QUEBEC DISSATISFACTION.

There seems to have been considerable friction and serious difference of opinion at the Tory gathering at Cartierville, Quebec, Saturday night, when Mr. Monk made his declaration that the Tory party needed a policy, and some kind of organization if it ever expected to obtain the confidence of the people of Canada.

Dissatisfaction seems to have arisen among the members of the party in that province because there is no recognized leader for Quebec, as was formerly the case. Mr. Borden and his advisers apparently think that he is able to get along without a recognized Quebec lieutenant and Mr. Monk's friends are sore over it.

At the Cartierville gathering the younger members of the party emphasized their dissatisfaction and insisted on the necessity for a separate organization for Quebec, under a recognized leader in that province, who, working in harmony with the Conservatives of the other provinces, could insist on the prestige of French Canadians being respected.

Evidently the reports that the Quebec wing of the Tory party is badly disgruntled are based on fact. Indeed, there is practically no organized Tory party in that province, and these in the ranks must sigh for the days of Chapleau and Langevin, and others who were able to cement them and lead them to victory.

SUGGESTIONS COMMENDED.

A gentleman who takes a deep interest in improving the appearance of the city writes to the Herald as follows:

"Your suggestion, that in view of the coming exhibition, the citizens of the city should each put his premises in shape, so that the city generally would present as good an appearance as possible during exhibition week, is a good one, and it is to be hoped it will be put in practice.

While the citizens should clean up a little it would be well for the city council to pay some attention to the public buildings, the walks thereto, and the grounds around them. The grounds around the county court house are especially in a disgraceful condition. The bank of the river in the rear of the court house is a general dump ground for all sorts of rubbish, which together with burdock and other weeds which grow there make the place an eyesore to every passerby. The square in front of the court house ought also to be graded and some asphalt walks made from Queen street to the building, which would show that the municipal authorities have some little pride in keeping the grounds around the court house in at least a respectable appearance.

It is to be hoped that the public building committee of the county council will join with the other authorities in the city to make out city one to be remembered for neatness and beauty to those who come to attend the exhibition.

A little money spent in this direction, will bear good fruit."

HEBREWS PREDOMINANT.

According to estimates of The New York Sun, the Jews in New York now constitute nearly, if not quite, a quarter of the whole population of the city, and make up by far for the most numerous single community of their race gathered together in the history of mankind. The Sun finds them pushing forward in trade and in the professions more than any other race. Their children are crowding the schools, and a majority of the pupils attaining the highest rank scholarships are of their race; and in the colleges and universities of the city, more numerous proportionately than in the population as a whole. At present they are divided politically, and no attempt has been made to concentrate their political strength, but should this be done, and asserted simply as a race, their power, as The Sun says truly, might be dangerously provocative.

They seem to like Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the west. At Edmonton, Regina and Winnipeg he had very enthusiastic receptions, and of his visit and speech at Fort William a despatch says:

"Every appearance of Sir Wilfrid has been the signal for great cheering, but when he stepped to the front of the open air platform this afternoon, the crowd sent up cheer after cheer. He thanked his star that he had been permitted to take part in the ceremony. He remembered the words of fifty years ago, "All aboard for the west," to which he added, for the vaster west. "All aboard for the prairie land and its vast acres of wheat." "All aboard for the Rocky Mountains and its untold minerals."

Mr. B. E. Walker, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, Toronto, who has returned from a trip through the Northwest, says that the outlook is of the most encouraging nature, the splendid harvest being the means of cheering everyone, and filling the people with hope and enthusiasm. He was particularly attracted by the fine class of immigrants pouring into the provinces. Those coming from the United States in such large numbers were especially of the best class.

The narrowness and bigotry of Toryism is evidenced by the attack of a Quebec Tory organ on Hon. A. Turgeon, of the government of that province, because he attended the opening session of the Anglican Synod and extended on behalf of the province a welcome to the visiting clergymen and lay delegates. Mr. Turgeon is a Roman Catholic.

There will be several federal bye-elections before the next session of parliament. The vacant seats are West Lambton, Ont., Antigonish, N. S., and two in Saskatchewan.

A dispatch says that a three-masted schooner has been discovered ashore bottom up, three miles from Kakatag beach, Alaska. Her name was not visible, but a bill for goods was found, made out to the schooner Prosper. The wrecked vessel answers the description of the San Francisco vessel of that name. Four bodies have been washed ashore.

Elmer E. Young, a private detective who figured prominently as a witness at the trial at Digby, N. S., of Hope Young for the murder of six-year-old May Young, the ward of Elmer E. Young, was arrested at Boston Wednesday on the charge of larceny. It is claimed that he secured, by false pretences, $45 in cash belonging to Ellen W. Rogers, a resident of the south end district.

The condition of the veteran Dr. Bayard of St. John, remains about the same. On Tuesday he was up for a while, but yesterday he remained in bed all day. The paralysis has partially left his wrist and forearm, so that now it is confined mainly to his hand and fingers. His condition and the gloomy weather kept him in a somewhat dejected state of mind yesterday, but a change for the better is expected.

At Clarksburg, West Virginia Wednesday, David M. McKay and his wife were instantly killed and a team of horses and a wagon blown to atoms by the explosion of forty quarts of nitro glycerine. McKay, accompanied by his wife, was driving to the Salem oil fields with the explosive to shoot a well. The cause of the accident will never be known. Only an axle of the wagon was found.

MAN AND WOMAN BURN TO DEATH.

Bodies Found in Ruins of Burned Home.

Wolfboro, N. H., Sept. 14.—In a fire which destroyed a small cottage in Harmony Grove, about three-fourths of a mile from this village, on the shore of Lake Winnepesaukee, about eleven o'clock last night, William Thompson, a laborer, sixty years old, unmarried, and Lillian Perkins, forty-five years old, a widow, who acted as housekeeper for him, were burned to death. As soon as the bodies could be taken from the ruins they were brought to Wolfboro, where they were examined by Medical Referee Hodgdon of Ossipee. The fact that Thompson and Mrs. Perkins met their death in the fire did not become known until daylight. Cottagers living near by saw the ruins of the Thompson home and immediately instituted a search which resulted in the finding of the two bodies, both of which were burned almost beyond recognition. The fire is believed to have been caused by the overturning of a lamp, and the victims apparently had no opportunity of escape, and judging from the appearance of the bodies met their death while sleeping.

For several years Mr. Thompson occupied the cottage as summer home, but recently he decided to make it his permanent residence. He lived alone, but Mrs. Perkins, whose home was in Wolfboro, made occasional visits to the cottage to do work which Mr. Thompson, because of his advanced age, was unable to do.

She was engaged yesterday in cleaning the house and did not conclude her labors until such a late hour that she decided not to return to her home in Wolfboro until morning.
