A GRAND OLD MAN OF 83.

Monday Was Prof. Goldwin Smith's Birthday—The Sage of "The Range" Still Enjoys Good Health.

Toronto Globe.—There will be many congratulations reach "The Range" today, for its distinguished owner, Mr. Goldwin Smith, will celebrate his 83rd birthday, while still enjoying good health. Monarchs may come and go, governments rise and fall, but the genial historian and publicist, who for 35 years has honored Toronto by his presence is spared to shed the lustre of his culture about him. Born in Reading, England, August 13th, 1823, Mr. Smith early reached the high position of regius professor of modern history at Oxford, which he held from 1858 to 1866. In 1868 he went to the United States, and for three years filled the chair of lecturer at Cornell University of English and constitutional history. In that year he removed to Toronto, but until a few years ago he still retained a nominal connection with Cornell. His life in Toronto has been devoted to literature, journalism, philanthropy and all the higher duties of citizenship. Many times he has disagreed with the majority of his fellow citizens, but few will doubt the honesty of his convictions.

"The Range" was built in 1817 and was then on the outskirts of the little town of York. It still has the atmosphere of an English country house, though the roar of traffic of a large city is about it. There in its spacious rooms Prof. Smith spends his days in pleasant labor. His library shelves are crowded with the world's best literature, and from the walls look down many heroes of English history. The years have brought many changes and have carried away most of his cherished friends, but the sage of "The Range" has still a cheerful outlook on life, and by his chosen intimates he is esteemed as only his culture, gentility and benevolence could deserve.

LATE ALFRED BEIT.

His Life Was One of Romance of Commerce.

(London cor. New York Post.)

Those who know or think they know of the world's great people, whether they are kings or presidents, financiers or statesmen, from mere hearsay have been genuinely astonished by the obviously sincere and widespread regret with which the news of Alfred Beit's death has been received. Millionaires inevitably loom so large in the public eye and are the centre of so much that affects the interest of whole classes of the community, that gossip, sometimes ignorant, sometimes malicious, grows up about them till the true proportions and character of the individual are lost. So it was with Alfred Beit. If half that was suggested of him had been true he would have been a modified sort of a Skylark, eager to secure his pound of flesh at the expense not of an individual body only, but of the whole body politic. How very different was the real man, they knew who were brought into constant touch with him, and could realize his simplicity of nature, his sterling integrity, his anxiety to help the needy, his keenness to serve the best interests of the public, and his self-denying efforts to prevent his left hand from learning of the good his right did by stealth.

BEIT'S EARLY CAREER.

The story of his life is among the romances of commerce. Born in Hamburg, and educated to business, he went out to Kimberley in 1875. South Africa was then in the initial stage of the great diamond discoveries. The real wealth of the country was suspected, not known. Beit got a situation as clerk in the firm of Julius Porges. A fellow clerk was Julius Werne, who was recently made a knight. The moment was practically the turning point in the fortunes of South Africa. Kimberley began to yield up its riches, and among the men who jumped to almost unheard-of affluence was Julius Porges. Satisfied to have made his pile so easily and so unexpectedly Porges presented his business, or rather the remark, as he called it, to his clerks. What would they do with it, neither he nor they probably had much idea, but it was the chance of which financial genius and courage so often go in sore need.

It was the beginning of the new world-famous house of Werne, Beit & Co. Ten years after Porges retirement his two clerks were among the South African magnates. Alfred Beit by that time had got to know Cecil Rhodes, and together they carried through one of the biggest financial amalgamations known outside the realm of American trusts. The De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., was the result of their united efforts. From Kimberley he turned to the spot on which now stands the town of Johannesburg. Alfred Beit was among the first to seize the possibilities of the Rand. He visited John annesburg in company with Lord Randolph Churchill in 1891, and convinced himself so completely of the practicability of working low grade ores by means of deep level shafts that he staked a large part of his fortune on it. It was the idea from which the Rand Mines, Ltd., ultimately sprang.

ALFRED BEIT'S LIFE ONE OF ROMANCES OF COMMERCE.

Alfred Beit might have been content to remain a financier if he had never come under the magnetic spell of Cecil Rhodes, the empire-maker, German born though he was, his imagination was fired by Cecil Rhodes' dreams of carrying the British flag right away up to the Zambesi. He assisted to found the British South Africa Company. Beit's nationality would naturally have made him lean towards the Boers, but he had unpleasant experiences of the corruption and stubbornness of the Kruger regime. Consequently when the Jameson Raid was organized, he was little loath, and in the subsequent inquiry he did not attempt to shirk any of the responsibility which attached to him.

The last four or five years he has spent wholly in England, dividing his time between the interests of his firm and the promotion of such great public enterprises as the London Charlottenburg College, the founding of a professorship of colonial history at Oxford, in furtherance of Cecil Rhodes' scholarship scheme, and in various other ways, all intended to assist education, relieve suffering, and foster the idea of British imperialism. His public spirit is well illustrated in the terms of the will, with its handsome bequests to institutions in Germany, England and South Africa, and its provisions towards the completion of Cecil Rhodes' great project of linking up Cairo and the Cape.

BEIT AND THE TRANSVAAL.

Alfred Beit has died at a time when the South African prospect is particularly gloomy, and his knowledge and advice would have been of the utmost service. It is, however, not only in the South African market that he will be missed. One who knew him says that his too early demise will bring sorrow to old hands in Kimberley, Harberton, the Rand, Rhodesia, to homes of charity at all races and creeds, to many aged and sick, to women and little children innumerable.

It will also be felt by the organizers of the Anglo-German enterprise, in which he practically took the initiative. If he was a British subject by choice he kept a tender place in his heart for the land of his birth, and probably only the harmonious working of Britain and Boer in South Africa could have given him more pleasure than the evidence that Great Britain and Germany are at last beginning to understand that both have more to gain than lose by the friendship.

