DAILY HERALD.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1905

ABOUT MR. HUBBARD.

The Fredericton Herald says that Mr. W. W. Hubbard, who is now engaged by the provincial opposition, formerly took pay from the government as an agricultural worker. Does the Herald suggest that Mr. Hubbard was disqualified for future usefulness by these services to the department of agriculture?—Sun.

(Not at all, but there is an impression that while accepting pay for services from one party, a man should not be too thick with its opponents. Members of the legislature protested against Mr. Hubbard being employed by the government, declaring that he was not giving a good return for his salary. The government investigated and Mr. Hubbard was struck off the government pay roll. Now he has become Tory organizer and may earn the salary he is to receive.

This much may be added about Mr. Hubbard. Nobody ever doubted that even while he was accepting a salary from the government, he was in close confidence of the opposition and nobody has ever had reason to suspect that he ever cast anything but a Tory vote. It is satisfactory, however, for the government to know for a certainty, just where Mr. Hubbard is politically.)

WHITNEY'S SURRENDER.

Premier Whitney of Ontario, after quite a valiant struggle against the influence of the Tory bosses, has at last been compelled to surrender and adopt the sports system to appease his supporters. As a consequence he has called down on his head the severe condemnation of the many thousands of independent men to whom with the assistance of Liberals who had tired of the Ross regime, he owes his present position as leader of the government in the premier province of Canada.

The storm has burst as a result of the government's partizan course with respect to the administration of the liquor license system in Toronto.

When Mr. Whitney came into power the license commissioners who owed their positions to Mr. Ross, resigned, rather than run the risk of dismissal, and Mr. Whitney appointed three of his own friends to the vacancies. Mr. Flavell, the millionaire proprietor of the Toronto News, which had rendered him hearty support in the elections resulting in the change of government, Col. Davidson and Major Murray, all gentlemen of high standing in Toronto, and friends of the Tory premier.

These gentlemen took office with the understanding that they would be permitted to administer the license law free from political influences, and the proceeded along that line, retaining the chief inspector and his two assistants who had held position before the change of government, and were admittedly men who faithfully performed their duties. This however, did not suit the political bosses and ward heeled, who had given Mr. Whitney a great victory in Toronto and they clamored for the heads of the inspectors. Mr. Whitney, it is said, resisted the influence brought to bear upon as long as possible, but in the end had to surrender to the spoilsmen and all three inspectors were summarily dismissed, simply on the ground that they were appointees of the former Liberal license commissioners, and the positions were filled by the appointment of three Tory partisans, one of them a member of the Toronto Mail and Empire staff the Tory organ in Toronto, and all three active heeled.

This precipitated the storm that is at present raging around Mr. Whitney's head, the commissioners of his own appointment, declaring that he had broken faith with them by indignantly throwing up their offices.

No effort is made to justify the dismissal of the inspectors, except on the ground that they were Liberal appointees, and that their positions were demanded by Tory heeled.

Mr. Whitney, as we have said, is being roundly condemned by his independent supporters, and by many of his Tory friends, who anticipate that the Ottawa government will be tempted to reciprocate in kind.

The situation is very awkward for the premier, and leaves him open to the direct and apparently well supported charge that he has surrendered to the spoilsmen, after frequent declarations that he would not adopt such a course, especially in the administration of the license law.

One result of the trouble is the turning of Mr. Flavell's paper, the Toronto News, from an ardent admirer of Mr. Whitney, to an active opponent, roundly condemning him for his lack of backbone in surrendering to the importunities of the spoilsmen.

Among other things the News says: "A clear issue is raised by the dismissal of the License Inspectors in Toronto, and the consequent resignation of the Commissioners, who declare that they have lost the support of the government in the impartial and non-partizan administration of the law." The dismissal is an unconditional surrender to the spoilsmen. There is no complaint against Mr. Hastings and his assistants, and there is no reason for the step except the pressure of those who have been complaining that the distribution of offices to party workers was not proceeding rapidly enough. It is needless to say that it will be exceedingly damaging to the government in its effect on the independent element of the community."

Truro Daily News: A lady teacher, a native of Cumberland, was formerly employed in that county at the pittance of about $200 a year. She went West and is now teaching in the new province of Saskatchewan at $720 a year with expenses but little higher than in Nova Scotia. From Cumberland alone, within two years, fifty of the most capable teachers in that county have gone to the better paid schools of the West. This is a very dark outlook unless something is done here in the East to keep our skilled teachers at home.

