

HOSPITALS CROWDED

MAJORITY OF PATIENTS WOMEN

Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saves Many From this Sad and Costly Experience.

It is a sad but true fact that every year brings an increase in the number of operations performed upon women in our hospitals. More than three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow white beds are women and girls who are awaiting or recovering from operations made necessary by neglect. Every one of these patients had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, leucorrhoea, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the womb or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb, and if not heeded the trouble will make headway until the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation, and a lifetime of impaired usefulness at best, while in many cases the results are fatal.

The following letter should bring hope to suffering women. Mrs. Robert Glenn, of 434 Marie St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well and widely known that it does not need my recommendation, but I am pleased to add it to the many which you have in its favor. I suffered untold agonies from ovarian troubles for nearly three years, and the doctors told me that I must undergo an operation, but as I was unwilling to do this, I tried your Vegetable Compound and I am only too pleased that I did so, for it restored me to perfect health, saving me the pain of an operation and the immense bills attending the same. Pray accept my hearty thanks and best wishes."

Just as surely as Mrs. Glenn was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so surely will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all young women who are ill to write her for free advice. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Many women suffer untold torture from nervous debility caused by disorders of the feminine organs. Day by day they grow worse, but from a false sense of modesty they shrink from using a good remedy like Ferrozone. And it would cure them.

Nothing renews weak women like Ferrozone. It brings back lost nerve force, supplies new vital energy, increases the blood supply.

No restorative so potent and prompt as Ferrozone has ever been discovered. You feel its uplifting effect at once. Your spirits rise, you gain in power and cheerfulness, feelings of weakness and despondency disappear.

No woman can remain sick or miserable if she uses Ferrozone. It goes direct to the seat of the trouble, puts a stop to functional irregularities, and so establishes buoyant, robust health. Being free from alcohol and dangerous drugs, Ferrozone can be used by young and old with absolute safety. Prepared in tablet form, fifty to the box; price 50c., or six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ontario.

CORK.

(Special Correspondence to Herald.)

Feb. 2.—The roads in this settlement have been in a very poor condition for most of the winter owing to the great abundance of snow. Rev. Father LeBlanc has not been able to reach the church to celebrate mass for two months, owing to the roads being blocked with snow.

Miss Mary Donohoe is very slowly recovering from a very serious illness caused by an abscess on her arm. She is under the treatment of Dr. Keith of Harvey.

NO TERRORS FOR JOE.

Mr. Chamberlain Quite Ready to Face Dissolution of Parliament.

Quoted Laurier in His Speech on the Address.

London, Feb. 17.—In the debate on the address Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said a dissolution of Parliament had no terrors for him. He was quite content to trust his political fortunes to the workingmen, who for thirty years had placed their confidence in him so generously. In his opinion the sooner a dissolution came the better. He hoped, however, that the government would not abandon its trust simply because the Opposition wanted office.

He declared the Opposition's contentions in regard to a dissolution were a "fantastic pretence." The real object of the "foolish and ill-judged amendment" was to create a dissension on the ministerial side. He had never said free trade ought to be abandoned, but that the policy of free imports ought to be reformed as it stood in the way of freer trade.

There was no difference between the premier and himself regarding the need of reform of the present policy, and their only differences were in regard to holding a colonial conference—differences of method, not of principle.

A vote of the House, or even of the country against his (Mr. Chamberlain's) fiscal policy would not settle the question. He had never supposed it would secure immediate acceptance, but defeat would not prevent him from continuing to advocate what he believed to be right. He had already on his side the great majority of the great party and the necessary recruits would be obtained from the present reactionaries.

He said he wished to draw the empire closer together. There was an almost universal appreciation of what the colonies are doing for them. He referred to Laurier's words: "To make a treaty with you on the basis of increase of trade between different parts of the empire on a preferential basis against the rest of the world." Referring to the Opposition's statement that delegates to the colonial conference should be instructed, Mr. Chamberlain asked whether they thought the men in the colonies would come to talk until black in the face, knowing all the time that Great Britain's representatives had a mandate in their pocket not to give anything they asked. His belief was that when the conference was held the colonies would have a good deal to offer.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded by saying he did not pretend that Great Britain should make concessions without reciprocal treatment, and he did not believe that the British would reject the offers of their own kinsmen, nor lose a great majority, which, if not seized, might never recur.

MAN'S MOST CRITICAL AGE.

Very often the vital resources are small at forty-two, but if not then, between fifty-seven and sixty-two years of age there is a strange slow-down and loss of vitality. It is important that this transient period of decay should be checked, strength must be imparted to the tired brain, the weakened nerves must be fortified. The wise man will use Ferrozone whose potency is particularly applicable to these critical periods. Ferrozone quickens the whole being, imparts vigor and power, pushes back the onset of senility in a very manifest way. It's because Ferrozone gives strength, vitality and vigor that it is useful to old men. Try it. Price 50c.

The man who thinks he always fools his wife, is always a fool.
