ANGERED BY PEACE TERMS.

Japanese Mobs Continue to Commit Outrages at Tokio.

HOME MINISTERS RESIDENCE BURNED AND KOMURA'S THREATENED, FEARS FOR TONIGHT'S DEMONSTRATION.

Tokio, Sept. 7.—(Special.)—Serious riots followed attacks today on the office of Kōhūmin Shimbun, the government organ.

The mob attacked and burned the official residence of the Minister of Home Affairs, which stood between the Nobles' Club and the Imperial Hotel, and fired Hibaya park, which was the storm centre throughout the day.

Threatening demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the official home of Premier Katsura and Baron Komura (Foreign Minister), now in the United States, but the police were successful in preventing injury to the occupants or damage to the houses.

The situation tonight is threatening. Turbulent crowds fill the streets and it is feared that there will be damage to property, possible under cover of darkness.

The police force resisted strong-urgent duty and heavily guarding dangerous points.

The destruction of the Home minister's residence was intensely dramatic.

Throughout the day cries and demonstrations, occurred in the neighborhood of the building, and late in the afternoon the mob attacked the house, swept the police away and battered down the gates.

The police servants resisted strongly, but the mob surged forward and entered the house.

E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has been threatened, and Marquis Ito, president of the privy council, has been stoned by the mobs. Neither of them was injured.

SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS.

Young People More or Less Known in Fredericton.

MILLS-TODD.

St. Stephen, Sept. 7.—Trinity church was the scene yesterday afternoon of a happy event, in which the principals were N. Marks Mills, L.L.B., barrister, and Miss C. Winifred Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Todd. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Winfield, rector, assisted by Rev. R. L. Stoggett, of Saco, Me., uncle of the bride.

Miss Addie Boardman Todd was maid of honor, Misses Vera Young Belle Woodcock and Mildred Todd the bridesmaids.

Lewis F. Mills supported the bride. On account of the groom's recent illness no reception was held, the bridal couple proceeding at once to Oak Haven, a pleasant cottage on the shores of Oak Bay.

The esteem in which the young couple are so deservedly held has been manifested in many beautiful gifts, among them, being a chafing dish from the Milltown town council, Mr. Mills being solicitor for the town; a marble clock from the Thistle Athletic Association and a Morris chair from the Local Liberal Club, in both of which he takes an active interest.

MALCOLM-BREMNER.

The wedding took place Wednesday afternoon at St. John's best known and popular young men when John S. Malcolm, famous in baseball and curling circles, was united in marriage to Miss Jean Bremner, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Adam, of Muniac, Victoria Co.

The ceremony, which was a very quiet one, took place at Muniac at the home of the bride's step-father, J. B. Adam, the well known lumber merchant of that place. Only the immediate relatives of the happy couple were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm left for St. John at 4 o'clock and will immediately take up their residence at 35 Broad street. The popularity of the young couple was shown by the unusually large number of wedding gifts.

BRUCE McLEOD.

Sydney, N. S., Sept. 7.—At the home of the bride's parents yesterday morning Dr. James R. Bruce of this city was united in marriage to Miss Adeline Frances McLeod, fourth daughter of Angus McLeod, hardware merchant. The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Dr. W. H. Smith, while the young couple stood under a floral bell suspended from a beautifully decorated arch. After the ceremony a dainty wedding luncheon was served and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce left on the one o'clock train for a wedding trip to Montreal and other upper Canadian points. Among those present at the wedding was J. R. Bruce of the I. C. R., Moncton, father of Dr. Bruce.

BAILEY-CARLTON.

Sussex, N. B., Sept. 7.—A very quiet but pretty and interesting wedding took place yesterday afternoon at two thirty o'clock at the home of George W. Carlton, Church Avenue, when his sister, Miss Lena, was united in marriage to E. DeBois Bailey, formerly of Fredericton, but now of the Sussex Mercantile Company.

