SUGGESTION FOR EXHIBITION MANAGERS.

It is not likely that Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be able to accept the Fredericton Exhibition Association's invitation to open the provincial exhibition here on Sept. 21, and the managers will have to look elsewhere for an attraction for that important occasion.

Why not invite His Serene Highness, Prince Louis of Battenberg, to press the button. The prince is announced to arrive in St. John, Sept. 20, the day before the exhibition opens, and might be induced to come to Fredericton the following day to discharge the duty which all hoped the premier would have been able to undertake.

The Herald would suggest to the exhibition managers the propriety of immediately putting themselves into communication with the prince, who might not only come himself, but bring a few squads of his gallant sailors to assist at the opening.

Prince Louis is to be at St. John three days and if he hears of the attractiveness of the St. John river, the beauty of Fredericton and of its big show, he can scarcely be dissuaded from making a trip this way, and at the same time, conceding us the honor of his presence and service at the exhibition opening.

Let us try to get him anyway.

THE OTHER PRINCE.

There are two princes with the second British cruiser squadron now at Quebec, and while one is being feted and flattered by an enthusiastic populace, the other receives little notice, keeping in the back ground because he is a mere boy and occupying a subordinate position in the naval service.

Prince Louis of Battenberg the admiral of the squadron who is receiving such marked attention, is married to a daughter of the King's sister, the late Princess Alice, and is therefore no blood relation to the royal family, but the other scion of royalty with him, Prince Alexander of Battenberg is a direct descendant of Queen Victoria, being a son of her youngest daughter, Princess Beatrice, and a nephew of the King. Prince Alexander is only seventeen years old, and is serving as midshipman on one of his uncle's ships, but he seems to be of the right sort—material from which British admirals are made. Of his heroic and likable qualities let a burly sailor of the squadron tell.

This is published by a paper in Montreal:

He was a massive Hercules, with face large and red and shiny and a chest of such proportions as to explain why his nether limbs had circumferential tendencies. He was of the H. M. S. Berwick, on which vessel the young Prince Alexander, nephew to Prince Louis of Battenberg, and nephew to King Edward of England, is a midshipman.

We were discussing princes, and the great man took up the parable.

"Now the young Prince—that's 'im as is on our ship, you know—'s nearer royalty than Prince Louis you know. 'Is mother was sister to the King, and 'is father was brother to the Admiral, Prince Henry as died on the gold coast, you know. But on the Berwick 'es a midshipman, just one of the boys, you know."

"Well, when the little Prince first came aboard, 'es only seventeen—the other boys wouldn't associate, you know, with the Prince. 'Ee was always bein' invited somewhere, and goin' out places with 'is uncle, and the other middies didn't care much 'bout bein' with 'im. Thought 'e was uppish, you know."

"'E 'ad to knock one or two of 'em down jolly well, first 'an 'now 'es one of the boys, same as the rest. 'E's a good sort."

Which evidently proves that Prince Alexander, nephew to a King and midshipman on a man-o-war, is quite as good sailor as Prince.

DON'T WANT TO SOLDIER.

It is stated that the military authorities are finding difficulty in recruiting the Halifax and Esquimaux garrisons up to the desired strength, and no wonder. The young men of Canada are too busy in the peaceful arts of life to put on a uniform and accept 50 cents a day for soldiering. The less militarism we have in this country the better, and the time may come when we shall have to engage foreigners for our garrisons as we do for railroad building, so inviting are the business, industrial and agricultural fields for young Canadians, who while perfectly willing to join the military instruction camps for a few days each year, object to becoming professional soldiers.

The Halifax Chronicle authoritatively denies the report that Mr. E. M. Macdonald, Liberal M. P. for Pictou, is to be appointed legal adviser to the Transcontinental Railway Commission. The Herald did not believe the rumour when it was published in the Tory newspapers, and is glad to learn that it is baseless. Mr. Macdonald, who is an exceptionally clever and popular politician, has a wider field of usefulness before him than he could attain in a subordinate public position. He is one of the Liberal leaders in Nova Scotia, and his friends anticipate that in a very few years he will be holding a cabinet position at Ottawa.

The Moncton board of trade with the energetic Mr. John T. Hawke at its head, has induced the city council to purchase a tract of land near the Petitcodiac river, and commanding a view of the famous tidal bore, for the purposes of a public park, but it is to be hoped that the name "Bore Park" will not be applied to it as is done now. "Bore Park" or "Boer Park" alike would give an unpleasant impression, and the name should be dropped for one more pretentious and pleasing, before the objectionable term gets too strong a hold to be shaken off.

