TOGO'S VICTORY COMPLETE.

Sank or Captured Twenty-two Russian Warships.

AND ONLY TWO ARE REPORTED AS HAVING REACHED VLADIVOSTOK.

Rojestvensky Seriously Wounded and a Prisoner.

Tokio, May 31.—Admiral Togo has wired Admiral Yamamoto, minister of the navy as follows:

"The main force of the Russian second and third fleets is nearly annihilated. Please feel assured of it."

Washington, May 31.—The state department has received the following despatch from Tokio, May 30: It is officially announced that all of the Russian battleships have been sunk, except the "Orel" and "Nicholas I," which were captured. Admiral Rojestvensky, Volkorsham and Nebogato are all prisoners.

According to latest reports from Vice Admiral Togo to his government, the loss to the Russian ships sunk or captured now numbers 22, while full particulars are not yet known. The admiral says that none of his big fighting ships were seriously damaged.

Interesting news comes from Vladivostok sent direct by the correspondent of the Associated Press, who reports the arrival there of the protected cruiser Almaz and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozny. The officers of the Almaz say that they witnessed the sinking of two Japanese battleships, and that two Japanese cruisers were listing badly and seemed about to sink when the fog obscured further view of the battle.

There seems to be great confusion as to the fate of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky. It is reported that he arrived at Vladivostok on the torpedo boat destroyer, and that his wife has received a telegram from him, while a report received from Tokio late Tuesday night at the Japanese legation at Washington says he was captured on board the Russian destroyer with another admiral, both severely wounded, and with several staff officers of his flagship the Kniaz Souvaroff, the sinking of which is confirmed by the officers of the Almaz.

Togo Tells of Victory.

Washington, May 30.—The Japanese legation tonight gave out the following cablegram from Tokio:

"Fifth report from Togo received afternoon May 30.

"The main force of our combined fleet upon accepting surrender of the remaining Russian main force near Liancourt Rocks, in the afternoon of May 28, as already reported, stopped pursuit, and while engaged in the disposition of surrendered ships found in a southwestern direction, the Admiral Ushakov, a coast defense ship. Thereupon Iwate and Yakuimo were immediately despatched in pursuit and invited her to surrender, but she refused and was sunk at 6 p. m. Her crew of over 300 men were rescued.

"Cruiser Dimitri Donskoi was also found in the northwestern direction at 5 p. m. and was immediately overtaken and fired on vigorously by our fourth division and second destroyer flotilla. She was attacked that night by the second destroyer flotilla and the next morning was found aground. On the southeastern shore of Ullung Island, off Korean coast, our destroyer Sazanami captured toward the evening of May 29 in the south of Ullung Island, the Russian destroyer Biedovy, wherein were found Admiral Rojestvensky and another admiral, both severely wounded, together with eighty Russians, including staff officers from the flagship Prince Suvaroff (Kniaz Souvaroff) which was sunk at 5.29 p. m. on May 29. They were all taken prisoners.

"Our cruiser Chitose while cruising to the northwest on the morning of May 28 found and sank another Russian destroyer, which finally went aground. According to various reports hitherto received and statements of prisoners, the result of the battle from May 27 to May 29 is as follows:

"Prince Suvaroff, Alexandre III., Borodino, Dimitri Donskoi, Admiral Nachimoff, Monomach, Jemchug, Admiral Oushakov, one converted cruiser and two destroyers sunk.

"Nicholas I., Orel, Admiral Apraxin, Admiral Senyavin and destroyer Biedovy captured.

"According to the prisoners the Oslabia sunk about 3 p. m. and the Navarin also was sunk.

"Almaz on May 27th was observed in a disabled and sinking condition, but her final fate is yet unknown.

"The full particulars regarding the injuries to our ships are not yet in hand, but, so far as I can ascertain, none were seriously injured, all being still engaged in operations. The whole casualties are not yet ascertained. Casualties of first division are little over four hundred. Prince Yohito in excellent health, Admiral Miso slightly wounded, May 19.

"Sixth report received the afternoon of May 30:

"Loss of Oslabia, Navarin confirmed. Sisso-Velik also definitely reported to have sunk on the morning of May 28.

"Official statement of Russian losses so far as ascertained:

"Following six battleships sunk—Prince Suvaroff, Imperator Alexander III., Borodino, Oslabia, Sisso-Velik and Navarin.

"Following five cruisers sunk—Admiral Nachimoff, Dimitri Donskoi,

Vladimir-Monomach, Evietlana and Jemchug.

"Coast defense ship Admiral Oshakov sunk.

"Two special service ships Kamchatka and three destroyers sunk.

"Two battleships Orel and Imperator Nicholas I., two coast defense ships, General Admiral Apraxin and Admiral Senyavin, and one destroyer Biedovy captured.

"Thus the Russians lost about 22 ships, the aggregate tonnage whereof amounting to 153,411 tons, besides whereof Almaz, suspected to have sunk."

SAYS TOGO USED SUBMARINES.

Tokio, May 30.—Admiral Togo appears to have planned and laid a complete trap which fitted Admiral Rojestvensky's action and the Japanese outmanoeuvred, outfought and outshot the Russians, fearlessly taking their lightest cruisers against the heavy Russian armor-clad battleships with armored cruisers smothering them with fire.

Tremendous interest attaches to the use of submarine vessels. The navy department is silent on this point, but it is confidently believed that submarines were successfully used for the first time in history. Theoretically, the sea was too rough for the employment of submarines Saturday, but the Japanese sailors welcome desperate chances. It is believed that torpedo boats and destroyers scored heavily Saturday night. The conditions on Sunday were most favorable.

SAYS JAPS LOST TWO BATTLESHIPS.

Vladivostok, May 30, 4.30 p. m.—Two ships alone of Admiral Rojestvensky's powerful flotilla, the swift cruiser Almaz and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozny, lie at anchor here today in the curving harbor of Golden Horn, they having separated from the fleet in the early stage of the battle which began in the Korea Strait Saturday and headed, in obedience to orders, with full speed to Vladivostok.

Up to 4 o'clock this afternoon no other vessels of the Baltic fleet had yet arrived and the signal stations at Askold and Rimsky-Korsakoff islands reported none in sight.

Officers of the Almaz and Grozny say that both fleets had already sustained terrible losses when the Almaz and Grozny broke through the hostile line.

Of the Japanese, two battleships had gone down before their eyes and two cruisers, their sterns high out of water, seemed ready to plunge head foremost to the bottom of the sea.

The Russian fleet, they say, was even in a sadder plight. Rojestvensky's flagship, the Kniaz Souvaroff, and her sister ship, the Borodino, and
