TIRED AND DEPRESSED.

The Condition of Many Young Women in Shops and Offices.

Thousands of young women have to depend upon their own efforts to gain a livihood, and to these, whether behind the counter, in the office, the factory or the home, work means close confinment—often in badly ventilated rooms. There is a strain on the nerves; the blood becomes impovished; the cheeks pale; there are frequent headaches; palpitation of the heart and a constant tiredness. If the first symptoms are neglected it may lead to a complete breakdown — perhaps consumption. What is needed to restore vim and energy and vitality is a tonic, and absolutely the best tonic in the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They actually make new blood, and bring health and cheerful energy to tired and depressed girls and women. Miss Viola Millett, Robinson's Corners, N. S., says: "I was a great sufferer from headaches, heart palpitation and troubles that afflict my sex. My blood seemed almost to have turned to water, and the least exertion left me weak and depressed. I used seven boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they have made a remarkable change in my condition. I can truly say that I feel like a new person and I strongly recommend these pills to all weak, ailing girls.

These pills cure all forms of blood and nerve troubles, but you must get the genuine with the full name Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around each box. Ask your druggist for them or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Death of Mrs. Piercy Leaving a Large Family of Small Children.

Feb. 10.—Mrs. George T. Piercy of Little Settlement, died at her home there on Wednesday after a brief illness. She leaves eight small children. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Piercy in his sad bereavment. ...

Deceased was a daughter of the late John B. Nesbit of Frog Lake. She is survived by an aged mother, two brothers and four sisters. Her brothers are J. Harvey Nesbit and W. P. Nesbit of Frog Lake. Her sisters are Mrs. Margaret Coburn of Manners Sutton, Mrs. Chas. Gallup of Hanwell, Mrs. Giles of St. Stephen, and Miss Georgia Nesbit, professional nurse, who now resides with her mother at Frog Lake.

Squire John F. Petty of Acton, who has been very ill for a few weeks past, is reported to be very low, but still some hopes of his recovery are entertained.

Miss Maggie Kelley of Tweedside, is very seriously ill at her home there. Dr. Atherton was called on Monday evening for consultion with Dr. Keith, and returned home on Tuesday.

Frank Donohue had the forefinger of his left hand badly injured while assisting the section men with a rail on the railroad. Dr. Keith amputated a part of the finger.

The Agricultural Society received two cases of Ontario white oats last month, and expects another car this week. The oats are sold only to members of the Society. The price ranges from 45 to 48½ cts. per busnel.

There is a great deal of sickness in the community at present and Dr. Keith is kept very busy.

Old residents say that there is now more snow on the ground than at any time during the last thirty years. The average depth is about four feet, which makes walking in the roads extremly difficult.

EVERY WOMAN IN POOR HEALTH

Has an awful struggle. Lots to do, all kinds of worry, must contend with loss of sleep, poor appetite and tired nerves. Her only desire is for more strength and better health. This is exactly what comes from using Ferrozone, the greatest tonic sickly women can possibly use. Ferrozone makes the blood tingle and grow red, the cheeks grow rosy, the eyes bright. Ferrozone invigorates the body, develops new strength and makes life worth living. Ferrozone is the sort of tonic that builds up, it gives one a reserve force and establishes such healthy conditions that sickness is unknown. Let every woman use Ferrozone. Price 50c.

For liver spots apply a lotion of twenty grains citric acid and eight ounces of rose water. To permanently remove the spots internal treatment should also be taken.

For delicate women and children "The D & L" Emulsion is especially suited. It is sweet and palatable as cream, easily digested and of the greatest value as a tonic and tissue builder.

HARD DAY'S WORK.

Efforts Made at Quebec to Reconcile Warring Liberals.

HON. L. P. BRODEUR AND SENATOR DANDURAND THE MEDIATORS.

Parent Claims He Has a Majority in the Legislature.

