CUPID IN MOTOR-CAR.

Marriage of an Heiress to Her Father's Chauffeur.

London, May 19. If any man can show any just cause why they may not be lawfully joined together let him now speak—"

The Rev. A. Clarke, temporary curate of the St. Peter's Eaton-square perhaps the most fashionable church in London, paused and glanced anxiously around the church.

Miss Sarah Frances Constance Lillian Baddock, a wealthy west end heiress, was about to be married, by special license, and in defiance to the wishes of her family, to her father's late chauffeur, Mr. Cyril Duvall Bishop, and the officiating clergyman had been warned that a disturbance at the church might be feared.

Solicitors representing the bride and bridegroom were present, and several policemen were stationed both in and outside the church, but no one challenged the church's right to make the west end heiress the chauffeur's bride, and the curate proceeded with the ceremony.

Faded lilies and roses, remnants of the decorations of Easter Sunday, were on the altar and in the chancel, and the bride, who was unattended, wore a simple dark blue coat and skirt, and was closely veiled.

AFTER THREE YEARS.

Mr. Rider of New-square, Lincoln's Inn Fields, her solicitor, gave her away, and her aunt, Miss Bibby of Charles Street, Mayfair, was the only member of her family present.

The wedding passed off without interruption, and the two young people drove to Waterloo for Bournemouth.

The romance, which ended with the sound of wedding bells yesterday, had its beginning at Melton Mowbray nearly three years ago, when Mr. Edward Holmes Baldock of Grosvenor place, and Craven Lodge, Melton Mowbray, gave his young daughter a motor-car as a birthday present and himself chose her chauffeur.

Miss Baldock, who was found of all outdoor sports, soon developed into an enthusiastic motorist. Daily Miss Baldock indulged in long country drives with the chauffeur as her only companion.

Not until last year, however, did the young lady's family realize that the chauffeur had won the heart of his mistress. The discovery that every arrangement had been made for an early marriage brought affairs to a climax.

Efforts were made to break off the match. Mr. Bishop himself offered considerable sums, and pressure was brought to bear upon Miss Baldock, who, by the way, is a niece of the Countess of Kilmorey, and well known in society circles.

Finally the heiress was despatched, first to France, and then to Ceylon in the hope that she might forget the chauffeur in London.

For once, however, the course of true love ran smoothly, and when Miss Baldock returned to London a week or two ago, cured—as her friends fondly believed—she promptly made arrangements for her marriage to the husband of her choice.

Again the family implored and entreated, but this time the young lady was firm. Not only was she of age, but the large fortune inherited from one of her aunts was under her own control, and yesterday, in the church which she always attended as a child and within a minute's walk of her father's stately town house, Miss Baldock, society girl and heiress, became the bride of Mr. Bishop, chauffeur.

But when the happy young couple return to London, Mr. Cyril Bishop, it is understood, will take up a partnership in a motoring firm.

The father of the bride, Mr. Edward Holmes Baldock, is the Colonel commanding the 3rd County of London Imperial Yeomanry. He married in 1880 a daughter of Mr. J. J. Bibby, of Hardwicke Grange, Salop. His father was at one time in parliament and he was himself educated at Eton and Magdalene College, Cambridge.

Fighting Bob Evans' One Time Japanese Servant Now Captain in Mikado's Navy.

Admiral "Bob" Evans in a recent conversation with a group of officers threw a great white light upon one of the methods at least by which the Japanese have attained that splendid adaptability to European and American ways.

"When I commanded the New York some years ago," he said, "I had a Jap servant with whom I was especially well-pleased. He was prompt, remarkably quick to learn, and took such a deep interest in everything that sometimes just to amuse myself, I devoted not a little attention to explaining things that he appeared not to understand. A good waiter, too, he was. Well, finally he disappeared.

"Some time later when on the European station, I made a call on a Jap battleship lying in the Harbor of Marsailles. The captain met us at the gangway and escorted us to his cabin. As we were seated he suddenly turned, threw off his hat and whipped a napkin over his arm.

"'The captain would drink?' he said in a tone I well remembered.

"'Kato!' I cried, jumping to my feet.

"'The same,' he said bowing. 'Captain Kato of the Mikado's navy.'"—New York Times.

Gertie Glen, the swift and handsome mare handled last year by J. W. Gallagher, Woodstock, will not be seen on the track this season. John Tribe, her owner, has bought a farm out of Woodstock and thinks Gertie should have a year's rest. Mr. Tribe could have $1200 for her any day he chooses to part with this speedy daughter of the mighty Red Glen.

We Will Buy

A 50c. Bottle of Liquozone and Give it to You to Try.

We want you to know about Liquozone, and the product itself can tell you more than we. So we ask you to let us buy you a bottle—a full-size bottle—to try. Let it prove that it does what medicine cannot do. See what a tonic it is. Learn that it does kill germs. Then you will use it always, as we do, and as millions of others do.

This offer itself should convince you that Liquozone does as we claim. We would certainly not buy a bottle and give it to you if there was any doubt of results. You want those results; you want to be well and to keep well. And you can't do that—nobody can—without Liquozone.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of different cases, that Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a Liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you.

Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

"Did you ever hear anything so idiotic as that talk of Mrs. Softers' when she is addressing her baby?" queried one woman of another in a street car.

"Yes, I think I have," was the reply.

"Then, for Heaven's sake, where was it?"

"I once heard a fat man talking to his canary bird."

Tess—She was vaccinated the other day, I hear.

Jess—Yes, but she was awfully disappointed about it.

Tess—What's the matter? Didn't it take?

Jess—Oh, yes, but the stupid doctor neglected to say anything complimentary about her pretty arm.—Philadelphia Press.

"Yes," said the spectacles, "I feel myself a little above the nose, but it isn't good policy to speak ill of the bridge that carries me over the eyes."

"Do you know the meaning of the word ignoramus?"

"I do."

"What is it?"

"A stranger like yerself."

RESTRICTING NUISANCES.

Bill Before Ontario Legislature to Prevent Erection of Stables in Residential Districts of Toronto.

BUT THEY MIGHT BE BUILT IN FREDERICTON WITH IMPUNITY.

Toronto News:—The dispute between the city and the City Dairy Company in respect to the erection of a stable at the rear of the Company's premises on Spadina Avenue, came before the municipal committee during the Legislature by Dr Beattie Nesbitt, providing that livery stables and apartment houses should be considered as objectionable features which the city would have power to prohibit in residential districts.

In spite of the absence of representatives of the City Dairy Company, who, it was supposed, were not aware that the matter would be discussed then, the committee approved the restriction of livery stables, but decided not to interfere with apartment houses.

Mr. E. B. Ryckman, arguing in support of the bill, said that Mr. Timothy Eaton was obliged recently to pay a man $7,000 not to proceed with the erection of an apartment house in the vicinity of his residence. If it had been erected it would have caused a great depreciation in surrounding real estate.

He spoke strongly against livery stables, and cited as an example the new stables of the City Dairy Company excavations for which had been commenced.

"They may give us sterilized milk, but they cannot sterilize horses. A livery stable would be a summer pastime compared to these stables. The City Dairy Company take good care to put them at a greater distance from their dairy than from our fine residences," said Mr. Ryckman.

Mr. Preston thought the representatives of the City Dairy Company should be given an opportunity to be heard. However, most of the members seemed to think that livery stables, as a rule, were nuisances in residential districts, and that municipal councils should have power to prohibit them if they wished.
