DAILY HERALD.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1905.

THE EXHIBITION.

All indications point to a record breaking attendance at the Fredericton exhibition which opens on Thursday of next week and continues for the five following days.

The publicity department has done its work well, and the big show is advertised in all the Maritime Provinces and in Maine, and people are coming from all along the line to see the best provincial exhibition ever witnessed in New Brunswick.

All classes of the prize list will be well represented, and the special amusement features are said to be the best ever offered in these parts.

The horsemen also speak hopefully of the outlook for the three days racing to be put on during exhibition week, a fine field of horses offering for the various events.

The hotels are making preparations for a great rush of visitors, but there will be accommodation for all who come.

In the meantime The Herald desires to repeat and emphasize what we said a few days ago regarding the necessity of everybody owning premises, whether residences or business houses, to clean up, so that Fredericton may look its best for the throng of exhibition visitors.

DREW SOME LESSONS.

At a Charlestown, Mass., church Sunday the pastor, Rev. Mr. McQueen, preached on "the peace at Portsmouth," drawing some lessons that are complimentary to the Japanese, and raising suggestions likely to set Christians thinking.

"With a tenderness never equalled by any Christian power," he said, "pagan Japan had made a peace that commands the respect of mankind. Not President Roosevelt, but the superbly magnanimous American nation made this peace possible, though every one will admire the wonderful sanity of our chief executive in this happy event."

"This peace at Portsmouth is of wonderful significance. Mark you, it puts America fourth as the head and front of Christendom; and also, that which has never before been seen under the sun, it let the Buddhist faith set the pace of the highest moral and spiritual code to all the Christian world. And I am asking myself, is the character of Christian nations going to hold its own in the next few decades with the character produced by Confucian China and Buddhist Japan? Would Christian France and Germany or England have shown such high regard for humanity and honor as the Mikado? Are Bismarck or Chamberlain or Bazarine in as high a category as Komura and Ito and Matsuhito?"

"Will the entrance of the Buddha's faith into world politics transform Christianity or supersede it? or will the faith of Jesus so mould the hearts of the future generations that the old faith of the Orient will merge in the newer wisdom of Galilee? Certain it is that there will never again be such a distinction between the races and religions of the world as that which has sowed the sorrows of the past."

DALIGHTED WITH WEST.

Twenty-five editors, representing the leading agricultural newspapers of the United States, have been touring in western Canada, and are amazed and delighted with the great resources of that portion of the Dominion.

One of these gentlemen, Professor Shaw, said to a Winnipeg interviewer: "The contemplation of this great country is bewildering, whether viewed from the standpoint of size or resources. In size it is an empire. Our party has been travelling over it as fast as an engine could carry us for the past sixteen days, and we have only seen a very limited portion of its entire area. Its resources are almost fabulous in the aggregate, whether viewed from the standpoint of minerals, timber or agricultural production. But, beyond all question, agriculture in this country will be the greatest industry through all centuries. The first foot of the soil in the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is its greatest natural heritage. It is worth more than all the mines in the mountains from Alaska to Mexico, and more than all the forests from the United States to the Arctic Sea, vast as these are. The entire party is simply entranced with what they have seen."

A TORONTO GRIEVANCE.

There is such a demand for higher education in the progressive city of Toronto that the buildings set apart as high schools are very much overcrowded, and accommodation cannot be found for pupils anxious to avail themselves of a liberal educational training.

The Toronto News is after the authorities with a sharp stick for not providing the necessary accommodation, and its observations are not inapplicable elsewhere.

It says: "There seems to be a prevalent idea that secondary education is a luxury, and that expenditure upon it may be cut off whenever it is deemed advisable to make a show of economy. If we are to adopt the policy of withdrawing public aid to all institutions over the grade of primary schools, let that policy be carried out by the government and legislature of the province, and let the University and its colleges, as well as the high schools be left to shift for themselves. The government and legislature have decided upon a policy of generous treatment of the University, and it is the most foolish kind of cheese-paring to treat the link between the University and the primary schools as if it were no part of the educational system of the province. As Toronto is the seat of the University and is very largely benefited by the centralization of higher education, it should set the example of the most liberal provision for secondary education."

Bishop Potter of New York, in a sermon at Portland Sunday said he regretfully admitted that the tendency of the times is to drift away from the church. Men say they worship God in the fields and the countryside, seashore and mountains. The influence of tradition has departed from them. In New England, especially, church going has been handed down as a sacred tradition, and it is not all dead yet by any means. These non-church goers think that they are good and moral men, and probably they are, in a sense, but they need to go to the fountain head frequently. The church is the house of God, and the voice of God speaks through the mouths of the clergy.

Mr. J. B. McCallum, a prominent bartender of Elkhorn, Manitoba, now visiting the maritime provinces, told the Moncton Transcript that Manitoba and all the west is crying for the G. T. P., and he says there will be no rest there till it is completed. He declares it was a great scheme on the part of Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues, and that the opposition offered to it by the Tories will keep that party in the cool shades of opposition for years to come.

The consolidated school just opened at Riverside, Albert County, is a monument to the energy and generosity of Hon. A. R. McClellan, who in spite of great difficulties, has lived to see one of his ambitions fulfilled. The school building is a model of convenience, adequately equipped, and the school starts with an enrolment of 204 pupils.

Anglican Archbishop Bond, of Montreal, is one of the grand old men of Canada. He was ninety years old on Sunday, yet was able to preach in the Quebec cathedral to a large congregation, his voice carrying to the remotest corners of the edifice.

It has been figured out that in New York an immigrant arrives every forty seconds, a child is born every six minutes and some one is murdered every two days.

BITS OF NEWS.

Items of Interest Culled from Our Exchanges and Other Sources.

Mr. Yoshio Kinoshita, traffic manager of the Japanese government system of railways, has been at Moncton inspecting the Intercolonial railway.

The death of James N. Tyner at Washington a few months ago leaves only three of the thirteen men who cast the electoral vote of Indiana for Abraham Lincoln.

M. K. Cowan, solicitor of the G. T. R., talked to the Guelph Council against the C. P. R. and before his works ran down the C. P. R. had built the crossing he objected to.

Correct figures made public today on the Britt-Nelson contest show that the total receipts were $43,311. That amount was divided as follows: Nelson, $18,841.29; Britt, $12,560.86; management, $16,908.82.

Mrs. Gogan, wife of Poacide S. Gogan, a well known L. C. R. employe, dropped dead at Moncton Monday afternoon while sitting in her home on Cornhill street. Mrs. Gogan had been suffering from heart trouble for some years.

Rev. Canon Brock continues very ill at his residence at Kentville, N. S., of paralysis of the throat. His executors, Arthur E. Brock and Clifford Tufts, have undertaken to see that a volume of the reverend gentleman's sermons, which he has been preparing for publication, will be given to the press as soon as possible. Very Rev. Dean Partiside has been asked to revise the work.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

A change in part of the C. P. R. train service has been decided on for the winter. The express from Boston which now arrives at St. John a little before noon will come only as far as Vanceboro, where the Boston cars will be attached to the incoming Montreal train and will come in as part of that train. The Boston cars going out from St. John in the evening will be attached to the Montreal express and at Vanceboro will be detached and a Maine Central engine will take them on their journey towards the Hub.
