ALL EYES ON CANADA.

Australian Clergyman Here to Learn Causes of Our Great Prosperity.

Toronto, May 02.—Rev. W. H. Fitchett, D. D., president of the general conference of the Australasian Methodist church, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Fichett, who arrived in the city Saturday, has been commissioned by the leading Australian newspapers to investigate political and social conditions in Canada, with a view of discovering why the Dominion is so peaceful and progressive, while Australia's population is stationary, and there are frequent serious struggles between capital and labor.

He says people in Australia are particularly interested in the fact that Canada is attracting the best class of immigrants from all parts of the world. On the Manuka, the vessel by which Dr. Fitchett came to Vancouver, there were almost a score of Australian families, all farmers, and numbering 63 souls in all, who had sold their farms and were coming to settle in the Canadian west. All these farmers had a fair amount of capital, and almost without exception they said they were leaving Australia because of constant labor troubles.

"All eyes," said Dr. Fichett, "seem to be turned on Canada, "and I am desirous of knowing the real cause or causes of this."

THE WORLD OVER

Thousands of Mothers are using

DR. CODERRE'S INFANTS' SYRUP

For Children's Ailments, you cannot but admit the fact that this preparation is one of merit and is all what is claimed for it. It is safe, pleasant and soothing for children teething, and a prompt checker of bowel and stomach troubles.

Physicians and Professional nurses recommend it.

In purchasing, see that Dr. Coderre's signature and portrait is on every wrapper. Beware of the many Syrups put up in a similar form and made to look like Dr. Coderre's.

DUG HERMIT OUT OF GRAVE.

Discovered by a Keeper While Washing His Shirt.

London, May 17.—The Daily Express publishes the following:—A keeper on the Weld-Blundell estate, which extends for miles on the Liverpool side of Southport, has dug up a hermit at Birkdale.

He had been mystified for some time by a strange man wandering among the sand hills which fringe the shore. He followed him several times and on each occasion the man vanished utterly and left no trace.

One day a thin line of smoke issuing upwards through the sand gave the keeper a clue. He dug through the sand and discovered his quarry washing a shirt in a cave.

The cave was about six feet high, and the roof was supported by old scraps of corrugated iron. A chimney had been driven up through the sand, but the outlet was masked in the daytime by some earth and a piece of sacking. The entrance was cleverly concealed by masses of coarse grass.

The hermit resented the keeper's intrusion, and was only evicted by force. His name is said to be Smethurst, and he is believed to have come from Bolton. Although he is wild and unkempt in appearance, he had a large amount of literature in his cave.

It is thought that he supplied himself with food by foraging in the neighborhood by night.

MONTREAL AND BOSTON COPPER

New Dominion Copper Co. to Take Over all Properties.

Announcement is made of the completion of the reorganization plan of the Montreal and Boston Consolidated Copper Mining and Smelting Co. The new company will be known as the Dominion Copper Company, Lts., and will take over the properties previously controlled by the Montreal and Boston Company in British Columbia.

The Dominion Copper Company, Limited, will have 3,000,000 shares of stock, of a par value of $1 each, and $1,000,000 mortgage bonds, of which $700,000 have been issued. The balance of $300,000 will be held in the treasury to meet future requirements. A local syndicate has underwritten that part of the bond issue which was not given over in payment for outstanding claims and to satisfy obligations incurred under the former management.

Stockholders, however, are given the privilege of subscribing for the bonds at 90, receiving a bonus of 200 shares of stock for each $100 bonds subscribed for. Former stockholders of the Montreal and Boston Company will receive stock, share for share, in the new organization.

SKIRMISHING IN MANCHURIA.

As a Prelude to the Big Battle Daily Expected.

St. Petersburg, May 22, 2.05 a. m.—The commission investigating the surrender of Port Arthur has finished the first half of its labors. The investigation of the decumentary evidence presented by General Stoessel in his own defense tended to show that the fortress at the outbreak of the war was nearly defenseless, without supplies or cash.

Tokio, May 21, 2.20 p. m.—The following official report is published: "In the direction of Weiyuanpaomen, on the morning of May 11, the enemy, with two companies of infantry and two squadrons of cavalry, again attacked Cheingtzu, but were repulsed at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Simultaneously the enemy, with one regiment of infantry and five squadrons of cavalry, actively attacked Chingyangpo, but were entirely repulsed at 6 o'clock in the evening.

There has been no material change at Changtu, except collisions with scouts, since we repulsed the enemy on May 18. On the right bank of the Liao River the enemy's cavalry is concentrating, its main strength being at Kungchuliang, eight miles west of Fakoman. At noon on May 19 they attempt)d to threaten the rear of our camps by making a south-westerly detour, but our strong guards disheartened them and they retreated far in a north-western direction without attaining their object."

Harbin, Manchuria, May 21.— An officer who has returned from the extreme left of the Russian army says the Yalu detachment is constantly skirmishing with the Japanese, with whom are 6,000 bandits armed with captured Russian rifles and officered by Japanese. A strong wind is drying the roads southward.

