BASE BALL.

A GREAT WINDUP.

New York, Oct. 15.—Amid the frenzied plaudits of more than 24,000 baseball enthusiasts the New York National League club won the world's championship on the Polo grounds yesterday by defeating the Philadelphia American league team by the score of 2 to 0.

Of the four previous games the Giants won three and Philadelphia one. With Mathewson pitching, New York took the opening game in Philadelphia, but lost the second on the Polo grounds, with Bender pitted against McGinnity. Mathewson retrieved this defeat in the ensuing game at Philadelphia, making the record two for New York against their opponent's one, and in the next game on the home grounds New York with McGinnity in the box, added another victory.

Mathewson and Bender were the opposing pitchers yesterday in what proved to be the final game. In the opening inning the New York pitcher was apparently not at his best, while his Indian adversary afforded a splendid exhibition of the pitcher's art. Mathewson, however, soon rallied, and, although he contributed the only two fielding errors in the game, he held the visitors safe and shut them out for the third time. The victory, however, was not entirely due to his effectiveness, as the clean, sharp fielding of the New York men aided materially. The visitors weakened in the infield, and after his brilliant opening Bender lost control.

The division of the receipts will net the winning players $1102 each, and the losers $420.

By the fifth inning not a man on either side had reached second base. In the fifth, however, Mertes, who helped more than any other player to win the game on Friday, scored the first run for New York. He got his base on balls, and went to second when Bender also gave Dahlen a free pass. Both advanced a base on Devlin's bunt along the third base line, and Mertes rushed home on Gilbert's long fly to left field.

The Giants scored their only other run in the last inning. After Gilbert filed out, Mathewson walked and Roger Bresnahan hit out toward the left bleacher for two bases, sending Mathewson to third. Browne's hit to Bender allowed Mathewson to score, thus making every one of the games played for the championship of the world a clear shut-out.

When Bender faced the Giants yesterday he had a friendly crowd with him. Those who had seen him pitch last Tuesday had hoped ever since to see him matched against "Matty". The Indian did not pitch the game he did earlier in the week. He had only one ball, a swift, straight one, which the Giants found enough times to bring in their two runs.

The visitors, although they made only one hit in the first two innings, spoiled so many good balls for Mathewson that McGraw went out and had a talk with his pitcher. Then Matty began to put his famous drop balls over the plate, with the result that the Athletics could not get a man to third, let alone the home plate. Man after man walked up either to "fan out" or to pop an easy fly to the outfield.

AUTOMOBILING.

AUTO OWNERS RETALIATE.

London, Oct. 13.—Irritation at the speed limit for automobiles in this country is becoming more and more pronounced, and as parliament cannot be got to act in what automobilists consider a reasonable manner; they are taking matters in their own hands to fight the underhand tricks of the police, with rather amusing results.

Incidentally it may be mentioned that Lord Sandwich, presiding at a meeting of the standing joint committee of the Huntingdonshire county council the other day when a resolution was passed condemning the speed limit and urging its withdrawal, said he had travelled 13,000 miles in an automobile without an accident.

Charles Jarrott, tired of what he regards as petty persecution and excessive fines, has organized a great campaign against the county police, trap. Several complete routes of the blue force on Brighton and Portsmouth roads have already taken place.

The automobilists' forces is divided into scouts and patrols. The duties of patrols include the observance and report of any incident of interest, the offer of assistance to automobilists who have broken down, the warning of all drivers who may be travelling too fast, and the collection of numbers of cars and names of witnesses in the event of collisions with the police.

The scouts are professional racing cyclists, whose business is to find the police traps, keep in touch with the patrols, and convey warnings and information to drivers with all speed. They will make a full report to the committee of the association, so that the latter can survey the time with a view of exposing their futility before the coming royal commission on automobiles.

Stenson Cooke, secretary of the association, and at one time a keen volunteer, in an interview gave a graphic description of the methods of scouts. Immediately the news of a police trap is brought in by the patrol a pair of scouts are sent out. They approach the spot and by carefully searching for footprints are enabled to locate the probable position of the trap. They then make a detour and get behind the position, and more than likely will then be rewarded by the sight of two bulky policemen crouching in undignified attitudes at the distance of a furlong from each other.

A plain clothes man will probably be seen on the road wearing a pantomime beard, smock coat and regulation boots, which he struggles to hide. Then the scouts dart away and warn all cars as they come along the road.

The great objection of automobilists to these traps is that they are in nine cases out of ten, worked in places where there could be no possible danger to any living creature from automobiles. They are seldom placed in dangerous parts of the road or in villages.

THE TURF.

WILL DAN PATCH'S MILE IN 1.55½ BE ACCEPTED.

