SAD HOME COMING.

St. John Woman Returns from Picnic to Learn She Was a Widow—Two St. John Men Lost in Wreck.

By the foundering of the big three-masted American schooner Ella G. Eells off Libby Island, in Machias Bay, Wednesday in a heavy easterly gale reported, the crew of four men, including two whose homes are in St. John, went to a watery grave. Capt. W. A. Breen, also of St. John, alone escaped after a terrible experience.

This information was received Monday in a despatch from Machias, Me. The schooner was bound from New Bedford, Mass., to Windsor, N. S., coal laden. According to the despatch, the captain was washed on the rocks on a piece of wreckage and rescued by life savers.

The vessel sailed from St. John about three weeks ago with a cargo of laths, shipped by the Gibson Manufacturing Company, and discharged at New Bedford, at which place she loaded coal.

The Eells was built at Rockport, Me. in 1891. She was a ten schooner of 330 register tons, long, 27 feet beam and 11 feet in depth. She was owned by Captain Breen and was only partly insured. Captain Breen resides at 140 St. James Street, St. John, with his mother, Mrs. W. C. Breen. The other two unfortunate St. John men were Edward Brown of King Street, Carleton, and William Duplissie of 101 Erin Street. The former leaves a wife but no family. He also leaves a mother, a sister and brother, all residing at Portland, Me. The sister is Mrs. Dunn and the brother Samuel Brown.

Duplissie leaves a wife and seven children—one son, who was at Camp Sussex with the Army Service Corps, and six daughters, four of them being very young.

Mrs. Brown spent Thursday at the picnic of the St. George's Episcopal church at Westfield. With others she was enjoying the beautiful weather at the pretty suburb and indulging in the many forms of amusement usually found at such gatherings, little thinking that her husband at the same time lay in a watery grave. It was not, therefore, until the train came to the city that her friends and relatives who were with her learned of the sad fatality, through the afternoon papers. The information was kept from her until after reaching the home of her brother, Ellis Jennings, of Winslow Street, West End, and when it was gently broken to her Mrs. Brown collapsed completely. It was ascertained at the Jennings home that the last Mrs. Brown heard from her husband, was from New Bedford a week ago yesterday, telling of their leaving for Windsor.

Mrs. Duplissie, when seen by a reporter was quite calm under the blow. She also told of hearing from her husband at New Bedford, when he gave Windsor as his next address. The letter was a kindly one with many endearing remembrances for his family. Mr. Duplissie leaves, besides his wife and family, a widowed mother, who resides at Moncton Mrs. Duplissie said last night that her husband had had some hard experiences at sea. Some three years ago he nearly lost his life on the ill-fated schooner Carrie Bell, and only last winter he with others nearly lost their lives on the schooner Abbie and Eva Hoopes, dismasted off the Maine coast.

The other two members of the crew were Norwegians, one by the name of Jansen.

DROWNED WHILE BATHING

Son of Prominent New York Family Met Death in New Hampshire.

Ashland, N. H., July 6.—H. McK. Twombly, the well known capitalist of New York and Newport, was drowned last night while swimming in Big Squam Lake, in the town of Holderness, six miles from this town. Young Twombly was eighteen years of age. He came to New Hampshire about three weeks ago with a number of others who had charge of a dozen or more boys in humble circumstances, who were sent into camp at the expense of the Groton school of Groton, Mass., from which Twombly was graduated last month.

Last night Twombly started to swim from the Groton school camp to Carn's Cove, one mile distant. He had reached a point a short distance from the shore where the camp is located when he was apparently seized with cramps. He was seen to struggle in the water by several of the other boys at the camp, but before any of them could reach him he disappeared from view. The body was recovered within a short time after the accident and was brought to Ashland.

Twombly was very popular with the boys at Groton and those at camp. Since his stay at the lake he entered the water frequently and was a good swimmer. He intended to enter Harvard next fall.

Twombly's mother was Miss Florence A. Vanherbilt, daughter of Wm. H. Vanderbilt of New York.

Mr. Charles F. Randolph, youngest son of the late Hon. A. F. Randolph, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Victoria Hospital last evening. The operation was performed by Drs. Bridges, Vanwart and McGrath, and they found the disease in a very advanced stage.

The patient, however, stood the operation well, and if no complications set in the doctors are hopeful that he will recover.

Mr. Randolph has been ailing for several days, and took a bad turn last evening. He was immediately removed to the hospital in the ambulance and the operation performed.
