

CITY WILL APPEAL.

The Sewerage Question Will Go Before the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

STEPS TAKEN TO PREVENT MUTILATION OF SHADE TREES--BYE-LAW TO REGULATE SALE OF MILK HELD OVER FOR A MONTH.

The city council at last night's meeting unanimously decided to appeal from the decision of the Provincial Board of Health on the sewerage question to the Governor-in-Council. A strong resolution was passed with a view to preventing the mutilation of shade trees and the city clerk was instructed to prepare a bye-law on the subject. A bye-law to regulate the sale of milk was introduced, but action was deferred for a month. It was decided to build an asphalt sidewalk in front of the county court house, provided the county council grade up the square.

Mayor McNally presided and the others present were Alds. Scott, Hooper, Everett, Kelly, Maxwell, Hanlon, Colter and Dougherty. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Ald. Colter said he was informed that the wharf committee had met and made a report without notifying him. He was a member of the committee and had not been notified.

The mayor said that it was customary to notify all the members when calling committee together.

The city clerk said that the report was submitted at the last council meeting, and had passed without objection. Ald. Colter replied that he must have been busy writing at the time.

AUDITOR'S REPORT.
The auditor's report for August was read by the mayor and adopted. The expenditures for the month totalled $18,346.53 divided as follows:

Roads and streets $ 275.85
Public works 487.83
City hall 2.14
Wharves 96
Market 8.00
Fire department 30.83
Contingencies 298.35
Street lighting 608.25
Sewerage 8,153.14
Water 8,418.14

Total $18,364.53
Among the accounts passed was one from James Roberts of $120.60 for delivering 2412 tax notices.

"We will never get back again with all them bills," observed Ald. Colter as the mayor finished reading the report.

ASPHALTING WORK.
On motion of Ald. Everett Roadmaster McKay was permitted to address the board in regard to the remuneration paid the men employed on the asphalt work. He explained that five men now did the work that was formerly done by seven. They did this by starting earlier in the morning. There were complaints because some of the men sat down during working hours. He explained that this was necessary as a certain formula had to be followed and the men had to wait for the team. He was anxious to save a dollar if he could for the city. To run another mixer it would be necessary to put on a duplicate crew.

Several aldermen remarked that the roadmaster's explanation was very satisfactory. The monthly salaries were ordered to be paid.

Ald. Hanlon for the alms house commissioner reported an expenditure of $180.57 during the month. He asked for a check for $150 for the month of September. Report was adopted.

Ald. Hanlon said that the number of inmates at the alms house was smaller than usual and there were several who paid their board.

Ald. Colter thought that the chairman of the alms house committee should give more detailed information.

Ald. Hanlon said that the report showed clearly how the money was expended, but from a charitable standpoint it was not advisable to make all the details public. However, he would ask the commissioner in future to give the number of inmates.

Ald. Colter read the following comparative statement of tax collections for the month, which was ordered to be entered on the minutes.

1905 for 1902 $ 10.57
1905 for 1903 165.11
1905 for 1904 731.12
1905 for 1905 36,938.61

Total $37,840.41

1906 for 1904 $172.18
1906 for 1905 710.64
1906 for 1906 36,044.25

Total $36,924.07

Ald. Colter explained that the amount was $916.34 less than the amount collected in August, 1905 on a smaller assessment. If the month of July was included he said the total would be $40,000 or $1500 more than was collected for the same period last year.

Ald. Dougherty for the assessment appeals committee reported in favor of relieving Messrs. Robert Bell, James McNally, George Wilkes and Robert Doran from payment of poll tax for 1906 on the ground of old age. Adopted.

NEW HEATING APPARATUS.
Ald. Hanlon reported on the condition of the heating apparatus at the alms house. He said that the committee had found that a new and more modern system of heating for the institution was necessary. Tenders had been called for a hot water heating apparatus and the following had been received: Edward Hurley, $500; D. J. Shea, $519 for repairing the old furnace; Mr. Hurley wanted $105 and Mr. Shea $115.

The committee recommended that the offer of Mr. Hurley for new heating apparatus be accepted. It is proposed, Ald. Hanlon said, to use a combination furnace which would supply heat to the lower part of the building and hot water for the upper part. He believed it would be a good investment to remove the old furnace and substitute a more modern system. It was estimated that the saving in fuel alone would amount to $86 per year.

Ald. Maxwell, seconded by Ald. Maxwell, that the tender of Mr. Hurley be accepted and that the committee be authorized to enter into a contract with him.

Ald. Dougherty wanted to know if a hot water system would be a menace to the inmates.

Ald. Hanlon did not anticipate that the system would be a cause of danger. He said that either wood or coal could be burned in the furnace.

