SHARP RISE IN JULY WHEAT.

Reached the High Figure of $1.38 on the Winnipeg Market.

Winnipeg, July 29.—(Special.)—On the local wheat market today the sole topic of conversation was the rise in wheat in July, which the day before had soared from $1.16 to $1.35, closing at $1.30 steady. In consequence of this rapid rise in the price the shorts in July claim that a corner had been made by brokers, acting. It is said, for the Ogilvie Milling Co., and an injunction was secured in the court of Kings bench prohibiting the Winnipeg clearing house from paying out any money or purchasing any wheat on account of Robert Muir & Co., and other shorts in wheat.

Yesterday morning July wheat opened at $1.30 and quickly bid up to $1.33. Vendors of July wheat asked $1.38 in the early morning but the prices asked gradually came down to $1.33, at which figure the manager of Tilton, Carruthers & Co., secured 5,000 bushels. The holders of July wheat then boosted the price up to $1.35. At this figure Broker Bingham and Bruce McLean, acting, it is said, for a milling company, offered respectively 25,000 and 30,000 bushels, which found no takers at that figure. Only one transaction in July was registered up to one p. m. $1.25 appears to be the figure that holders of contracts are willing to settle at. August wheat stands at $1. No business, however, is being registered on this option.

THE KINGARTH MYSTERY.

Inquest Over Body of Unknown Woman Going on Today.

The inquest over the body of the woman found in the river at Kingarth a few weeks ago, was resumed before Coroner McNally and a jury at the office of the clerk of the peace this afternoon. Deputy Sheriff Foster and two witnesses, Messrs. Henry Wells and Worth of Woodstock, were among those present.

Albion R. Foster, deputy sheriff of Carleton, was first sworn and stated that after an interview with Dr. Camber and Mr. Bailey, boot & shoe dealer at Woodstock, he identified the teeth and boots found on the deceased woman as those sold to Mrs. Phoebe Hussey. Mr. Foster also stated that he learned that Mr. Bailey was the only merchant in Woodstock who sold such rubbers as were found on the deceased. He further stated that on receiving word of the woman's body being found he went to Houlton where he ascertained the woman had not been seen since the fall of 1904. I know to my own knowledge that the woman has disappeared and that her property, valued at five hundred dollars, was decided to Mr. Wells.

Mr. Wells, on being sworn, said: I have lived at Woodstock six years and am a miller. I reside about half a mile from the river. I have lived there since last October. Mrs. Hussey lived with me. After telling about some property transfers of the deceased Mr. Wells stated that deceased was of sound mind, but worried a great deal. She was home on Saturday before Easter, and went to bed as usual. She slept upstairs. My wife and I were home at the time. We did not hear Mrs. Hussey getting up, but she disappeared. There had been no row before she left. She did not make any preparation the day before. She had been away to visit friends three or four times during the previous week. The missing woman had spent last summer at Houlton. I saw her on Saturday evening and she had a red wrapper with some white spots in it. Could not say what kind of coat she wore.

Mrs. Hussey was about sixty-five years of age, and wore dark grey woolen stockings; had dark hair partly grey. She was about five and a half feet high with prominent chin; and weighed about one hundred and twenty-five or one hundred and thirty pounds. My wife bought her a pair of new rubbers shortly before she left home; she had a pair of thin boots not much worn.

Wells brought a pair of shoes with him which were formerly worn by Mrs. Hussey. They corresponded in size with those found on the deceased. Witness also thought that the boots found on the woman drowned were Mrs. Hussey's. He also stated that the witness had a finger partly gone on left hand. He did not see any notices about the woman's body being found until about the thirteenth instant. Her daughter told us the woman was in Houlton. We thought the deceased left home because she expected strangers at our house on Sunday. She was peculiar and did not like to be around when strangers were there.

MISS ANGLIN HURT.

New Brunswick Actress Victim of a Runaway Accident.

New York, July 29.—(Special.)—Miss Margaret Anglin, actress, is lying at her summer home at Noroton, Conn., suffering from a broken collar bone and severe bruises as a result of being thrown from her carriage last night, when her horse ran away.

Miss Anglin came to New York on a shopping tour. On returning from Noroton station to the cottage her horse ran away, the carriage was overturned and Miss Anglin was thrown out. She lay insensible until picked up by a workman who had seen the accident.

TORONTO MAN SUICIDES.

Toronto, July 29.—(Special.)—John A. Ritchie, book keeper in the Menzie Wallpaper Company, King street, shot himself on a street corner in Rosedale early this morning, and later died at the general hospital. Mr. Ritchie is exceedingly well connected and is prominent in social circles. No reason is given for his act.

DISTINGUISHED JURIST.

Toronto, July 29.—(Special.)—Dr. Orr, of the Toronto exhibition, says that Lord Fitzgibbon, lord chief justice of Ireland, is coming to Canada, and will be one of the guests at the coming exhibition.

AMHERST RACES.

Ruth Wilkes an Easy Winner in 2.19 Class.

Amherst, N. S., July 28.—The races here today were only fairly well attended. There were two events—the 2.19 class, trot or pace, in which there were eleven entries—Branto, Ada Mack, Clayson, Jr., Petricodiac, Clayson, Moncton; Happy Girl and Estill Boy, being withdrawn. Cowan's Lady Bingen won with Reta second, Donella third, and Ruth Wilkes fourth.

Almond meal instead of soap used on the hands will stop perspiration.

Nervous children should never be scolded unless it is absolutely necessary.

