

NORTH YORK CAMPAIGN.

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth, Postmaster General, Says for Billy McLean.

The Issues Involved Eloquently Discussed.

Newmarket, Ont., Nov. 15.—Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., Postmaster-General, and Mr. Archibald McCallum, a farmer, were duly nominated at the Town Hall this afternoon as the candidates in next Wednesday's bye-election for the constituency of North York, a contest made necessary by the retirement from the Cabinet of Sir William Mullock.

Following the formal procedure, the Liberals held a mass meeting in the hall, which commenced at 2 o'clock and lasted nearly three hours. An invitation was issued to Mr. McCallum, or anyone on his behalf, to attend and speak, but was not responded to.

The hall was crowded to the doors from beginning to end of the meeting, many people standing throughout and unbounded enthusiasm was displayed.

Mr. Aylesworth was applauded and cheered frequently, and the gathering may well be described as another of the many indications of victory for him which have been manifested during the campaign. The feature of his well-delivered address was a scathing reference to the tactics of Mr. W. F. Maclean, M. P., in which Mr. Aylesworth did not hesitate to use most forcible language.

Mr. W. C. Widdifield of Newmarket, who occupied the chair at the meeting, opened the proceedings with a brief appropriate address.

SOME TIMELY QUESTIONS.

Mr. Geo. D. Grant, M. P., for North Ontario, wanted to know if Mr. McCallum was the candidate of the Conservative party. If so, how did it happen that he was not running on the platform of that party, and up to date had received no support from its leader? Proceeding, Mr. Grant devoted some attention to Mr. Maclean's part in the campaign and his assertions relative to the attitude of the Government in regard to the question of nationalizing the telegraph and telephone systems. He had yet to learn that Mr. Maclean had ever taken any step or act as a legislator towards that end. It had been left to a Liberal Government and a Liberal Postmaster-General to take the first practical step, and, speaking for himself, he hoped the inquiry instituted last session would lead to something in the nature of public ownership of telegraphs and telephones.

Mr. Elias Rogers congratulated the riding on having so fine a candidate as Mr. Aylesworth, and he believed the electors would show their appreciation by giving that gentleman a handsome majority. The speaker was interested in the contest, which he regarded as one of the most important.

BAD KIDNEYS.

Can Only be Cured Through the Blood.

Bad backs—aching backs—come from bad kidneys. Bad kidneys come from bad blood. Bad blood clogs the kidneys with poisonous impurities that breed deadly diseases. And the first sign of that fatal trouble is a dull, dragging pain in the back. Neglect it, and you will soon have the coated tongue, the pasty skin, the peevish temper, the swollen ankles, the dark-rimmed eyes, and all the other signs of deadly kidney disease. Plasters and liniments can never cure you. Kidney pills and backache pills only touch the symptoms—they do not cure. You must get right down to the root and cause of the trouble in the blood—and no medicine in the world can do this so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because they actually make new blood. This strong, rich, new blood sweeps the kidneys clean, drives out the poisonous acids, and heals the deadly inflammation. That is the only way to rid yourself of your backache and have strong young kidneys. Mrs. Paul St. Onge, wife of a well-known contractor at St. Alexis des Monts, Que., says: "I suffered for upwards of six years from kidney trouble. I had dull, aching pains across the loins, and at times could hardly go about. I lost flesh, had dark rings below my eyes, and grew more wretched every day. I was treated by different doctors, but with no apparent result. I despaired of regaining my health, and was becoming a burden to my family. I was in a deplorable condition when one of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began taking them, and after using three or four boxes, I began to feel better. I continued the treatment for nearly three months, when every symptom of the trouble had vanished and I was again a well woman. I feel justified in saying I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

New blood—strong, pure, rich blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make, cures not only kidney trouble but a host of other ailments, such as anemia, indigestion, rheumatism, erysipelas, St. Vitus dance, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, and the secret ailments women do not like to talk about, even to their doctor. But only the genuine pills can bring health and strength, and these have the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" printed on the wrapper around each box. If your dealer does not keep the genuine pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Important: The riding has known, because North York was the home of his boyhood, and the home of his forefathers as far back as 1800. Mr. Aylesworth, he said, had the backbone to always stand for what was right. That had been fully shown in the Alaska Boundary Commission proceedings. Mr. Rogers made a reference to Mr. Aylesworth's attitude regarding pensions, pointing out that the candidate had been on record for a long time as an opponent of pension systems.

A CAMPAIGN OF SLANDER.

