCHY IN RUSSIA.

Awful Scenes of Sunday Slaughter at Odessa.

AUTHORITIES DOUBTFUL OF SOLDIERS' LOYALTY--REVOLUTIONARY METHODS SPREADING.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 30.—(Special)—The city continues outwardly calm, but there is intense excitement beneath the surface.

The strike committee continues to restrain the people from violence, this being considered to be the best means of attaining the ends in view, but behind the scenes, the members of the committee are holding constant meetings with the leaders of the various groups, and seem to be preparing for a bold stroke at an opportune moment.

The committee men believe that an open collision can be averted. The "Reds" declare that even the army, they say, is being gradually won over to the people's cause. Only the Cossacks are absolutely faithful to the regime.

The Istambulsky guards regiment, which was reported to be dissatisfied during the troubles of last winter, is now reported to have refused to do guard duty, and to be confined to barracks surrounded by Cossacks.

During the night firing occurred at the Polytechnical school, where a number of students are held as prisoners. The Cossacks surrounded the building and made a display of dispersing the workmen with their whips. They were denounced by students from the windows, and were finally fired upon and two soldiers were unhorsed. Thereupon the Cossacks fired two volleys, but the result is not known.

A policeman in the Vasil-Osterow district was found dead this morning, having been murdered. Many of the police are afraid of losing their lives and refuse to do patrol duty. Their places have been taken by foot soldiers.

The city is filled with false and sensational reports set afloat by the revolutionists.

News from the provinces indicates that the authorities are getting control in some sections, but the general situation is growing worse.

instead of improving.

In many places students and strikers are fighting the "Black hundred" as the bands of roughs are termed. The demands of the people are increasing proportionately with the success of their demonstrations.

The cry for a constituent assembly is now almost universal, but the "Reds" declare that even that would not satisfy the people, and add that there must be some lamp post work. On account of food pinch, even first-class restaurants have increased their prices.

The minister of finance has issued an order permitting meat importation by water. Scarcity of milk is especially felt.

SLAUGHTER AT ODESSA.

Odessa, Oct. 30.—It is impossible to fix even approximately the number of yesterday's victims.

Officials in charge of the hospitals, cemeteries and jails are strictly forbidden to give out the slightest information.

The dead and wounded, whose numbers must be very considerable, have been removed by the police and hidden out of sight of inquirers.

The infantry, of whose loyalty the authorities are doubtful, are kept in barracks and the Cossacks Gen darmes who show no disinclination to shoot down people in sight, are left to deal with the crowds.

At one barricaded corner yesterday a student, on the appearance of the Cossacks, mounted the barricade and appealed to them to join the people instead of killing their brethren who were struggling for the freedom of their common country. The Cossacks answered with four volleys, killing nine and wounding forty persons.

Similar scenes are occurring everywhere. Crowds flee before the charging Cossacks and invade private houses and hide in garrets and roofs. Many private apartments have been turned into temporary hospitals for the treatment of the wounded refugees.

BOSTON MURDER MYSTERY.

Dress Suit Case Victim Identified as an Actress-- Alleged Murderer Under Arrest.

Boston, Oct. 30.—The dress suit case mystery and the disappearance on September 10th last, of Miss Susan Geary of Cambridge, a member of The Shepherd King Theatrical company, where she was known as Ethel Durrell, was partially cleared yesterday by identification of the victim's rings. The police are thoroughly satisfied that it was Miss Geary's body which was dismembered and placed in two dress suit cases and thrown into the harbor.

The identification was made yesterday by the mother of the girl, Mrs. Catherine Geary of Cambridge, while the confirmation of Miss Geary's disappearance from The Shepherd King company on Sept. 10th, came from Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of the company, and to whom Miss Geary was engaged. Mr. Nathan is in Pittsburgh, Pa. Miss Geary parted from him on the best of terms on Sept. 10th, the day after the company closed its engagement in this city, and he supposed that he should see her at the performance in Lowell on the following day. Instead however, a message was received from "P. A. Smith of Boston," who signed himself as a physician, and who stated that "Miss Durrell" was suffering from stomach trouble and would be unable to work for several days.

Miss Geary dropped out of sight after that, and so far as the police are concerned, they have been unable to discover anyone who either saw or communicated with the girl.