The bride was beautifully attired in white voile and her traveling suit was of grey cloth with hat to match. Rev. J. B. Gough performed the ceremony. The happy couple left by the C. P. R. for Fredericton, Woodstock and Houlton, Me., on their honeymoon trip. At the train the popular couple were given a grand send off by their host of friends.

Mr. W. A. B. McLellan, teller of the Bank of British North America in this city, closes his service with that institution tomorrow evening, resigning his position to accept the secretary-treasurership of the John Palmer Manufacturing Company, and he will at once enter upon his new duties.

Mr. McLellan has been in the Bank's service nearly seven years, entering the agency here as junior clerk, and by close attention to his duties, and intelligence and courtesy, in the discharge of them, was rapidly promoted, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of his employers. With the Bank's customers he has been very popular and their regret at his voluntary disappearance from the teller's box will be coupled with congratulations on his promotion to a more lucrative and less confining position.

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD.

Business of the Opening Session at Quebec—Bishop Kingdom Indisposed and Unable to Take Part.

Quebec, Sept. 7.—Judging from the opening proceedings this session of the Anglican synod promises to be the most successful in its history. There is a large attendance of bishops and lay and clerical delegates. The Anglican parson is also as much in evidence on the streets as the French cure.

The opening session at the cathedral yesterday morning was very impressive and most dignified and orderly. The delegates walked down from the church hall to the cathedral. The litany was intoned by Rev. Mr. Dick, and at the celebration of holy communion Archbishop Bond, though in his 90th year, was celebrant with Bishop Doane of Albany, N. Y., as epistoller and Archbishop Matheson as gospeller. The service was choral. About eighteen bishops were in the sanctuary, Dr. Tuttle, presiding bishop of the American church, preached the sermon, a very able, clearly reasoned and thorough discourse, with occasional bursts of eloquence and full of facts for thought and action. His text was Ps. 121, 4: "Behold He that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep."

The practical business of the synod began at three-thirty o'clock in the court house, which was most kindly placed at the disposal of the members. The bishops came to the court house, whereupon the deputy mayor, in the absence of the mayor, briefly addressed the bishops and the members, saying that the city was proud to welcome them.

The sheriff of the county and Hon. Mr. Turgeon of the provincial government also extended a very hearty welcome to the synod, to which Archbishop Bond felicitously responded.

His Grace proceeded to give his opening address, which dealt with the practical questions to come before the Synod during its deliberations. He spoke of the great questions of missions, contending that the Anglican church was equipped with a capital organization and with a self-sacrificing clergy, and nothing should be allowed to stand in the way of her carrying on the work most effectively. He spoke of the question of a change in the Prayer Book, and seemed to think it was not wise to put off this question any longer. The whole world appreciated the sense of our responsibility to posterity. Other matters of practical importance were also dealt with.

The Bishops then retired to their own room, and on motion L. P. Davidson was elected temporary chairman.

Nominations were in order for the office of prolocutor, the presiding officer of the court. At first there were a great number of nominations, but several of those so nominated withdrew their names, among those remaining to be voted upon being Rev. Mr. Farthing, rector of Woodstock, Ont.; Archdeacon Kerr and Penhart, Deans Williams and Purridge, and Canon Crawford. After two ballots were taken it was found that Canon Farthing had a large majority of the votes, and it was decided to make his election unanimous.

Bishop Kingdom, who was busily engaged on the work of the committee on the Prayer Book appendix, of which he is chairman, was somewhat indisposed yesterday and took no part in the proceedings. The Diocese of Fredericton is as well, if not better, represented in numbers than any other diocese, the whole clerical quota being present and only one lay delegate being absent.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS.

Addressed the Labor Men in Felicitious Terms at Moncton.