Quebec, Feb. 9.—From early morning until six at night yesterday private conferences were held between Premier Parent's remaining colleagues and those who had gone out. Conciliation was in the air all day. Hon. L. P. Brodeur and Senator Dandurand was on hand as peace makers and they did their best. Mr. Cochrane of Montreal was in his element as an old political hand. He was strong for Mr. Parent, and strong for reconciliation. When the ex-Mayor went into supper he was confident that the ex-Ministers would be back at their departments this morning. While he was at supper Mr. Weir stepped over to say that negotiations were off.

It was to be war, and the rumblings thereof were loud in the corridors of the Chateau Frontenac, and an hour later still more loud as cheers came from the caucus room where the malcontents were gathered. When the Gouin-Turgeon caucus began fifty-four members were present, but a ceratin number were avowedly favorable to Mr. Parent. As time passed these retired. When the resolutions indicating confidence in the retiring ministers were put forty-six members were present, and there were no dissentient voices. The resolution was seconded, I am told, by a member from the Montreal district who had hitherto been counted with the other side. The Gouin-Turgeon forces, however, do not rely absolutely upon the vote thus registered, but rather upon a document, couched in similar terms, to which forty signatures have been appended.

At the caucus at the Legislative buildings the numbers were rather smaller, but friends of Mr. Parent insist that he can meet the House with a majority of three.

This morning, therefore, the situation is that both sides claim to have the confidence of the Legislature. The course of subsequent events will depend upon how further inquiry may affect these calculations.

A HEAVY DAY'S WORK.

It was obvious an hour before breakfast time that there was "something doing." Mr. Brodeur had come in by the morning train. Mr. Dandurand was stopping with relatives. Presently it was whispered that these gentlemen, acting at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's request, were doing their best to make peace. In the course of the day the ex-Ministers had several interviews with Hon. Mr. McCorkill and Hon. Mr. Archambault. It is conceded by all who have been in any way privy to what went on that, in a day of disnppointments, the one clear gain to the party is a pronounced enhancement of Mr. McCorkill's reputation as a public man. The heaviest burden of the day fell upon his shoulders, and the negotiations centred in him as the principal intermediary between the Premier and the ex-Ministers. Mr. McCorkill said to a friend as four o'clock that it was the hardest day's work he had done since he had entered politics. If the Cabinet was not re-formed before night it was not for want of trying on his part, but rather because, as developments showed, the negotiations were foredoomed to failure.

For the contest was not confined to the ministers and ex-ministers. It went on in the corridors of the hotels. There were those who, like Mr. Cochrane, went about all day long arguing that the proper thing to do was to re-constitute the cabinet as it was last week, and arrange for the future at a later period. But there were others who would not let Mr. Gouin and Mr. Turgeon hear of it. And their view prevailed.

It goes without saying that the repeated conference involved a combat of wits. At no stage of the proceedings did the contending parties mean the same thing. If the negotiations were prolonged until after dark it was probably because neither side was willing to leave the other with a tactical advantage. Finally, when the terms on which reconstruction might have been possible had been debated ta the end, and the articles of disagreement whittled down to a point, the flat truth came out. The ex-ministers, facing the whole issue, felt that they could not go back, and declined to do so. Their decision was received with jubilant approval by their supporters, who by this time had artived in large numbers by the evening trains.

HOW THEY TAKE IT.

The personalities of the principal figures in this melee have been well in evidence all day. Hon. Mr. Parent has his back to the wall, but he is very cool about it all. It is claimed on his behalf that he has been willing to withdraw from his present position at any time during these last two years, and that he has only remained out of deference to the wishes of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. However that may be, he objects to being summarily ejected, and his manner of objecting is somewhat strenuous. Besides keeping closely in touch with the negotiations conducted by Mr. McCorkill and Mr. Archambault on his behalf, Mr. Parent had numerous conferences during the day with men who may be called to his cabinet today, or in a few days. He is full of resource, full of courage, and as cool as a cucumber.