Ten days later, on Sept. 21st, a dress suit case, in which was the torso of a young woman, was found floating in the harbor near the Winthrop Yacht Club, about three miles below the city, and on Friday last another suit case, containing the arms and legs of the victim, was discovered in the water off the city docks, near the mouth of the Charles River. On the fingers of the right hand were three rings, which gave the police the first tangible clue in the case. It remained, however, for a persevering newspaper man to outstrip the police and find in Mrs. Geary a person who had a missing daughter. Mrs. Geary described the rings, communication with Nathan was established, and one of the most baffling cases of identification with which the Massachusetts authorities have had to deal for many years was solved yesterday when Mrs. Geary and her two daughters described the rings and afterwards positively recognized them as belonging to Miss Geary.

NATHAN'S ARREST.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—After a long and searching examination at police headquarters lasting until after 2 o'clock this morning Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of The Shepherd King company, was held on a charge of murdering his sweetheart, Miss Susan Geary, the victim of the Winthrop suit case mystery, which has been puzzling the Boston authorities for more than a month.

Nathan holds to his story that he has not seen the girl since he escorted her to a subway station on the night of Sept. 9th. Acting Manager Reinold and Stage Manager Forrest were taken to detective headquarters early in the evening by Detective Cole from the Lincoln Hotel. They denied any knowledge of Nathan's whereabouts, and after a long session with Chief Thomas McQuade were allowed to go. Reinold and Forrest went to the Hotel Henry "shadowed" by Cole. They went upstairs and Cole secured the number of the room and followed. He found Nathan, Kimeo, Reinold and Forrest coming out of a room on the fifth floor and placed Nathan under arrest.

Nathan was unable to stand when he learned that Cole was from detective headquarters. He had been crying for the past week and was so unnerved that Kimeo and Forrest had to almost carry him to police headquarters. Superintendent McQuade immediately called up Superintendent of Police W. A. Pierce of Boston, and talked with him over the long distance telephone a long time before returning to his office, where Cole and Kane, Messrs. Reinold, Forrest, Nathan and Kimeo were in session. Nathan was much overcome and it was with difficulty that he repeated his story of his connection with the Boston murder mystery. Kimeo, the Japanese valet of Wright Lorimer, has been a close friend of Nathan and they explained their absence during the evening by saying that they had been on a trolley ride.

THE LATE L. P. FISHER'S WILL.

Eminent Woodstock Lawyer Bequeathed Nearly Half a Million to Public and Charitable Purposes.

The will of the late Lewis P. Fisher has been probated at Woodstock. The estate is valued at $474,000, and nearly all of it is given to public objects. The executors are Mr. A. B. Connell and Col. Dibblee, and the bequests are as follows:

To Mrs. Fisher his residence during her life time and absolutely all the household furniture and stores on or in the said premises. If she desires to reside elsewhere she is to have $200 annually to pay rent.

To his wife also is bequeathed two thousand dollars annually during her life, and also four hundred dollars when will was probated.

To his sister, Isabel Smith, six hundred dollars annually during her life.

To his nieces, Ella Dibblee and Alice Gardiner, each six hundred dollars annually during the life of each of them.

To his wife three hundred dollars, for the benefit of the Salvation Army in the town of Woodstock.

To Mary Fisher McKay, named after my wife, two hundred dollars in two years after my demise.

To Frances Wallace, the wife of Rev. Isaiah Wallace and sister of my wife, one hundred dollars annually during her life.

One thousand dollars towards a superannuation fund for school teachers who have been or may be in the employment of the trustees of schools for the town of Woodstock for eight years and upwards under certain stated conditions.

To the Home for Aged Women of St. John, two hundred dollars.

A sum sufficient to procure and erect a suitable monument in the old burying ground in the city of Fredericton, in the burial place of my father, mother and brothers.

Annually for ten years to the British and Foreign Bible Society, twenty dollars, and out of the residue of my estate, at the time of the calling in thereof, four hundred dollars.

To my wife annually during her life, two hundred dollars, to be distributed amongst the deserving poor. Twenty thousand dollars to purchase and procure a suitable site in the said town of Woodstock, on the north side of the Meduxnekeag stream and for erecting thereon a suitable building for a free public library, and towards the support and maintenance thereof, and the purchase of books therefor.

