CANADIAN VICTORY AT BISLEY.

Our Riflemen Won the Much Coveted Kolapore Cup.

THE SEVENTH TIME IT WAS CARRIED OFF BY DOMINION RIFLEMEN.

Duke of Connaught Inspected and Complimented the Canadians.

As exclusively announced in The Herald yesterday, the Canadian riflemen at Bisley won the much coveted Kolapore Cup, and the following details of the great victory are given in the cable despatches:

Bisley Camp, July 15.—The important event on the programme of the National Rifle Association yesterday, was the Kolapore Cup match, for which Canada, the mother country, Transvaal, New Zealand and Guernsey competed. Canada captured the prize with a total score of 758 points. Transvaal was second with 756, mother country third with 752, New Zealand fourth with 749 and Guernsey fifth with 735.

Following are the scores of the different teams:

Team	Range	Score
Canada	200 500 600 T.T.	758
Transvaal	250 251 247 758	756
Mother Country	255 246 255 756	752
New Zealand	251 249 252 752	749
Guernsey	255 241 268 749	735
	244 244 247 735

The Canadian team was made up of: Staff Sergt. Crowe, Guelph, Ont. Capt. Elliott, of 12th, Toronto. Staff Sergt. Kerr, of 48th, Toronto. Capt. Forest, of 65th, Vancouver. Capt. Stuart, of 6th, Vancouver. Col. Sergt. Moore, of 57th, Peterboro.

INSPECTED BY A PRINCE. The Duke of Connaught inspected the Canadians, who were drawn up in front of the pavilion yesterday for the purpose. Passing down the line the duke spoke to Capt. J. Duff Stuart, and expressed the pleasure it gave him to see so many officers of the 6th Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles in the team. He asked Capt. Stuart to convey his kindest regards to the officers, and members of the regiment, and said that he hoped that some day in the near future he would have the pleasure of inspecting the regiment. The duke congratulated Staff Sergt. Kerr of the Toronto Highlanders, on his splendid score of nineteen straight bull's eyes in the Gregory match.

Speaking to Col. Hession, the duke remarked that the men had adopted khaki. He considered that the men looked very smart. After entering the pavilion the duke looked around, noticed many photographs, and remarked: "If you don't mind, Colonel Hession, I will send you up a photograph of myself to hang up."

The duke also complimented Adjutant Davidson on the smart appearance of the team.

The Canadians were much disappointed at the failure to win the McKinnon Cup. Colonel Hession offered a prize of $25 to the member of the Kolapore Cup team making the highest score at the three ranges, and the same amount to the member making the highest score at 600 yards.

The scores made yesterday in unsquad competitions were: In the Kynoch, Private C. L. Morrice, First P. W. F., Montreal, 44; Sergt. W. Pugh, R. C. A., Quebec, 42; Staff Sergt. H. Kerr, 4th Regiment, Toronto, 42.

(Canadians have won the Kolapore Cup seven times, namely, 1873, 1875, 1881, 1884, 1889, 1896 and 1905. In 1873 and 1875 Col. Loggie of Fredericton, was a member of the winning team.)

The Kolapore Cup is not a cup, but is in reality a pair of vases of antique design, and made of solid gold. The trophy, which is of very fine workmanship, was presented by H. H. the late Rajah of Kolapore in 1873. It is a challenge cup, and the conditions are:

It must be fired by seven shots, with a time limit of one hour for each team at each range, the marksmen to be in uniform. The match is open to teams of eight men, one team of volunteers from the Mother Country, one team from the militia or volunteers of each British colony, dependency or federation, and one team from members home on leave of the Indian staff corps, or of the covenanted or uncovenanted Indian service, or Indian volunteers or all four. Accompanying the trophy is a money prize of eighty pounds to each team, exclusive of the mother country team, which makes the highest score. Special commemorative silver bowls are also given to the captain, adjutant, and each member of the winning team. The Kolapore Cup is valued at one hundred and ten pounds.

ANGLERS RETURN.

Messrs. James S. Neill and John Palmer returned this afternoon from a week's fishing trip to the Dungarvon river. They had a very pleasant outing and succeeded in landing quite a number of salmon and grilse.

BAPTISTS IN THE CHURCH.

Rev. J. D. Freeman Before the World Congress.