Speaking at the Labor Day parade at Moncton, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways, and canals said:—"There is one principle that I would like to see applied to the I. C. R. and that principle is the principle involved, in sharing the profits between the railway and its employees. I am not saying that until the I. C. R. pays dividends you are to stand stationary and not receive increases, but so far as the I. C. R. can be made a success and lifted out of the slough in which it has and is today, that success, men of Moncton and of the I. C. R. and its employees will result in a division of profits between the I. C. R. and its employees. In my efforts to reform the I. C. R. conditions and for these conditions I lay no blame on anyone; you as employees of the I. C. R. must realize that if you are to continue the I. C. R. as a government operated railway you must be able to work together with me in harmony, in order to make this railway a success. I know that I cannot do such myself and realize my own feebleness and shortcomings, but I know that I have with me the loyalty of the men of the I. C. R. and with their help there will be a success that will compel the admiration of all Canada. (Cheers.) I am proud of the railway and I am proud of the men, and I have not hesitated to say in Parliament, that there is a class of men on the I. C. R. who cannot be equalled in America and I feel today that they are on their mettle today and for the coming years, and upon their efforts will depend what may be accomplished. (Cheers.) I have tried to deal fairly and squarely with all the labor organizations, and so long as I am entrusted with the responsibility of the department, I shall endeavor to pursue that course. There is not a man in the ranks of the I. C. R. but can obtain access to the Minister of Railways at any time to state his grievance."

In conclusion, Hon. Mr. Emmerson said if we all strive to do our part, then failure can scarcely attend us, but even if failure be the result, I will have the gratification of knowing that I have done my little best, and will realize that I have had your support, help and assistance."

At the conclusion of the Hon. Minister's address, three hearty cheers and a tiger were given for him.

CROOKED WORK.

British Columbian Politician, Formerly of N. B., Highly Favored by Tory Government.

Vancouver World.—It is being remarked as a very curious thing among the loggers and millmen of this city that Mr. Andrew Haslam's liabilities should include somewhere in the neighborhood of $11,000 in stampage and other dues owing to the government.

Mr. Haslam owner of the sawmill at Nanaimo, and of timber limits on Jarvis inlet, failed heavily on Saturday last, assigning his mill and limits over to three trustees for the benefit of his creditors. Not until after he assigned did his creditors learn that he owed the government this large sum, which constitutes a preferential claim. It is credibly reported that the news came as a unpleasant surprise to even the Vancouver bank, with which Mr. Haslam has been doing business and to which he was considerably indebted at the time he assigned. Now the government officers have seized the Nanaimo mill and the logging plant at Vancouver Bay, Jarvis Inlet, and the unsecured creditors are feeling badly used.

"Why should the government let Mr. Haslam go for several years, without even sending in any returns, until his indebtedness reaches such a figure, when it is so strict with the rest of us?" asked a local millman this morning. "The rest of us are pulled up very short," he went on, "in fact the government will jump on a small man and break his back."

Several circumstances are noted in connection with the extreme, harmful and unfair lenience shown Mr. Haslam by the government. Mr. Haslam is a strong Conservative and has worked hard for the government. Furthermore, Mr. Haslam's bookkeeper, Mr. William Manson, of Nanaimo, accepted the Conservative nomination for Alberni in the recent bye-election and the whole government forces went into the constituency and worked for him and elected him. Now Mr. Manson is one of the assessors of the Haslam estate.

Not only is Mr. Haslam away behind in his stampage dues, but it is reported that his lease dues are also behind. How long would Mr. Haslam have been allowed to go on running into the public debt had he not been forced to assign by the pressure of some of his creditors? This is a question that the government only can answer.

(Haslam is a native of Albert county, and recently failed with liabilities of $150,000.)

There is another hitch in connection with Canada taking over the Halifax fortifications. Early this summer the Imperial authorities were informed that the Canadian militia department was unable to assume control on July 1 as agreed and it was suggested that it be postponed until Sept. 15. There was no reply received to this. It was evident that the war office considered a further postponement was necessary. The Ottawa government therefore proposed another postponement until October 15 and Sir Frederick Borden and General Lake left on a trip to the Pacific coast Wednesday when a reply was received to the first message agreeing to the transfer on Sept. 15. Officials at Ottawa are in a quandary what to do in the absence of the minister of militia.