Ten thousand dollars to erect a suitable building or buildings for a free public hospital in Woodstock and towards the support and maintenance thereof, and after the death of my wife I devise the lands and premises above devised to her for her life for the purposes of such hospital and if they deem it expedient to sell the same and appropriate the proceeds for the benefit of such hospital then such sale may be made, if it will be to the advantage of the scheme instead of taking and occupying the present building on said premises.

As a memorial, to pay the sum of $40,000 for the erection of a school building in Woodstock, on the present college grounds, and for a free night school.

Land on Elm street, Woodstock, is devised for a public park.

$200 for Methodist Sabbath school at Woodstock and $1000 for Carleton County Missions or towards Ministers' superannuation.

If there be a sufficient sum in the residue of my estate, then I give five hundred dollars as an additional bequest to the British and Foreign Bible Society.

"If there be a sufficient sum in the residue of my estate, then I give six hundred dollars to the trustees of the Methodist church in the said town of Woodstock for the purpose of aiding in the erection of a parsonage in connection with the said church.

"Annually for five years, the sum of $25 to each of the pastors of Woodstock, regardless of denomination or creed, Protestant and Catholic, for the benefit of the poor in their congregations.

Ten thousand is further left, if the residue will permit, for the public school before mentioned.

After providing for all the foregoing schemes, payments and legacies, and for all of those hereinafter contained, if the residue of my estate does not exceed the sum of $20,000, then my said trustees are to appropriate and pay the said residue toward the promotion of the several schemes hereinbefore provided for, but if the residue does not exceed the sum of $20,000, then in trust to appropriate and pay the whole of the said residue for the foundation, establishment of a Free Manual Industrial Training, Technical and Art school or schools, in Woodstock.

Among the personal bequests is an annuity on the death of her mother to the testator's niece, Ella Smith, a bequest to Henrietta, wife of W. M. Connell, to Arthur K. Connell and to other relatives.

An examination of those clauses will show that the residuary portion of the estate is very large. The specific bequests do not seem to exceed $100,000 besides the annuities. And the amounts required at four per cent to provide for the annuities may be $120,000, of which a considerable portion must fall in to the said residue for the foundation, establishment of a Free Manual Industrial Training, Technical and Art school or schools, in Woodstock.

This would leave $250,000 for the purposes to which the residue is applied, supposing the estate to be as large as estimated.

THE COUNTRY ROAD.

From the busy fields of farmer folk It starts on its winding way, Goes over the hill and across the brook Where the minnows love to play; Then past the mill with its water-wheel, And the pond that shows the sky; And up to the bridge by the village store, And the church with its spire so high.

You would never think that the country road So long to the store could be So long to a boy with an errand to do An another boy to see. You can never dream how short it is From the farm to the frozen pond, Nor how very much farther it always is To the schoolhouse just beyond.

O, the country road! at the farther end It runs up hill and down. Away from the woods and the rippling brook To the tolling, rushing town. But, best of all, when you're tired and sick Of the noisy haunts of men, If you follow it back it will lead you home To the woods and fields again.

MOVING TO TOWN.

Mr. H. E. Harrison has rented part of Mrs. Stanger's house on Charlotte street, and is removing his family to the city from Margerville.

THE QUIET HOUR.

The world's discordant noises ever more Clang round about my ears, and weary me; There were rough hands, ungentle hearts before O Jesus, quiet me with tender speech, While up to thee my wistful arms I reach! In life's bewildering strife and eager rush I love so much of thy sweet gentleness; But in the peace and solace of this hush Strengthen and soothe me with thy blessedness; Give to me what thou wilt; here at thy side, Whatever it be, I shall be satisfied. I am glad to think I am not bound to make the world go right. But only to discover and to do, With cheerful heart the work that God appoints.

STUDENTS AND HIGH IDEALS. Whatever the student's bent, whatever his ultimate intention in the way of practice may be, the same simple rules will hold good. He must be earnest in his desire to learn and he must never be contented with partially understanding. He must be methodical, working according to a plan and ready to sacrifice his personal pleasures and comforts to carry out that plan. And he must keep before him a high ideal of his professional duties, ever remembering that his mission is to prevent disease and heal the sick. He has joined an altruistic profession, one where the rewards are often incommensurate altogether with the labors but one where his power of doing good, if thoroughly and intelligently exerted, will be greater than it would be in any other walk of life.

Mrs. George H. Teed returned today from Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ryan returned today from their wedding trip.