It is a case of bluffing with the peace envoys at Portsmouth, and will an agreement finally be reached, or is the conference to adjourn without practical result and the war continue? These are the questions being asked by everybody following the progress of the conference, and no definite or satisfactory answer is possible. The envoys are apparently playing the game of diplomacy to the full limit, but neither Japanese nor Russian delegates dare make any concession to the other without orders from Tokio and Petrohof.

Sakhalin, which the Japs captured from the Russians a few weeks ago must be a valuable little island, as the conquerors want $60,000,000 for half it. The Americans allowed Spain only $26,000,000 for all the Philippines, and by this time they must have concluded that they were very dear at that price.

BITS OF NEWS.

Items of Interest Culled from Our Exchanges and Other Sources.

Governor Douglas of Massachusetts absolutely declines to seek re-election.

Prince Louis of Battenberg, and part of his cruiser squadron are expected in St. John, Sept. 20, to remain three days.

The engagement is announced of Miss Gertrude Spinney of Calais and Mr. John D. Clarke, editor of the Calais Journal. The wedding takes place towards the last of September.

Lambton village, Quebec, was visited by a serious fire Tuesday when the Roman Catholic church presbytery convent and twenty-eight other houses were destroyed. The fire originated from a blaze in the adjoining forest.

A despatch from Nagasaki, Japan, says: The British steamer Harp long and the Japanese transport Kingio collided at 10 o'clock last Tuesday in the inland sea. The transport was sunk and 160 men were drowned.

The United States cruiser Rainbows the flagship of the Philippine squadron, with Rear Admiral Ritter on board, went ashore Thursday at the mouth of the Agusan river, Butuan Bay, in Northern Mindanao. A report to Rear Admiral Train says the Rainbows is not damaged and is resting easily.

While playing "keeping shop" in her home at St. John about five o'clock Thursday afternoon, little Jennie Watson, of Sheriff street, was very severely burnt, and was at once removed to the general public hospital. She is about four years of age, the daughter of Frederick Watson. At the time of the accident both parents were absent from the house.

The death occurred at Gays River, Thursday morning of James McQuinn of Halifax, aged 54. He had been in failing health for nearly two years and went to Gays river, his native place, about a month ago, where it was thought he might improve. Deceased was for many years on the Chronicle staff, and when overtaken by illness was in the Nova Scotia board of agriculture office in Halifax.

The governor general, Lady Grey and their daughters and suite will leave Ottawa for the Northwest Sunday. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and one or two members of the government will go at the same time. Sir Frederick Porden will soon start on a trip of inspection, which will extend to the coast. He will be accompanied by the Misses Borden.

C. W. Spencer, superintendent of transportation on the Canadian Pacific lines east of Fort William, has resigned for the purpose of accepting the position of general manager of the Canadian Northern Railway's lines east of Fort William, with headquarters in Montreal.

Rev. Father O'Leary, who was one of the chaplains of the Royal Canadian Regiment in South Africa and who retired from active work of the priesthood a few months ago, has been appointed to a position in the archives branch of the department of agriculture at Ottawa. It will be Father O'Leary's special duty to collect historical documents and data relating to the Province of Quebec.

A sneak thief obtained access to the room of Mrs. Robert MacKay, wife of Senator MacKay at Montreal, one afternoon two weeks ago and succeeded in getting away with five diamond rings, a gold watch and $30 in money. The value of the stolen jewellery is placed at about two thousand dollars. Word has been received from Toronto that a portion of it had been recovered in that city.

Attorney General Pugsley has received from C. Duff Miller, agent general for New Brunswick in England, information relating to Mrs. Close's scheme for the emigration to New Brunswick of poor law children. Mrs. Close has been interested in this scheme for the past few years, and has made an arrangement whereby she will receive the aid of the New Brunswick government. Mrs. Close has just received from a London banker a generous donation, which she will devote to the purchase of a farm of about two hundred acres in New Brunswick. The site of this farm has not been selected, but it is expected that Mrs. Close will come here shortly.

THE TONIC OF HEALTH.

Must be more than a stimulant—must be a food as well. There is one medicine that is both a food and a tonic,—it aids digestion, promotes assimilation, converts food into nutriment that builds up nerves, blood, brain and bone. That tonic is Ferrozone, which contains exactly what a run-down system needs. Ferrozone supplies oxygen to purify the blood, phosphorus to develop the brain, iron to harden the muscles. No wonder it makes such vigorous men and women. You'll eat, sleep, think and feel better by using Ferrozone; try it—now. Fifty cents buys a box tablets, at all dealers.
