

CIRCUS MEN'S CRIME.

Employees of Lemon Bros. Drugged Their Victim at Grand Mere, Quebec.

Quebec, June 29.—The four prisoners, two white men and two colored, young men, members of the Lemon Brothers' circus, who were arrested at Grand Mere on Monday last, in connection with the assault upon the young girl named Touzin, and subsequent shooting of an Indian guide named Robertson, at Roberval, and of a young girl at Chambard Junction, left here yesterday morning by the Quebec and Lake St. John Railway in charge of Sergeant Buteau and Constables Leader and Gagnon, of the Provincial Police for Roberval.

District Magistrate Vallee came to Quebec from Roberval to consult with the attorney general's office respecting the prisoners and their disposition when it was decided that the preliminary investigation would have to take place at Roberval, where the crime was committed.

In his account of the outrage, Mr. Vallee said: "The Lemon Bros. circus arrived at Roberval on Saturday and only gave one performance in the afternoon, when the tents were packed with people. Among those who attended the circus was the young girl Touzin, accompanied by her father and uncle. At the conclusion of the performance the three left the main tent together. The girl, aged fourteen and a half years, seeing her father at a distance, told her uncle that she would join him, and left him for that purpose. As she was passing by one of the tents she was seized and drawn under the canvas, and apparently drugged, as she has been almost in a trance ever since. She was subsequently carried over to a round house a short distance from the main tent.

"This happened at five o'clock in the afternoon and a number of the Lake St. John Railway employees, who were working nearby, noticed the circus hands going and coming from the building. At first very little attention was paid to their movements, but at last one of the railway employees ventured in and was a witness of what was going on. The party with the young victim at the time was identified but escaped for the time being. He was subsequently arrested. The poor girl was unable to speak when rescued and could hardly mention her name. However, her rescuers brought her to her parents in the village and a warrant was immediately sworn out at the request of the father, against certain of the circus hands, but when an arrest was attempted revolvers and sticks were brought into use by the circus people one of the colored men arrested being particularly remarked when brandishing a revolver. "The victim's absence had been noticed by her father, who went to the circus grounds but could not find his daughter, and looked around for her among friends. It was known in the village that a young girl had been kidnapped, but the details of her outrage were not then known, or otherwise the circus hands would probably have had a rough time.

A number of witnesses have identified the four prisoners, who claim that two young white men, James Caldwell, from Toronto, and Allsbury of Chicago, were the worst offenders.

MIDDLE SOUTHAMPTON.

June 24.—A pleasant little function was held at the residence of Mr. N. W. Brown on the evening of June 24th by the members of the Electric Reading Club of this place. Mr. Brown was presented with a Morris chair.

It was all the more pleasing to the members of the Club because it was a delightful surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Brown, neither having had the slightest inkling of the affair.

Mr. Brown's reply to the address was a genuine treat. He always was one of the most pleasant and ready of speakers.

The address presented with the chair was as follows: To Mr. N. W. Brown, B. A., president of the Electric Reading Club: Dear Sir,—Casting about for some way to show our appreciation of your work in the Club, we hit upon this Morris chair, and present it as a token of the worth of your exposition of things literary for our benefit.

Although we fully realize that your work has been a labour of love, yet we will not let that deny us the pleasure it gives us of showing tangible evidence of our appreciation for your efforts in behalf of the Club. We refuse to allow ourselves to imagine what the Friday evenings for the past two years would have been without the Club. Now we will always remember them with pleasure not to say anything of the pleasure it has been to us, and you, having made this possible, will understand why we wish to present some memento of the pleasant, profitable evenings of the past two winters, spent in the company of John Ruskin and Shakespeare. Our admiration for these great men have increased greatly through your careful work and explanations. We do not mean to say that you have found them out for us, nor we do not mean to say that we never admired them to some extent, but we can truly say that we hardly realized their possibilities until your thorough demonstration of their usefulness to us through your work in the Club. So now we again refer to the great pleasure it gives us to leave this souvenir of our visit, and hope that you and your honorable wife will be as well pleased with it as your friends have been in planning this little surprise.

