THE CRESCENTS SHUT OUT.

A Moncton Paper's Account of the Marysville-Moncton Game.

(Moncton Transcript, Jan. 26.)

In a game marked by Moncton's splendid combination work, and the otherwise dull play relieved by brilliant individual runs by the forward line, Marysville was defeated and shut out last night by a score of 7 to 0.

The game opened at a swift pace, and lightning-fast hockey was put up in the first half. The second half was broken up by a couple of delays, and the game was much slower, the visitors being on the defence from start to finish.

The ice was in splendid shape, and the game started out at a lively clip, with the puck going into Moncton territory from the face-off. Way made a run out with it, but the Crescents' defence sent it back, and play continued around the local's end for a couple of minutes. Cushing made a run up and passed to Leahy, but "Pokey's" shot went wide, and play went back to the local's end. Then it worked up the ice and settled down around the visitors' territory.

Trites drove in a splendid shot, but Fullerton made just as good a block, and cleared well. Then a few minutes later Cushing passed one over from the wing, and Trites landed it in the net.

Moncton, 1; Marysville, 0.

Play went into the Marysville end again, and was pretty hot around the goal. Leahy made a beautiful run through the defence, but was tripped just as he went to shoot in front of the goal nets. Play was fast around center, and Trites went to the boards two minutes for tripping.

It was while Trites adorned the boards that the second goal was notched by Joe Crockett. Play had gone down to the Moncton end, and Leahy got away with a clear sweep, but the pass was off-side. From the face-off play came up with a rush, and Cushing passed out to Crockett, who scored.

Moncton, 2; Marysville, 0.

Good defence work by the Crescents and hard efforts to score by the locals marked the remainder of the half. Play was nearly altogether in Marysville territory, although a lift or long run occasionally carried the puck out, for Brown to lift it away. Play had been pretty hot around the Marysville goal when Joe Crockett notched the third goal just before the bell rang for half-time.

Moncton, 3; Marysville, 0.

GAME WAS SLOW IN SECOND HALF.

Only occasional flashes of brilliant work by the locals, or exceptionally good runs relieved the monotony of the second half. Play was nearly all the time in the Marysville end of the rink, and only a clever defence kept the tally down.

A pretty piece of combination play led by Way opened the second half, and took the rubber down into the visitors' end, and after a minute of play, Crockett had notched the fourth goal for Moncton, on a swift shot out of a mix-up.

Moncton, 4; Marysville, 0.

Wortman got a chance to touch the puck by going outside of the nets, and pushing an easy one over to the side. Play was pretty close around the nets, and Cushing got a two minute rest for roughing things. There was a long delay while Cain had a skate fixed up, and to relieve the monotony, a couple of fence sections fell down. Play went again into the Marysville end after the face-off, and the visitors were putting up a good defence.

And then Brown's long lift notched the fifth goal. Out of a mix-up the rubber came up to the Moncton point and he lifted it high over the wires straight for the Marysville goal and it dropped into the nets.

Moncton, 5; Marysville, 0.

A brilliant bit of play relieved the monotony. Leahy got the puck near center, and breaking through the Marysville forward line with clever stick-handling took the puck past the cover-point, and jumped clean over McElwain's knee as the latter went to check him; then just as he went to shoot for goal, "Pokey" slipped and missed his shot. Leahy was playing a good game, his shooting and stick-handling being much in evidence; he rained shot after shot straight for the Marysville goal, but all of them were effectually blocked.

Joe put in the sixth one. It was one of Crockett's long drives that did it on a pass from Cushing.

Moncton, 6; Marysville, 0.

Only a couple of times after this did the puck get past center ice. Brown got the rubber and won applause by a clever run, and play was steadily around the Marysville goal. Leahy's efforts were rewarded, for just a few minutes before the gong rang for the close, he netted the Victoria's seventh and last goal with a lifting shot from close quarters.

Moncton, 7; Marysville, 0.

CAPT. INCH SATISFIED.

"It was a good clean game," said Capt. Inch, as he sat in the Marysville dressing-room after the match. "I am perfectly satisfied with the result. I can say right here now that I believe Moncton has a team which can lick anything in the New Brunswick League. They have certainly a great team, and I think they will go through the League series without a defeat."

"EMERGENCY WHISTLES."

"Moncton had us trimmed from the start," said one of the Marysville team followers, "and if they were going to lick us, they might as well have done it good. There's only one thing that I regret about the game, and that is the use of the whistle by a spectator just as the second goal was scored."

The Crescents' strongest point is their shooting, but they are very weak on stick handling and team work. They did very little combination play and seemed to rely more on individual work to win out for them.

Marysville put up a strong defence game in the second half. With three men at goal they made a barrier almost impenetrable, and only vulnerable at close quarters. With the puck around their goal all the time, they held down the score in good shape, although bombarded steadily by driving shots from Crockett and Leahy.

Fullerton, McElwan, and Leahy all did good defence work. McElwan is a good lifter and sent the puck away a good many times with long lifts, only to have it returned by Way or Brown.

Cain lifts well too, but is not a strong checker. On the visitors' forward lines both Inch and Robinson did good work but lacked team playing. Hovey made a fairly good showing against Trites, but Dennison was up against it in Cushing.

THREE BABIES DIE MOTHER IS HELD.

Awful Bruises on Body of Don of Victory (Vt.) Woman, Whose Twins Died Before; Lived With Moore, Missing.

Victory, Vt., Jan. 27.—As a result of three mysterious deaths of children in her family during the past four months, which the police authorities believe were caused by foul play, Mrs. Grace Rexford of Gallup village, a prepossessing blonde of 23 years, was taken in custody this afternoon by Constable Owen Gallup of this town. She was taken upon the request of State's Attorney H. B. Ames of Brighton, who is personally investigating the case, and she will be arraigned for a hearing before Justice of the Peace B. H. Maginnis tomorrow morning.