The Baptist World Congress, now being held in London, England, opened on Tuesday, Rev. J. D. Freeman, M. A., pastor of the Bloor street Baptist church, Toronto, formerly of Fredericton, read a paper on "The Place of Baptists in the Christian Church." The essential Baptist principle Mr. Freeman set out as follows: "An acute and vivid consciousness of the sovereignty of Christ, accompanied by a steadfast determination to secure its complete and consistent recognition throughout the world and in all the works and ways of men."

In the course of an interesting paper Mr. Freeman said:

"The place of Baptists in the Church in the future is destined to be a larger place than we have yet achieved. The world has not outgrown the need of Baptist principles. It was never in greater need of them than it is today. Our principles have not yet manifested the full force that is in them. New light and power are to break forth from them in the days to come. Loose them, and let them go."

They have in them, through the quickening of the sense of personal answerableness to Christ, the power to sanctify the family and make the home place of richer spiritual culture. They have in them the power to secure for the Church a more intelligent, comprehensive and universal consecration of her members. They have in them the power to mitigate the antagonisms of commercial life.

"Setting before capitalist and tradesmen alike the higher standards that necessarily accompany the sense of personal responsibility to Christ, they will go far to break the tyranny of both combined capital and organized labor. They have in them the promise of succor and deliverance for millions who now groan under the oppressions of the autocratic Governments of the world. In a word, they bid each man who lives under the blue sky to stand upon his feet and hearken to his Lord and Master Jesus Christ, and go with Him up to the heights of noblest manhood."

Would Take It.

He was a theatrical lover, and she didn't like his style in the least.

He was constant in his devotion, however, and that made matters worse. She had tried gentle means to get rid of him, but he had disregarded them with painful persistence.

In this moment of her desperation he felt it incumbent upon him to propose to her, as men under similar circumstances so often do.

"Dear one," he exclaimed, hurling himself tragically at her feet, "I love you. My life is yours. Will you take it?"

She did not look like a murderess.

"Mr. Singleton," she responded, with calm determination, "I will."

He gazed at her rapturously.

"Don't do that!" she begged, drawing back from him as if in horror. "I have taken your life, as you requested me to do, and you are henceforth to all intents and purposes dead."

He seemed dazed.

"I do not, Mr. Singleton," she continued, turning aside, "desire to have a dead person in the house, and if you do not go away at once I shall send for an undertaker and have you removed to the nearest cemetery."

Then the dreadful situation in which his own precipitate folly had placed him was revealed, and he removed himself with promptness and dispatch.

The Princess Victoria.

Princess Victoria Alexandra Olga Mary, to give her full name, who has just been operated upon for appendicitis, is the second daughter of the King, and the only one of the three who is unmarried. The eldest daughter of His Majesty is the Princess Louise, who married the Duke of Fife in 1889, and the youngest is Princess Maude, better known as Princess Charles, since her marriage to Prince Charles of Denmark in 1896. This was said to be a love match from the first, Prince Charles and his handsome Princess reside in England, the Prince bearing a commission in the British navy. The British civil list makes a provision of £10,000 for the maintenance of the King's daughters, which gives each of them about $30,000 per annum. Princess Victoria has not been situated for several years, though this malady was, of course, as unexpected as when it attacked the King, just prior to his coronation.

Results of Multiplication.

In the matter of rooks and starlings, says a writer in The Daily Graphic, it seems to be the unanimous opinion of observers that changed habits have resulted from their multiplication in consequence of protecting all bird life. Almost every game preserver and gamekeeper will tell you that, owing to their increased numbers, the rooks have become almost worse robbers of nests than even the carrion crow, while the hard things which the fruit growers say about the multiplied starling, usually bracketed with the rook as one of the farmer's two best friends would fill large volumes.

November.

November was styled by the ancient Saxons, "Wind-monath," or the "wind-month," from the gales which are so prevalent at this season of the year, which obliged the early Scandinavian seamen to lay up their keels on shore and refrain from exposing themselves on the ocean till the advent of more genial weather in the ensuing year. It bore also the name of "Blotmonath," or the "bloody-month," from the circumstances of its being customary then to slaughter great numbers of cattle to be salted for winter use. The epithet had possibly some reference to the sacrificial rites practised at this time.

Pat's Trouble.

An Irishman came to a doctor complaining that he had noises in his head.

"O! have thim arl the toime," he said, "an' sometimes O! can hear thim fifty feet away!"