A Western Writer's High Tribute to the Magnificence of the Canadian Rockies.

A well known western author, Mr. do. Patron Glendon, writing from Banff, to the officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway, pays the following tribute to the magnificence of the scenery of the Canadian Rockies:

"No matter what superlatives you use, you cannot exaggerate the grandeur and glories of the scenery on the Canadian Pacific Railway between Banff and Vancouver. I do not claim to be a globe trotter, who has seen it all, or who knows it all, for my little travels have been confined to a few trips in Switzerland and Austria, and most of the European countries, and I think that I have been on all the trans-continental lines in the United States of America, certainly all the mountain lines, including the Denver & Rio Grande, which takes in the greatest mountain scenery, including wonderful Fujiyama, but put them all together and they do not excel, and I think, do not equal the C. P. R. scenery. That scenery seems to be to be a sort of Railway Scenic Multiplier, for the Fraser River, Canon is the Royal George multiplied and enlarged and glorified. The trip up the Kicking Horse Canon is Marshall Pass magnified and the awesomeness thereof intensified to the highest power. And so it is throughout the whole trip to say nothing of the attractiveness of the Bow Falls right by this hotel, that for swiftness and beauty and surroundings are as fine as the far famed falls of the Rhine. But, there, I must not weary you with description, for no one can adequately describe what he sees from the C. P. R. trains from here to the coast. He can try, but his best will be the reality just about what stage scenery moon is to the original."

THE PRESBYTERIAL.

Business of the Closing Sessions.

The St. John Presbyterian meeting opened Thursday morning with devotional exercises led by Mrs. Rankine of Woodstock.

A resolution of sympathy with Rev. J. A. McLean and family of Harvey, on the death of Mrs. McLean, a former worker in the organization, was unanimously adopted.

A resolution of sympathy was also passed with Miss Stevens of St. Stephen on her impaired state of health.

Interesting addresses on missionary work were delivered by Mrs. Rankine and Mrs. James Ross of St. John.

There was a long and animated discussion over a proposal to extend to other Presbyteries of the province the privilege of engaging in both home and foreign mission work, now enjoyed exclusively by the St. John Presbytery.

It was pointed out by some of the speakers that the question was one for the parent society to deal with, and it was finally decided to postpone further consideration until the October meeting.

Miss McCully of Truro, who addressed the meeting before adjournment, suggested that the society should engage exclusively in foreign mission work, and allow the men to look after the home missions.

Mrs. Ross of St. John, thought that by following this course the society would be cutting off the branch of the tree that supported it.

The meeting adjourned at twelve o'clock.

Thursday afternoon the delegates were entertained to a drive about the town by the members of the St. Paul Auxiliary.

Pittsburg and Steel.

Another steel plant at Pittsburg, starting out with a backing of $15,000,000, likely to run up into the hundreds of millions as time goes on, will serve to render that city more than ever the iron and steel capital of the world. A syndicate of its business men has just paid $1,500,000 for 600 acres of land near Alleghippa, on the Ohio, about fifteen miles from the city, and the work is to be carried forward with a rush. In addition to steel mills, a large blast furnace and a plant for the manufacture of pressed steel cars are to be built.

To Succeed.

Dr. Samuel A. Green, the historian, says that the late ex-Governor Boutwell once gave these hints to a student at the Groton academy: "If you wish to take a college course I trust you will be able to do so. But there are three things you must have to succeed—industry, integrity and civility. You cannot get along without civility." This advice made so much impression upon the boy that his grandfather has the words printed on a little card for distribution to friends.

CURLS THAT LAST.

A Method That Gives Results That Defy Climatic Conditions.

Here is one woman's secret method of curling her hair so that it remains fluffy and wavy in spite of any climate. Even humidity or salt air, it is claimed, does not affect hair so treated.

