NOTHING IN IT.

Miss Mary Kelly Denies Report Published by a Local Paper.

Miss Mary Kelly, about whom a sensational item appeared in a local paper on Saturday, returned from St. John last evening, accompanied by her brother, Mr. Fred Kelly, clerk in the shipping room at Palmer's tannery. Miss Kelly went to St. John for a short visit, but on reading the sensational account of her sudden disappearance in a St. John paper yesterday morning, immediately returned home in order to show her friends that she was innocent.

When Miss Kelly left home she owed the lady with whom she boarded lately, a week's board, which she intended to pay on her return and has since done so. She also had a gold ring belonging to a girl which she had borrowed some days before she left home. She obtained the ring as many girls who are in the habit of innocently borrowing each other's rings.

The young lady, who is of a bright disposition and has many friends here, naturally feels very badly that she should be accused of stealing and made the victim of so much unnecessary newspaper notoriety.

SUCCESSFUL SPORTSMEN.

Mr. James S. Neill, the well known hardware merchant, and Mr. Robert Flemming, returned yesterday from a ten days' trip to Mr. Neill's sporting camp, Carleton Lodge, bringing with them thirty-five ducks, partridges, snipe and Woodcock. Mr. Neill, although one of the busiest men in Fredericton, always manages to find a few days each fall to commune with nature. He is a very enthusiastic sportsman, as well as a crack wing shot, and in the matter of getting game generally holds his end up with the best of them, although he has never qualified for the game hog class. Mr. Hugh Calder was Mr. Neill's guest for a day at Carleton Lodge last week, and was most hospitality entertained.

Mr. G. E. Fairweather, of St. John, is among the guests at the Queen today.

Mr. Harvey Mitchell dairy superintendent of Sussex, is among the guests at the Queen today.

QUEEN HOTEL FIRE.

The Damage Will Not Be Very Serious—Landlord McCaffrey's Thanks.

The damage caused by the fire at the Queen Hotel yesterday, was not so serious as at first supposed, although at one time things looked rather alarming. The fire was confined to the basement, and the worst damage was to the timbers that support the kitchen floor. A number of them were partially burned away, and are being replaced by new ones. The damage to the building, which will have to be made good, by the owner, Ald. Edwards, will not likely exceed six or eight hundred dollars. It is fully covered by insurance in companies represented by Mr. F. I. Morrison and Mr. A. J. Gregory, K. C.

The water pipes in the basement were considerably broken up by the fire, and Mr. P. J. Sheld had a force of plumbers at work all night making repairs. They expect to have things in order by tomorrow morning.

The dining hall, which had been considerably upset by the fire, was set to rights in less than two hours, by headwaiter Colwell, and his efficient staff. The guests were to the Barker House last evening for supper, but this morning they breakfasted at the Queen. Temporary repairs have been made to the kitchen pending the adjustment of the insurance losses, and everything is once more in working order.

Mr. McCaffrey does not think that his loss will amount to very much, although the fire has inconvenienced him not a little. He has the furniture and fixtures well insured in the Union, Caledonia, Queen, Home and Connecticut Companies. Some of which are represented by Mr. J. A. Winslow.

Mr. McCaffrey is very grateful to the firemen for saving his property and wishes to thank them through the columns of the Herald. He says that Chief Rutter and his men worked like beavers, and exercised splendid judgment in handling the fire. He thinks they were very considerate in not disturbing the furniture any more than was absolutely necessary. He says the firemen could not have worked harder had it been their own property in danger. Mr. McCaffrey is also very grateful to the numerous citizens who called on him during the fire and offered assistance. Their kindness will not be forgotten by him.

The fire will not be allowed to interfere in the slightest degree with Mr. McCaffrey's arrangements for entertaining the Royal visitors on Friday.