Mr. Gouin has also lived up to his reputation. What his acquaintances agree in saying about Mr. Gouin is that his judgment is sure. There is a saying that an inability to give clear expression to one's opinions generally argues the absence of definite opinions. With Mr. Gouin expression is clarity itself, and with him clear speaking reflects clear thinking. I do not believe, for all the trouble he took today, that he would have been dragged back to the cabinet, and that not because he preferred fighting to conciliation, but because he knew the feeling of his adherents made re-entry to the cabinet impossible. I don't think he likes fighting for its own sake. For years indeed, he has been less assertive than his friends would like to have seen him. But there can be no denying that he was deeply moved by what took place at last night's caucus.

AN UNDERSTUDY.

The direct personal antithesis of Mr. Parent is Mr. Turgeon. He is as nearly an understudy of Laurier as one public man can be of another. He is tall, has the grand air and is an orator before all. Once when he gave a dinner to some of his colleagues, one of them remarked, after observing him all evening, "The man ought to be a marquis at the least." When he is to speak at the Legislature the event is always heralded long in advance, and the galleries are always filled. One who knows the Province of Quebec as few know it told me the other day that Mr. Turgeon comes nearest to Sir Wilfrid in the possession of those graces which their countrymen like their public men to have. A member from the the Quebec district said yesterday he would not even try to carry his county with Mr. Turgeon against him. When it came to a "show down" last night, Mr. Turgeon's pride would not let him go back to the cabinet. Nobody says it was Mr. Gouin's pride but his cool judgment. This is the difference in essence, between the two men.

The prospect of having to face Mr. Gouin and Mr. Turgeon may be said to account for Mr. Parent's invitation to Mr. Monet to join the cabinet. Mr. Monet is a good speaker. He builds a speech as one would build a brick house, of separate bricks, and when he gets through the house is built complete. He speaks easily, but never says more or less than he wants to. He does not repeat, and so retains the attention of his auditors. He is an able man, and Mr. Tarte, who has felt the weight of his oratorical arms, delights to say Mr. Monet is an honest man. He will not have much difficulty in explaining his entry to the cabinet, where he believes he is assured of an opportunity to forward his ideas, which are of the "Build up Quebec" order.

What is most noteworthy about all that goes on is the good temper shown by all concerned. These are not enemies, but friends fallen out, who may be back to normal conditions of friendship within a few weeks.

If a dog bite you don't be scared. Bathe the wound with cold water and cover it with a cloth on which Weaver's Cerate has been freely spread. The Cerate relieves the pain caused by the sting of insects.

Salt water acts as a tonic on the skin. Gently spatted on the face it will help make the cuticle firm.

IT'S WHEN YOU HAVE TOOTHACHE

That the power of Nerviline quickly makes itself felt. Any aching tooth can be relieved by Nerviline in a few moments by filling the cavity with batting soaked in Nerviline. A good plan is to rub the gums with Nerviline. There isn't a (;ngle remedy that has one fourth the pain-relievpower of Nerviline which acts like magic. Nerviline kills the pain outright and prevents it from returning. You can't beat Nerviline for toothache or neuralgia; it's the best pain cure made. Price 25c.

Dared Not Kill the Deer.

Poughkeepsie, Feb. 7.—Because of the penalty imposed by the game laws for killing or having in possession deer out of season, the conductor of a train on the Ellenville & Kingston Railroad was yesterday compelled to leave a handsome buck which was disabled by coming in collision with the engine. The deer was seen by the engineer on the track as the train rounded a curve. The lever was reversed and the air brakes put on, but the distance was too short to stop the train and the locomotive struck the deer with force enough to hurl it high into the air.

The passengers left the train and crowded around the deer, which was unable to move on account of a broken leg and other injuries. The conductor was reluctantly compelled to leave the suffering animal where it lay in the snow, as he could not legally kill it or take it aboard the train. Accordingly he signalled the engineer to go ahead and left the poor animal to its fate. Some of the passengers left the train at Accord with the avowed intention of risking a heavy fine by killing the animal.

