

Hawes $3.00 Hats.

Are in for Early Fall Trade.

Fall Alpine.

Fall Derby.

Both DERBYS and ALPINES.

You know the Hawes Hat is the hat that sets the fashion. The Hat that other makes copy from.

Hawes Hats are worn by more men in the large cities than any other hat.

There is no other hat as good as the Hawes Hat at $3.00 because its $3.00 hat, made to sell at $3.00; always the same price, no matter what city you buy it in.

When you pay $3.00 for any other hat you do not get a $3.00 hat but a hat that sells at $2.50 where it is made in the U.S. Of course if you want to pay $3.00 for one of these hats, why all right, but you don't get $3.00 worth of hat unless you buy the Hawes $3.00 hat. One dealer in every city sells them, we tell them here.

It's the Hat to Buy.

YORK COUNTY RIFLE MATCHES.

Local Marksmen Had Good Sport on the St. Mary's Range Thursday.

FREDERICTON MADE A CLEAN SWEEP IN THE TEAM MATCHES.

The annual matches of the York County Rifle Association were held on the St. Mary's range Thursday, and were very successful. The number of competitors was not quite as large as usual, only about twenty-five being present. The removal of the R. C. R. to Halifax was responsible for the falling off. The light was not what it might have been, and a tricky fish tail wind baffled the marksmen, and made high scores impossible.

There were two regular competitions besides extra series and team matches. Lieut. John Neill of this city, was the winner of the Elder Match, shot at King's ranges, and he took second place in the Association. Rev. A. B. Murray of Stanley, being first. The Fredericton team won both team matches, capturing the Stanley and McNally cups. Lieut. Neill won the grand aggregate, and the nursery aggregate was captured by Mr. H. H. Hagerman of this city.

Following are the scores:

COLORS AND MOSQUITOES.

The Hungry Pests Are Said to Have a Dislike For Yellow.

A young girl was talking about mosquitoes. She had spent the summer in a place where they were numerous. "But I noticed," she said, "that when I wore a yellow dress I didn't get a single bite."

"Did you notice that?" said the young scientist. And then he went on eagerly:

"I am glad you noticed that, for it is a verification of certain experiments that we have made."

"We made these experiments in a gauze tent, and their object was to ascertain the effect on mosquitoes of colors."

"We placed in the tent boxes lined with cloth of different hues, and we found that the little pests crowded frantically into the dark blue box, while the yellow box they would not enter under any circumstances."

"The experiments extended over several weeks. We had in the tent stone vessels for the mosquitoes to breed in. We discovered that next to the dark blue the mosquitoes sought the dark red box. After the dark red came brown, then scarlet, then black, then slate gray, then olive green, then violet, then pearl gray, then white."

"Thus we proved that mosquitoes notice colors, and we formulated two helpful hints for the inhabitants of mosquito ridden districts."

"The first hint is to wear yellow to escape mosquito bites and to use yellow netting for bed canopies and window screens."

"The second hint is to use a blue lined box if you want to trap mosquitoes. With this box in an infested region you could easily catch and destroy thousands of the insects daily."—New York Herald.

A Submarine Signal.

Here is one of the latest wonders of the deep, put there by man. Underneath the Sandy Hook lightship is a big bell, rung by power from the same little engine which toots the foghorn. The bell rings five—one, five—one, five—one, fifty-one, the number of the lightship. An officer on the bridge of an incoming steamship picks up a telephone receiver on the bridge, say eight miles away, and hears the number ringing. He knows what it is and where he is.

The idea is simple. Water transmits sound more than three times as quickly as air. Against the plates of the vessel way down in her hold forward under the water line is a drum which catches and magnifies the sound. A telephone wire does the rest. It matters not how hard a gale may be blowing or whether the foghorn can be heard, the bell is a sure indication. It has been reported off Boston as having been effective at a distance of fourteen miles.—New York Post.

A Streak of Good Fortune.

Bunker-Bloomer is looking pretty well lately. Has he had any luck? Hill—Why, haven't you heard? He married a widow, and her former husband's clothes just fit him.

In the archipelago of Mergui, off the coast of lower Burma, Asia, live the "sea gypsies." Instead of carts they own covered boats, in which, with their families, dogs, cats, chickens and pigs, they float about on the sea and wander from island to island. By day they fish or harpoon turtles or dive for oysters, but every night they put back to the shore. If the weather is bad at sea they land with their dogs and then poach, catching porcupines, squirrels, armadillos, hog deer and the like, of which they make savory stews, like our gypsies.

An Artist's Criticism.

Probably no two artists ever criticised each other more severely than did Fuseli and Northcote, yet they remained fast friends. At one time Fuseli was looking at Northcote's painting of the angel meeting Balaam and his ass. "How do you like it?" asked Northcote after a long silence. "Northcote," replied Fuseli promptly, "you're an angel at an ass, but an ass at an angel."

Why We Can't Be Great.

Emerson defined greatness as simplicity. "Indeed, to be simple is to be great." The question emerges, Is life simple today? If not, will it be simpler tomorrow? If not, then how can there ever again be such greatness as in the past in a world of ever increasing complexity?

Why She Left.

"Yes, my wife attended but one session of the club."
"What caused her to quit it?"
"She found out that the rules put a time limit of five minutes on all speeches."

It is strange that in Asia and Africa, where grass will not grow, the most beautiful flowers and shrubs flourish to perfection.