At an Amherst Tory gathering Wednesday, the whole Tory opposition in the Nova Scotia assembly was present, but the excessive size of the delegation did not crowd out the other attendants. There are only two members of the party sitting in the assembly. All the other thirty-six good men and true are Liberals, but the Tory party in the Nova Scotia house is one more than the Tory delegation in the new Alberta legislature, where a solitary Russian Mennonite, represents all that is left of Toryism in that province.

A contemporary draws the conclusion that Americans are more wide-awake and active than Canadians, because they poll their votes earlier on election day, but there is method in their promptitude across the border. They are afraid to wait long before voting lest they be personated. If we had a vote in New York, for instance, we should try to get it in the night before the election to make sure that some other fellow didn't vote our name.

The members of St. Andrew's Society are to be congratulated on the success of last night's dinner. The fare was excellent, the music good, the speeches spirited and eloquent, and no jarring politics or other undesirable elements were introduced into the program of the festive gathering. There is nothing like experience for the teaching of valuable lessons.

The Fredericton exhibition management are to be heartily congratulated on the splendid surplus they are able to show from the last show in this city. While other exhibitions generally have a deficit the Fredericton men generally came out on the right side. The surplus this year is $760.59.

The Sun thinks a convention of the Tory party in local politics would be a good thing, forgetful of the fatal result following the last gathering of that kind. Wonder if they'll call Mr. Foster down from Toronto this time?

MUCH APPRECIATED.

"Allisonia" Pays Tribute to Ability and Popularity of a Fredericton Young Lady.

The following appreciative notice of a popular Fredericton young lady appears in the excellent November number of Allisonia, the organ of the Mount Allison University students:

"Hazel Kilburn Palmer came from Fredericton to Mount Allison Ladies' College in the year 1900, starting immediately on the violin course, and taking in addition to that several studies in the Ladies' College and University.

Hazel was a typical college girl, and an acknowledged leader among her school mates as may well be realized from the fact that she held many honorable positions both in the various societies and in school sports. During her five years here, some of the positions she held were: Secretary of the Ecclectic Society, Vice-President of the Mission Band, President of the Tennis Club, Captain of the first Basketball Team, and for two years she was the efficient business manager of Allisonia.

The hockey girls especially will be everlastingly grateful to "Hazel" for the splendid "lift" which made a goal and saved the Mt. A. girls from a "whitewash" in the game with St. John last winter. Indeed, into whatever she undertook, whether work or play, Hazel entered with an enthusiasm and whole heartedness which might well be admired and imitated by any school girl.

Hazel expects to spend this winter at home and is already playing in a local orchestra and has several violin pupils. While at Mount Allison, Hazel gave every promise of being a girl who would surely make a success of anything she might attempt and not only "Allisonia" but her many friends hope that she will have a very successful career as a teacher."

BITS OF NEWS.

A London cable says: Hon Raymond Prefontaine is credited with saying in an interview: "We contemplate placing one cruiser on the Atlantic, another on the Pacific and a third on the great lakes."

Arthur Couillard, aged thirty-five, a St. Roche carter, who solicited fares at the Quebec and Lewis ferry landing, committed suicide Thursday night in Quebec jail by dashing his head against the stone wall of the cell he occupied as a prisoner.

Fire in the P. E. Island railway yards at Charlottetown, Thursday night, destroyed the car shop and blacksmith shop with almost all the contents, including a passenger coach, box car, flanger, patterns, tools, etc. Loss over $60,000. A large number of men will be thrown out of employment.

There is alarm among the authorities of St. Pierre (Miq.) at the extent to which emigration from the colony has grown, more than 1,000 persons of a total population of 6,500 having left there within the past three months. No one will predict what the future of the colony is destined to be. The poorer classes are talking of petitioning the Paris government to permit the annexation of the islands of Newfoundland, for it is pointed out that so long as Newfoundland maintains the bait act St. Pierre's industry cannot thrive.

The delicate task of dismissing three large holiday matinee audiences to avoid a fire panic was accomplished without accident at New York Thursday, when a fire in a factory at 115 to 121 East 73rd street threatened to spread to the east side Amusement district in 14th street, between Third and Fourth avenues. The audience at the Dewey Theatre, Huber's Museum and the Palace Music Hall left the house perfectly. Attaches of the houses were sent throughout the audience and it is largely to their reassuring appearance and to the calm and clear directions given by them that no panic resulted.

You may have observed that dress-makers never seem to tire of their efforts to improve on the work of nature.