A SMILE IN EVERY DOSE.

If your little ones are cross and peevish and fretful, give them Baby's Own Tablets, and they will soon be cheerful, smiling and happy. Worried mothers who use this medicine will find there's a smile in every dose. Mrs. N. Nathieu, Nosbonsing, Ont., says: "Before I began using Baby's Own Tablets my little one was always sickly and cried day and night. But the Tablets have regulated his stomach and bowels, given him strength, and he is now good-natured and growing finely." Mothers need not be afraid to use this medicine—it is guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug, and may be given with perfect safety to a new born babe. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 25 cents a box by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Great Wave of Religion.

London, Feb. 7.—There is every indication that a wave of religious revival as strong as that which followed the first mission of Moody and Sankey is about to spread over Great Britian. Indeed it has been for some time gaining force in parts of the country and has been going on for many weeks in Wales, where such religious awakening is declared have been unknown since 1859. It has been urged forward for months in several Provincial cities by Messrs Torrey and Alexander, the American evangelists, with considerable success and is now about to be inaugurated by these missioners, who began a five months' campaign in Albert Hall tonight.

All denominations have united in wishing them Godspeed. The Bishops of London and Rochester and other dignitaries of the established Church have proclaimed their sympathy with equal heartiness with the Noncomformists. All branches of the crusade have been ordered on a gigantic scale and £12,000 have been collected towards the estimated cost of £17,000.

A word of good counsel.—When days are bleak and nights are long and cold, keep Perry Davis' Painkiller in the house. It is your faithful friend, as it was your parent's friend. External and internal use.

When Baby Comes You'll Need Strength.

No Mother Can Rear a Healthy Child Unless She is Herself Healthy.

FERROZONE

Imparts New Vigor—Braces Nourishes, Strengthens Weak Women

A woman's anxieties multiply tenfold about the time the new baby is expected. If her strength is exhausted and her blood weak, it goes hard in the hour of trial. Ferrozone should be used because it makes the blood nutritious and rich. By instilling new strength into every part of the body, it uplifts your spirits at once.

Childbirth is certainly made easier by Ferrozone. The following statement expresses the earnest gratitude of Mrs. M. E. Duckworth, of Durham. It is a woman's story—of her own case—told that other women may profit by her experience:

"Before baby was born I was in a miserable, weak, nervous state. I had no reserve strength. I tried to build up, but nothing helped me. I looked upon the coming day with dread, knowing I was unequal to the occasion.

"Ferrozone braced me up at once. It gave me strength and spirits, brought back my nerve and cheerfulness. From my experience with Ferrozone I recommend it to all expectant mothers."

There is more concentrated nourishment in Ferrozone than you can get from anything else. It supplies what weak systems need. Simply take one tablet at meals and you'll feel uplifted at once. Ferrozone makes healthy, virile, vigorous women; try it. 50c. per box of fifty tablets, or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

DIVORCES IN BRITAIN.

Evil Has Steadily Grown in the Old Country.

New York, Feb. 7.—A London cable to the Sun says:—In connection with President Roosevelt's message to congress on the subject of divorce it is noted that as a resort for divorce-seekers Great Britain has been steadily growing since the legislation of 1898 removed such proceedings from the control of ecclesiastical courts.

Then the cases averaged about 200 a year, but by continuous progression have now reached about 900. These figures relate to the divorce court alone. In recent years the power of decreeing a judicial separation has been extended to courts of summary jurisdiction, with the result that separations which numbered 825 in 1898 rose steadily to nearly 9,000 in 1904. The combined totals show now practically the same proportion of 100 of population in Great Britain and the United States.

A curious point about the increase is that the disruption of alliances has been more rapid among nonconformists than among those of the Established Church.

Objections can be raised to every course of action. Be governed not by the objections, but by the points in favor.