Frank Moore, 28 years old, by whom Mrs. Rexford was employed as housekeeper, has suddenly disappeared, and the police are unable to find any trace of his whereabouts.

The three deaths, happening as they did in a mysterious manner, has aroused the whole population of the town of Victory, one of the smallest municipalities in the state, and 40 miles north of Montpelier, to such an extent that the police authorities fear that if Moore is found within the limits of the town he will be roughly dealt with.

The matter first came to the attention of the police Saturday, when it was learned that Mrs. Rexford's third child had died equally as mysteriously as two others some time in September. The constable immediately communicated with State's Attorney Ames. He hastened to the town and took charge of the body of Sidney Rexford, a 3-year-old child, who had died one week ago today. The state's attorney then caused the removal of the body to the office of a local undertaker until an autopsy could be held.

"HER CAPTAIN."

Toronto Globe.—The verses which follow furnish one more instance of the persistence of the poetic faculty in some families, and the Roberts family of New Brunswick is a shining example of it. Every one of the children of the late Archdeacon Roberts of Fredericton, has shown the possession of the poetic gift. The verses appeared in Everybody's Magazine, and are by Lloyd Roberts, eldest son of C. D. Roberts, the best known member of the family:

I left her in the palace grounds,
Surrounded by a conquered race—
Whose tongues were keener than their swords,
Whose love went not beyond their face.

She did not bid me go or stay;
I met the guard below the gate.
And with her name behind my lips,
Rode out to meet a kinder fate.

They brought me back at set of sun,
Upborne upon a couch of spears,
And laid me at her careless feet—
I heard her laughter change to tears.

I saw her stoop and touch the blade
That held her honor still so bright
While through the door of Death my soul
Went singing out beyond the night.

"Was your wife angry when you got home so late last night?"
"Angry? Why, my boy, the dear woman pelted me with flowers!"
"But how did you get that black eye?"

"Well, you see, she neglected to take the flowers out of the pots before she threw them."—Cleveland Leader.

LANCASHIRE ELECTION.

Mr. Donald McMaster Relates His Experience.

Mr. Donald McMaster, the prominent Montreal lawyer, who was defeated in Leigh as Chamberlain candidate, has sent the following cable to The Montreal Star:

"The Liberal sweep is attributed mainly to the false cry of alleged Chinese slavery in the Transvaal, which took deep root in the provinces and was insufficiently appreciated by Unionist leaders and the London journalists. The same cause operated powerfully in the Lancashire divisions and the Manchester disaster was the commencement of the landslide that gathered force day by day throughout the kingdom. In addition Mr. Redmond delivered the Irish vote to the Liberal candidates, and the Labor vote supported the Liberals where no Labor candidate was in the field.

All the forces operated against me in Leigh, which is the banner Radical division of the kingdom, never represented by a Conservative. In addition I was only three weeks in the field, while my opponent was here as many years. There was no organization and no time to organize properly. Notwithstanding, however, the enthusiasm aroused by the meetings was tremendous. I never saw it equalled in Canada, and though defeated, I polled a larger vote than was ever polled by a Conservative. I do not think the organization is as complete here as in Canada, because the people in the neighboring towns do not appear to know each other as in Canada. Mr. Chamberlain's organization in the Midlands was almost perfect.

"My wife addressed two public meetings, and on polling day my private secretary, Mr. Davies, and myself started at 6 o'clock in the morning and walked from one end of the division to the other, personally canvassing en route nearly two hundred voters, doing the work in three hours. During the day my wife and children rode with me in a sixty-horsepower motor car sixty miles, visiting every polling subdivision, numbering twenty-three. The streets were thronged with people, including women and children, shouting and waving party colors, red for Radicals, blue for Conservatives. The best of feeling animated them, although the strongest excitement prevailed.

"At 8 o'clock in the evening, at the close of the poll, over 10,000 people congregated at the Conservative headquarters. All the ballot boxes were collected in one large room at Leigh and counted by a staff of twenty assistants in the presence of the returning officer, who at the close declared the result. During three hours a great crowd of over 20,000 people congregated in the street, and we kept them amused by pictures of political leaders and others thrown upon a huge canvass. "The conflict left no scars, and I am delighted with my experience among the Lancashire people."

DIPPED FROM THE STREAM.

Concerning Swearing.
A man who swears is no gentleman—Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst. Then gentlemen are mighty scarce In this broad land today, And in the good old pious times 'Twas much the same, they say.

G. Washington was scarcely one, Nor Andy Jackson nor most of the others who have made Their records in a war.

And many other famous men Who've done a lot for us Were wont to soothe their anger by A well-directed cuss.

It isn't right to swear, of course, But when a man has got To say exactly what he thinks, And say it good and hot.

About whatever's mean and low Or is not just and fair, The gentleman within him finds, It's—very—hard not to swear.

A CONSUMPTIVE'S TRIALS.

Canadian Will be Deported From the United States.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—Frank Turcott, his wife and five children, will be deported from the United States to Canada because a doctor has told the immigration officials that Turcott was afflicted with consumption before he came to Detroit last May from Chatham, Ont.

For a time Turcott was able to work after coming to Detroit, but the disease weakened him so that his family have become a burden on the country, though his wife is struggling bravely to support them all.

"Don't send me back," pleaded Turcott today when Inspector Zurbrick called at his home at 792 Dix Avenue, "I can get no work there and will starve to death if I am compelled to go back."