Mr. Aylesworth, who was greeted with hearty applause and cheers, declared that the campaign being carried on against him was, in many respects, one of slander and falsehood. Scandalous statements were being made against himself and his friends. That would no doubt continue to the end of the fight, and would probably conclude in an outburst in the nature of a roorback, too late to be met and contradicted. Notwithstanding this, his canvass, which had now covered almost every section of the riding, had been one of great encouragement; he had made many friends who, he believed, would be friends to the end of his life. This had so heartened him that he was confident he would, one week from today, be the duly elected representative of North York. (Applause.) Mr. Aylesworth proceeded to speak of the character of the campaign carried on against him by Mr. W. F. Maclean. Despite that gentleman's ambitions, it would be a long day before he would find himself in the position of commanding the confidence or support of a single member of Parliament. Mr. Maclean, who could not expect any one to be loyal to him when he himself had never been loyal to any chief, had made bitter attacks on him (the speaker). "Mr. Maclean's references to me as a corporation lawyer," said Mr. Aylesworth, "have forced me to remember that not many years ago I appeared in a piece of litigation against a corporation with which Mr. W. F. Maclean is closely identified. On that occasion an atrocious, vile, and disgusting libel was published in The World newspaper against a woman. An action was brought and argued before twelve good men from the county of York. I appeared for that woman against the corporation which is said to own The World newspaper. I called Mr. W. F. Maclean as the first witness and asked him questions as to the ownership of The World newspaper. He declined to answer on the ground that an answer might incriminate him. I then said what I thought of Mr. Maclean when I was addressing the jury. I was enjoying the privilege that every lawyer enjoys when addressing a jury, but I am not enjoying that privilege now, and on this platform I repeat the language I then used to the jury, that the man who could be guilty of such dastardly conduct as then he had been shown to be guilty of was nothing less than a blackguard." (Prolonged and loud applause.) So far as Mr. McCallum was concerned, Mr. Aylesworth was sure that when the election was over, whatever might be the result, they would remain friends. As such they had met during the campaign, as such he desired they should continue. (Applause.)

NO REASON FOR A CHANGE.

Proceeding, Mr. Aylesworth asked if anything had transpired since the last general election to make the people of North York change the approbation with which they had then greeted the acts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government. The only question of import that had arisen was that upon which the people of Alberta a week or so ago—following the example the voters of North Oxford and London in June last—had strikingly sustained the legislation of the Federal Government and put a quietus to the agitation engendered by the Opposition. (Renewed applause.) Mr. Aylesworth reiterated his previously-expressed views in regard to the pensions for ex-Ministers, saying that if elected he would willingly exert any influence he might possess to secure such amendments. In concluding he placed himself in the hands of the electors upon the record of the Government of which he is now a member. That Government had been led from its formation by a leader of whom the country had a right to be proud. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had demonstrated by his career as a public man, by every public utterance, by every step in his great political career, that he was a man actuated by patriotic sentiments, a true and loyal subject of the British Crown, a man who desired to knit more closely the bonds tying Canada to the mother land, a man whose measures all tended to the upbuilding growth and prosperity of our own country. (Applause.) Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Government deserved well of Canada, and Mr. Aylesworth asked the people of North York to show their appreciation of that fact by their verdict next week.

There was another warm demonstration as Mr. Aylesworth concluded.

"CANADIAN" RUBBERS

SMART AND SENSIBLE REEFER.

The reefer ever remains the style that the same miss of 6 to 10 prefers, for while wintry blasts demand the war and long ulster, the small miss quite naturally prefers the garment that less impedes her active movements. So for playtime wear the short coat is undoubtedly the best. Favor is divided this fall between the plain kerseys and coverts and the smart mixed weaves, such as are used in the over coats for grown-ups. The reefer cut this season is shaped with something of a flare arranged in the under-arm seams. The illustration shows this successfully. The material used in the garment illustrated is a dark green kersey, velvet buttons and stitchings of silk affording the finish. Worn with this coat is a smart beaver hat in dark green, a rolled sailor shape caught up on the right with a rosette of crimson velvet through which is run a crimson quill.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M. P., who delivered the closing address aroused great amusement by the manner in which he treated the Opposition campaign as carried out under the guidance of Mr. W. F. Maclean. The latter gentleman, he continued, talked a great deal about the power of corporations, but so far as Mr. Guthrie had been in a position to judge while in Parliament one of the greatest corporations in Canada, the C. P. R., seemed to have Mr. Maclean's untiring support. Mr. Guthrie believed, however, that the law would have to be invoked against some corporations to prevent their becoming as strong or stronger than the Government. The speaker eulogized Mr. Aylesworth's services to Canada on the Alaska Commission, his straightforward utterances on the questions of the day, his integrity and general ability, and urged that the Liberals use every legitimate effort to make his majority one worthy the Liberal traditions of the riding.