Will Dan Patch's new world's pacing record of 1.55½ for a mile, made at Lexington last Saturday, he accepted by the National American Trotting Association as an official record? It will be remembered that in 1903 all records made behind a windshield were thrown out by both associations. While there was no windshield on the sulky of the pacemaker in front of Dan Patch, he paced so close behind the runner that the nose of Dan Patch sometimes rubbed against the back of Scot Harrison, who drove the pace-maker. There was also a canvas stretch between the wheels of the sulky of the runner, which was for the purpose of keeping the dirt and dust from flying in the champion's face. No one will deny that these aids furnished ample protection for the pacer against the wind, and enabled him to cut his former record of 1.56, also made behind a runner, three-quarters of a second. However, it was a great performance, and if James Galtcomb, owner of Audubon Boy, thinks he has the fastest pacer in the world, he is at liberty to use the same methods as the owner of Dan Patch employed to attain his new mark. Without a runner in front Dan Patch's best mile is 1.59½, while Audubon Boy beat that mark a quarter of a second without a runner in front at Readville several weeks ago. Aside from Dan Patch's remarkable mile in 1.55½, a new world's three-heat record was established in the 2.03 pace at Lexington. Hazel Patch won the first heat in 2.02½; in the second heat Locanda hung up 2.02, coming back in the third heat and pacing the mile in 2.04½. Locanda's second heat of 2.02 is the fastest mile paced or trotted in a race this year.

GOOD MOUNT TO FOLLOW.

New York, Oct. 13.—The feature of the racing at Belmont Park yesterday was the riding of Jockey Miller. Out of four mounts he rode four winners. His ride on Cederstrom, a 20 to 1 shot in the Ramapo handicap, was excellent. After getting off none too well, he nursed his mount along to the stretch, where he went to the front and won in a drive by three quarters of a length from Merry Lark with Dedouin third.

Miller began the bay by riding D'Arkle, at 6 to 1, to victory. He followed this up by winning with Cassandra at 15 to 1, in the third race and Red Knight, in the fifth race.

THE WORST OF A COLD.

Is how suddenly it comes. No time to run to a drug store, croup develops, the lungs are effected with too late. Keep Catarrhoxone on hand—it kills colds instantly. Something magical about the way it cures Catarrh and Bronchitis. Catarrhoxone is the best remedy because it cures in nature's way; it heals, soothes and restores permanently. Carry a Catarrhoxone inhaler in your pocket, use it occasionally and you'll never catch cold—that's worth remembering.

A CHEQUE MISSING.

Another Complaint Against Mayor of Nelson.

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 16.—It transpired at the last meeting of the city council that a marked cheque for $5,000, deposited with the city by contractors Tiernay and McBeath for performance of a contract on the city power plant, had disappeared. It was supposed to be in the city safe, to which access could only be had by the city treasurer and the mayor.

Treasurer Wasson says that it was removed by Mayor Houston. The council has written to Mayor Houston asking him for its return, but in the meantime have asked the contractors to put up another cheque for the same amount. There has been no time for a reply from Mayor Houston, who is supposed to be in the gold fields of Nevada.

A WOMAN'S PECULATIONS.

Robbed her Employers During a long Period.

New York, Oct. 16.—Mary F. Golding, cashier for the Larkin Soap Company, confesses to Police Magistrate Finn that she had embezzled at least two thousand dollars from her employers within four years and had made use of it to support and care for her father, mother and invalid sister in Buffalo.

The young woman was unsuspected even by her employers when, to save another employee upon whom suspicion of her peculation had fallen, she voluntarily went to her employer with the same confession which she made in court. For weeks the girl had worked with accountants employed for the specific purpose of tracing these peculations, but so well had she concealed her work that she remained the adviser of both the accountants and of detectives up to Saturday.

Miss Golding's salary was $15 a week. Four years ago, she said, she put an extra $10 with the amount one week to buy medicine for her sister, intending to put the money back again. But when weeks passed without her peculation being found out, and when she was again pressed for money for her parents and sister, Miss Golding began to take money regularly. She said that she was now almost the only support of the family in Buffalo. She was held in $500 bail for trial, and went to jail in default of this sum.

FORMER GIBSON LADY.

Wedded to the Man of Her Choice at Vancouver, B. C.

Vancouver World, Oct. 7.—One of the prettiest church weddings of the season took place at Wesley Methodist church at 1.30 on Wednesday afternoon, October 4, when Mr. Alexander J. Kent and Miss M. Miriam Kyle were united in marriage. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. John Kyle of 870 Burrard street, and during her residence in this city for the past couple of years has been one of the most popular teachers of the Mount Pleasant school. Prior to taking up her residence in this city with her parents, she lived in Gibson, N. B., and resided also for a time in England in the same province, where she held the position of principal of the Superior school. Since her arrival in Vancouver she has taken a very active part in church and Epworth league work, holding an official position in the latter organization, and was a member of the Wesley church choir. The groom is a well known and prosperous merchant of Moosejaw, N. W. T., where he is a member of Kent & Brown Co., Ltd., general merchants, and has been a resident of that thriving town for a number of years past, coming previously from the same province as his bride, although his native town is Bathurst. The sacred edifice had been most tastefully decorated with palms, autumn leaves and white flowers by friends of the bride, who were present in large numbers to witness the ceremony, which was performed by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Pescott. To the soul-stirring strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March artistically rendered by Mr. Wells, the organist, the bride entering the church escorted by her father, her brother, Mr. J. Albert Kyle, and Miss Maude E. Kyle, officiating as the bridesmaid and bridesmaid.