Tokio, May 21.—It is officially announced that "the press reports circulated in Europe about the removal by Japan of the Korean emperor to Japan has absolutely no foundation. Such an idea never occurred to the Japanese government. The report must be taken to be a malicious fabrication calculated to do mischief to Japan."

Tsingtau, May 22.—The newspapers say that Japan will establish a consulate at Shangtung, treaty port of Weihsin, and push Japanese trade in the province of Shangtung.

Weihsin is the most important city in Shangtung. It is situated in the midst of a plain separating the two mountain systems of the province on both banks of the Peilang River, which empties into the Gulf of Pechili, 25 miles northward.

St. Petersburg, May 22.—Ambassador Meyer's instigation of a special messenger service to carry embassy despatches to Berlin evokes sarcastic comment by the press of St. Petersburg. The Novosti says the new ambassador evidently puts light faith in the government's postal service.

Vive-Admiral Birileff, who will have command of sea and land forces at Vladivostok will leave for the far east on May 25.

Greatly increased activity is observed in the despatch of troops to the far east in Poland. Recently picked drafts from various regiments were sent from Warsaw, Lodz and other places.

Kishineff is reported to be terrorized by roughs. Teachers, students and Jews are frequently assaulted in the streets. Peasane riots have occurred at Siedloe, Russian Poland. Schools, government offices and liquor shops have been sacked and the emperor's portrait destroyed.

Paris, May 22. Advices from Hong Kong state that an enormous fleet of colliers for the Russian Pacific fleet is off the Mekong delta and along the whole coast as far as Cape St. James. Forty of the colliers are flying the German flag, and a score of others show British, Norwegian, Russian and French flags.

THAT ASSAULT CASE.

Chancellor Harrison Comes to the Defence of the Young Girl.

Fredericton, May 21.

To the Editor of the Herald.

Sir,—In the last issue of the Daily Herald, you have, I am sure quite unintentionally, done grievous injustice to the reputation of a pure and modest young woman who for the last eighteen months has been a member of my household, and who has therefore, a right to claim my protection.

I make no doubt that you will hasten to undo the mischief that has been done by certain utterly false statements concerning the degree of intimacy between her and the man who assaulted her on the college grounds. I therefore ask you to publish the principal facts:

It can be proved in court that she had never been alone with her assailant until the night of May 6th, and then only for the few dreadful minutes that ended in her rescue from his violence. On her way home about ten o'clock near the gate-house of the college, a man suddenly appeared from behind a bush, (where he had been lying in wait), and walked beside her, (she had seen him on the front street earlier in the evening, when she was in company with another young woman also of good character.)

She now exclaimed "What are you following me for?" and started to run towards home. He overtook her and seized her. She screamed so loud that she was heard so far away as Queen's Park.

The college porter, who had gone to bed, heard the scream, which was quickly followed by a mufled scream, that he knew meant distress.

The ruffian had placed his hand over her mouth saying "Stop your damned screaming."

He was in the act of throwing her to the ground when the porter, who deserves much praise for his swift action, came to her rescue, and her assailant quickly fled in the darkness.

Her dread of notoriety and of figuring in the police court (a dread equally shared by her mother) led her at first to conceal his name, but this dread has now given place to a sense of duty to herself and to the community.

I beg leave to remain,
Yours faithfully,
THOS. HARRISON.

Clay Eclipse, the Arabian stallion, which was pronounced dead of blood poisoning at New York, Thursday, was found to be alive Friday when about to be buried. An attendant noticed a slight twitching of the animal's limbs and stimulants were poured down the bests's throat. He responded so well that a veterinary who has charge of the animal believes he will recover.

NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY.

Offers Prizes for Competition in Plants Birds and Insects Sections.

In pursuance of the plan followed in 1904, the Fredericton Natural History Society has decided to offer prizes, for the year 1905, for competition in three sections of this work; viz., plants, birds and insects. Two prizes are offered in each section—a first prize of five dollars, and and a second prize of three dollars.

In the plant section the prizes are offered for the best collection of the plants of York or Sunbury Counties—the plants to be mounted in the year 1905.

In the bird section, the prizes will be awarded for the best series of notes, of the competitor's own observation, of the season's history, or habits, of one or more species of one or more individual birds. The observer is to be free to limit his attention to one phase of this bird history, such as the dates of arrival in the spring, or of departure in autumn; or to distribute his attention over two or more phases, such as its song or notes, its plumage, its nesting, its food, its habits, its disposition &c. No birds or eggs are to be injured, unless the bird is admittedly evil.

In the insect section, the prizes will be awarded for the best collections of insects mounted in 1905; or for the best series of notes of the competitor's own observation of the season's history of one or more species of insects, or of any interrsting observed facts about insects—or for the collection and notes together.

The society reserves the right to withhold a prize in case the collection be not deemed worthy of a prize.

Competitors for these prizes may send their work to the president or secretary of the society at any time before the 31st of December, 1905.

Any additional information may be had by communicating with the secretary.