The method consists in the use of a simple egg wash and the doing up of the hair in a peculiar manner before rolling it around the kid rollers.

The white of one egg is stirred slightly, but not beaten or separated in any way. This liquid is then diluted with a little water, preferably rose water, although soft water of any sort may be used, with a few drops of any favorite perfume, to give the hair a delicate odor. One-third as much water as white of an egg are the proportions given, and this should be kept in a small, wide mouthed jar upon ice, if possible, where it will keep for a week or until it is all used. When not in use the kid rollers should be kept in a sachet, rather strongly scented.

At night the hair that is to be waved is parted from the back hair and the latter rolled up out of the way. Moisten a comb repeatedly and draw it through the hair to be curled until it is thoroughly damp, then divide the hair into strands, and before winding each strand around the curler twist it round and round tightly, then roll it round and round the curler. It is the first twisting before wrapping it around the curler that makes the peculiar fluffiness that is so much desired. The wrapping it around the kid roller makes it wave, and the egg wash causes it to retain the fluffiness.

The curl given by this method is most natural, and if the fluffiness is not desired a plain wave is made by merely wrapping the hair about the kid roller as usual, omitting the twisting described above. This sort of wave will last for two or three weeks.

TOWEL HOLDER.

An Attractive and Useful Addition to One's Bedroom.

The young girl's bedroom, or any bedroom, for that matter, should be the very ideal of neatness and cleanliness, and all its hangings and fittings should be adopted with this end in view. Remember that all things that can be taken down and washed and thereafter rehung will be found to give a room that delightful fragrance suggestive of cleanliness, flowers and of grandmother's linen chest.

Towels are not always as neatly disposed in a bedroom as they should be, very often the back of a chair or the end of the washstand serving as their resting place after use. The illustration shows wooden rings arranged by means of ribbon or colored lawn to serve as an excellent and attractive towel holder.—American Queen.

A Dainty Luncheon.

Especially pretty and dainty for a luncheon for young girls or a bride elect are forgetmenot decorations in palest blue, white and green. Broad bands of pale blue satin ribbon should extend from the four corners of the table, crossing in the center and hanging in loose fringed ends at the corners. A wicker basket either of the natural color or enameled in white and filled with forgetmenots, some of which are allowed to droop over the sides of the basket to the spread, forms the prettiest central piece. If the luncheon is a small affair and you have enough individual vases of the same style, instead of laying a cluster of forgetmenots at each place have the flowers in water, the vase standing at the right of the plate. Tie the small bouquets with narrow blue satin ribbon, and on one of the loose ends fasten the name cards. Tie the sandwich rolls with pale blue ribbon, use dishes in plain white, white and gold or blue and white, if you have them, and be sure that the bonbons and other little dainties are in the prevailing color.

Woman's Age a Tabooed Topic.

"I am continually surprised at the rudeness of people in referring to old age," said a lady recently who is getting along in years. "Acquaintances who are no doubt kindly intentioned, as they take time from busy lives to visit with me, express astonishment that I am able to see to knit or to sew. I feel as though they must also be smothering surprise that I exhibit signs of intelligence. All such personalities seem to me exceedingly rude, yet one such caller referred to my age seven times during the course of a brief visit. I make no secret of the years I have spent upon earth, but scarcely think the matter of sufficient importance to the public to be made the sole topic of conversation."

One Came Out After The Other.

Suffered with Boils for Six Months.

Mr. Elie Braizeau, Meadowside Station, Ont., tells of his experience with Boils and Burdock Blood Bitters.

He says:—"In the Spring of 1889 I was continually troubled with boils—one coming after another for about six months. I suffered terribly, and was in a very bad condition. In August I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and began to feel better after taking it. I kept on until I had used five bottles, and can truthfully say that I was cured, and have remained so ever since. I have not had the least sign of a boil."

There is nothing like Burdock Blood Bitters for bad blood, boils, pimples, dyspepsia, indigestion, or any trouble arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.