The bridesmaid wore a handsome gown of grey velvet over pink with (white) lace trimmings and a white picture hat. She carried a lovely bouquet of pink carnations and smilax. The bride was becomingly attired in a cream brocade moire silk, with lace and pearl trimmings, and wore the traditional bridal veil. Her bridal bouquet was composed of white carnations and smilax. Immediately following the ceremony, which was held at the home of the bride, which had also been most beautifully decorated for the occasion. A large number of friends took advantage of the opportunity to call and extend their heartiest congratulations. The bride and groom received their guests in the drawing-room under a wedding-bell. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold necklace and lock- et, to the bridesmaid a gold ring set with opals, while the bridesmaid was the recipient of gold cufflinks. As a testimony of the high esteem in which the contracting parties are held, the many gifts received of a handsome and substantial character bear abundant witness. The bride's going-away dress was of chocolate brown broadcloth, with white panne velvet turban. The happy couple left on the evening train for Moosejaw, their future home, a large concourse of friends assembling at the depot to wish them God-speed and renew their wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

THE THIN MAN'S DANGER.

He can't resist disease germs—that's why he's such a mark for consumption. In this land of plenty, thinness is wickedness, especially when it's so easily overcome with Ferrozone. This remarkable tissue builder makes you fat quickly; it does so by forming blood that's rich, nourishing and health-giving. Ferrozone supplies the nutriment needed by worn-out nerves, rapidly constructs muscle and fatty tissue. The form fills out, the cheeks redden, proving that weight is being added. Taste well and stay well, use Ferrozone. Fifty chocolate coated tablets in a box for fifty cents or six boxes for $2.50 at all dealers.

FISCAL CAMPAIGN STIRS BRITAIN.

Free Traders Have Resumed Fight Against Chamberlain.

London, Oct. 16.—The autumn political campaign is now in full swing, the fiscal question being the prominent feature. Lord Ripon, speaking at Liverpool, said that to summon a colonial conference under existing conditions would be a grave scandal, and would practically be utilizing the colonies for election purposes. Liberals must say frankly to the colonies that they would not tax the people's food. Much was heard nowadays about binding together the scattered portions of the Empire. There were many proposals, political, military and otherwise, to attain that great end, but none of them surpassed in their possible future results what might be accomplished by sending forth from the Mother Country to the colonies those who would be useful there, and who would rise in time to high positions in life. Emigration of that kind would be found an equal benefit to the Mother country and the colonies.

"THE DUKE'S COMMITTEE" HEARD.

A special committee of the Duke of Devonshire's Free Trade League, consisting of thirty-seven Lancashire cotton merchants and manufacturers, deals with the Canadian aspects of the fiscal question in a grey book issued yesterday, being the free trade reply to the cotton report of Mr. Chamberlain's Tariff Commission League. It argues that inasmuch as British manufacturers already supply two-thirds of the Canadian imports of cotton textiles, a preference is unnecessary. Moreover, in so far as Canada will buy more goods because of the foreign immigration, the British people, under a preference, would be taxed to swell the prosperity of aliens. Great Britain had better directly subsidize British emigration.

The league denies that British trade with the colonies is increasing faster than with foreign countries. It does not believe the Canadian Ministry will do much if anything, to make the entry of British goods easier, and believes that a preference would generate a friction with the colonies which would easily lead to the complete disintegration of the Empire.

Soft old linen is almost invaluable for the final polishing of furniture. It is also good for polishing silver, brass and other metals, and if not so worn as to shed lint it will polish glass.

HALF HIS LIFE IN EXILE.

London, Oct. 13.—The Express publishes the following from Kobe: Among the Russian refugees from Saghalien temporarily quartered in Kobe is a man evidently of education and distinction. He is Alexi Torigoni, a doctor of law, and was condemned to exile in Saghalien 25 years ago as an accomplice of the assassins of Alexander II.

He is now 52 years of age. Dr. Torigoni speaks highly of the manner in which the convicts have been treated by the Japanese authorities. He came to Japan with the Russian civil officials.

Dr. Torigoni knew nothing of the actual progress of the war until his arrival in this country, and on learning of the successive disasters to the Russian arms, he said:

"Had the Russian government adopted the principles of reform which I advocated 25 years ago there would have been no such disaster."

Dr. Torigoni has written many books during his exile. Five years after his arrival at Saghalien he was freed from his chains, and five years later became an exile settler. He is going to America.