MUNICIPALITIES UNION.

Delegates Have Been Pleasantly Entertained at Halifax.

Halifax, Aug. 15.—Pleasure somewhat predominated over business with the delegates to the Union of Canadian municipalities for the afternoon and evening were spent in a harbor excursion as the guests of Halifax.

The paper by Alderman Lapointe seemed to show that the people of Montreal are having a pretty strenuous fight with some of the corporations and that the metropolitan city has other problems for solution.

Mayor Sears, of St. John, spoke of the hold that partisan politics has on the people as one of the greatest evils in a municipal government.

Alderman Lockhart, of St. John, thought a strong provincial union a powerful weapon in fighting the corporations and in keeping before the people the need of vigilance in maintaining their rights.

Mayor Coatsworth returned to the subject and urged that municipalities keep a close watch on their representatives in parliament when dealing with franchises.

A meeting was held in the mayor's office at noon to consider the formation of a provincial municipal union. Ald. McGee of Moncton, advocated the consideration of the advisability of forming a maritime provincial union.

Mayor Sears suggested that provincial unions be formed by Mayor Sears and Mayor Paton thought that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick should form a union.

The meeting considered that it was wiser to form provincial unions before the formation of a maritime province union.

The following officers were elected: President—Mayor McNeill, St. John. Vice-president—Mayor C. P. Fullerton, Sydney.

Secretary and treasurer to be nominated by the executive committee. The executive committee will consist of the above and the following: Warden McMahon, Kings County; Town Clerk Clarence Jamieson, Digby; Councillor Hay, Truro; Warden J. M. Buchanan, C. B.

The band concert and parade of illuminated boats on the Northwest Arm, given in honor of the delegates was a grand success. It was the most beautiful sight ever witnessed on the Arm. The prizes for the best boats and canoes were awarded by a committee of visiting ladies and were presented by Mayor Sears, who said many complimentary things of Halifax. He thought nothing more beautiful than the illuminated boats on the Northwest Arm.

The prizes for the best boats and canoes were awarded by a committee of visiting ladies and were presented by Mayor Sears, who said many complimentary things of Halifax. He thought nothing more beautiful than the illuminated boats on the Northwest Arm.

After the presentation of the prizes cheers were given for Mayor Sears and for all the visiting municipal delegates.

REIGN OF TERROR.

More Atrocities by Revolutionists in Russia.

Plock, Russian Poland, Aug. 16.—Last night five policemen were killed and two were wounded. The assassin escaped.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 16.—The war of terrorism which the fighting organization of the revolutionists declared immediately after parliament was dissolved, has begun in earnest. From all over the country the telegraph brings the same story of attacks on police officials, the majority of cases, being accompanied by plunder. The Polish revolutionists are especially active. There is a veritable reign of terror from the vista to the German frontier. Almost fifty cases of assassination were reported early last night. The Novoe Vremya today heads the lists of murders and other crimes. "St. Bartholomews night in Poland."

Moscow, Aug. 16.—While the Constitutional Democrats were conferring in the house of Prince Dolgorouki today, a sergeant of police appeared and ordered them to disperse, but on the representations of Prince Dolgorouki to the perfect of police, the

Thousands of Women

ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well.

Thousands upon thousands of Canadian women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and re-creator ever discovered to act directly upon the female system, positively curing disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of testimonials would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), falling sickness, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

meeting was of a private nature, the conference was allowed to continue.

It is the intention of the Constitutional Democrats to issue a common text book containing articles by M. Rodicheff, Prof. Paul Mikulof and other leaders.

Warsaw, Aug. 16.—It is now stated that during yesterday's massacre thirteen policemen, four police sergeants, two gendarmes and six soldiers were killed, and eight policemen, two sergeants, two gendarmes and six soldiers were wounded. The soldiers in replying to the attacks on the police with volleys and charging the crowds killed thirteen men and two women and severely injured several persons and slightly injured ninety-five. During the night shots were heard in different parts of the city, but the casualties have not yet been ascertained.

FAMOUS JOCKEY SUSPENDED.

Punches His Employer's Trainer and Gets Shelled.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Has the Eastern turf seen the last of Radtke? This jockey started to punch his employer's trainer, Bud May, on Monday, and May suspended him for an indefinite period. Roy Rainey, when he heard of the action of Radtke, upheld his trainer. The affair took place in Horse Haven on Monday morning. May was telling Radtke about something that did not strike the jockey very favorably. Radtke suddenly lost control of himself, and before May was cognizant of anything he was on the ground, with Radtke on top trying to pummel him to his heart's content. It was not long before May any time to toss the boy aside, and when he arose he immediately took the above mentioned action.

This is not the first time that Radtke has given evidence of an ungovernable temper. At the winter tracks, where Radtke made his reputation, this jockey was known as the "demon." He was always ready for an argument, and woe to the boy that started to cross him. He has had all kinds of troubles with the different starters, and he has been fined and set down more times than all the other boys starting. There are lots of stories going the rounds lately, caused by the cutting up of Radtke, but his employer and his trainer could not be convinced until positive evidence was brought to their notice. It is also said that at the Brighton meeting he managed to go through big sums within a very few days.

The interesting part of his suspension is how it is going to affect the interests of James R. Keene, who has second call on the services of Radtke. If the contract is not worded so that the second party would be protected in case of any such disagreement between the jockey and the first party, the suspension would prevent the jockey from riding for anyone until the embargo was removed. Whatever the outcome of this affair will be, it will prove to Radtke that he cannot afford to try any bullying tactics on the Eastern courses.