Those who are troubled with weak eyes should get all the sleep that is possible.

The wearing of rings that are too small results in red, swollen hands and knuckles.

A half hour well spent upon the complexion at night is worth two in the morning.

Mr. Albion R. Foster, deputy sheriff of Carleton county, is in the city today.

An excellent cure for brittle nails is to soak them daily in sweet oil warmed to blood heat.

Nervous persons and those afflicted with weak hearts should abstain from the use of coffee.

Pinching the ends of the fingers once in a while does a great deal towards making the fingers taper.

The continual wearing of gloves at night causes the hands to assume a yellowish tinge. An occasional wearing is all right.

ONE OF THE BEST.

What promises to be one of the best picnics of the season is that of the Fredericton Baptist church, dated for Thursday, August third, on the beautiful grounds of Mr. Harry Harrison, Mauderville. Strong committees have been appointed to look after the details in connection with the picnic. Through the generosity of the members of the F. B. Band, who have kindly relinquished their claim on the steamer Aberdeen, for their Thursday half holiday excursions, the committee have been fortunate in their arrangements and feeling that it would be a disappointment to a large number of people who have patronized these popular excursions have arranged for an afternoon boat to leave here at two thirty, so that after all there will be no break in the Thursday half holiday excursion.

BLAKE IN CANADA.

Quebec, July 29.—(Special.)—Hon. Edward Blake, M. P., arrived here this morning on board the Dominion line steamer Canada from England. He looks in good health and is in excellent spirits and said that he intended leaving directly for Metis to spend a holiday before visiting Toronto.

TO THE TOBIQUE.

Members of Roberts Family Going for a Holiday.

(St. John Sun.)

Charles G. D. Roberts, poet and novelist, who reached his native province yesterday, does not appear a day older than at the time he gave up his professorship at Windsor, when the sons who are now going into the woods with him, were infants. Now Lloyd Roberts is assistant editor of Ouing, bearing his responsibilities with much seriousness for a youngster of twenty. The head of the family has for some six or eight years ceased to do editorial work. The magazines claim all the time he has and more, and the list of his published books is stretching out to great length. Someone recently prepared a record of his work as a writer of books, which contained nearly thirty titles. He has a good deal of work cut out for the next year or two. Twice a year he seeks refreshment of soul in New Brunswick, and in a day or two he will be in camp on the Tobique, renewing his acquaintance with his kindred of the wild.

Lloyd Roberts and a younger brother are also in pursuit of the simple life and with them Caspar Whitney, editor of Ouing. It will take some of them a few days and some a few weeks, perhaps, to finish the business they have with the residents of the forest and stream.

Theodore Roberts was in the city yesterday, with his older brother. A few years ago he was described as an invalid. Since then he has seen a good deal of rather strenuous life, in several countries, and he seems to have wholly regained his health. Last autumn Page & Co., of Boston published his second novel, a Newfoundland story which has attracted a good deal of attention in the world of letters. It is one of the fruits of the author's residence in Newfoundland and Labrador. There is perhaps more to follow. The acquaintance of Mr. Roberts with Newfoundland life history and manners is probably more varied than that of Norman Duncan. While the author of Dr. Luke is familiar with the life of the fishermen at work in their native calling he has not seen so much of the settlement life or made so close a study of local history and tradition as some others who have resided there. The last story of Mr. Roberts is concerned with the earliest exploration of the island and with the natives who have long since utterly disappeared from the face of the country. There is not today a single descendant in the colony of the races which dwelt there when the island was first visited by Europeans.

But Theodore Roberts is working out his Newfoundland books and magazine stories in a milder climate. His home is at Bridgetown, Barbados and there he works at his trade as a writer. In this visit he is accompanied by Mrs. Roberts, who is also a native New Brunswicker, and their child. Mr. Roberts is not going to the Tobique at present. He says that Fredericton is good enough for him.

A ROYAL VISITOR.

Quebec Will Give Prince of Battenburg Cordial Welcome.

Quebec, July 29.—(Special.)—Owing to the absence of Premier Gouin, the committee in charge of the reception to be given the officers and members of the British fleet, to arrive on August 1st in command of His Serene Highness the Prince of Battenberg, has taken no definite steps in the matter.

The committee desires to interview the Premier, as to the part the Provincial government will take. Premier Gouin will be communicated with in Montreal tomorrow.

In addition to a big military review, a ball will be given in the Parliament buildings on August 14; a civic ball will be held in the city at a date yet to be decided upon, the new soldiers' monument will be unveiled and a regatta and field sports will be pulled off.

The running of the King's Plate, under the auspices of the Quebec Turf Club, is under consideration, and if it is decided to have the event decided in Quebec this year, it will be run during the visit.

Earl and Countess Grey will be back to take part in the festivities. Arrangements are also under way for a smoking concert, and night of sports for the men of the fleet. Mayor Parent is chairman of the general committee, and Mr. W. Molson MacPherson and Alderman Duquette vice-chairmen; Messrs. D. Watson and V. Pelletier secretaries, and Messrs. W. G. Hinds and Charles Roy treasurers.

ONTARIO'S CROPS.

Toronto, July 29.—(Special.)—Hon. Nelson Monteith, provincial minister of agriculture, expects the Ontario wheat crop this season to equal the big harvests of 1900 and 1902, when the returns were 23,400,000 and 20,200,000 bushels respectively, also that the oat crop will equal the crop of 1903, when the yield was 100,900,000 bushels.