Ald. Colter said that he used the hot water system and found it perfectly safe. To his mind it was the only system that would heat a big building.

SEWERAGE QUESTION.
Ald. Scott for the sewerage committee read the decision of the provincial Board of Health on the city's application to empty sewage into the St. John river. He then moved, seconded by Ald. Colter, that an appeal be made from the decision of the Board of Health to the Lieutenant Governor in Council, and that the city clerk be instructed to prepare the appeal in accordance with the act of assembly.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Ald. Scott moved that in future the tax collector be paid a commission of 40 per cent. for collecting dog taxes instead of twenty per cent. as at present. Ald. Colter seconded the motion.

Ald. Hanlon thought that forty per cent. was too large a commission to pay.

Ald. Scott said that under the present law any citizen could call at the treasurer's office before the 1st of August and pay his tax. The resolution only applied to delinquents, who would not pay a tax if they could get clear of it. He thought there were hundreds of dogs in the city on which taxes were not paid.

Ald. Hanlon thought that the collector should start on the first of June to collect dog taxes. He claimed that after August the dogs began to disappear.

Ald. Hooper wanted to know if Ald. Hanlon was referring to the sausage season.

Ald. Scott's motion was unanimously adopted.

Tax petitions from William Lipsett and Charles A. Hall were referred to the assessment appeals committee.

MIST PAINT POLES.
On motion of Ald. Colter, the chairman of the road committee was instructed to notify the New Brunswick Telephone Company and Fredrickson Gaslight Company that they must paint their poles, otherwise the work would be done under the direction of the chairman at the expense of the companies.

Ald. Everett said that the companies referred to had promised to send delegations to confer with the council, but had not done so. Now they could not complain if the council took action. The resolution was adopted.

Ald. Everett moved a resolution to the effect that the county council be notified that if they grade up the court house square that the city will construct an asphalt sidewalk across the front of the building. The aldermen thought that if the square was graded that a sidewalk laid down it would make a decided improvement.

The resolution was seconded by Ald. Hanlon and unanimously adopted.

On motion of Ald. Hanlon, the city clerk was instructed to order any person or persons other than regular city officials who held keys to the city hall, to return the same forthwith to the mayor.

Ald. Hooper wanted to know if keys to the city hall were scattered about the city.

The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Ald. Hanlon, Mr. A. D. Gunter was appointed a constable, to protect shade trees.

Ald. Everett said there were many complaints from citizens as to the manner in which the shade trees of the city were mutilated by workmen employed by the telephone and light companies. He thought that the time had arrived when some action should be taken to prevent further destruction.

The mayor suggested that the matter should be dealt with by a stringent bye-law. He wanted to make it illegal for any company to interfere with the trees, under a heavy penalty without first obtaining the permission of the aldermen representing the ward.

HUMOR

HE PROVED HIS RIGHT.

It Was Quite a Roundabout Way, but He Got His Water.

A western lawyer says that he was once in a court in Missouri when a young man most fastidiously dressed sauntered into the temple of justice. None of the officials of the court had ever seen him before, and as the proceedings were unimportant and somewhat tedious it chanced that the stranger attracted some attention. On his part he eyed the judge narrowly, sized up all the attorneys, drummed loudly on the bench in front of him and finally rose and sauntered up to the bar, where he poured out for himself a glass of iced water.

The judge presiding, a nervous and testy old fellow, had himself observed the young man and by his frowns had given evidence of his disapproval. When the stranger had boldly marched up to the bar and had taken the water it looked as if the judge would boil over with indignation at this exhibition of temerity, amounting almost to contempt. "That water, sir," roared the judge, "is for attorneys and other officials of this court."

Whereupon the strange young man turned red and left the courtroom. But the court was to see more of him, for in about half an hour he returned, bearing in his hand a roll of parchment. The judge now glared at him in the most savage manner, but the young man flinched not. Finally, during a lull in the proceedings, the eccentric young person addressed the court:

"Your honor?"

"What is it, sir?"

"I wish, your honor, to submit to this honorable court my certificate of admission to practice in the supreme court and all other courts of this state."

"Well, what of that?" growled his honor.

"Simply this, your honor. Now that I have presented the proofs of my admission to the bar I would move the court that I be permitted to drink from the official pitcher."

The young attorney got his water.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Honest Man.

"Will you love me when I am old?" asked the kittenish dandy with the corkscrew curls, the false frizzes, the suspiciously bright teeth and the large bank account.

"Why, I love you now, don't I?" asked the plain, everyday, matter of fact, unadorned man who was trying to provide for his future.

And, oh, brethren, the voiceless wind that drifts across the open polar sea was a hot wave compared to the atmosphere that surrounded him in a minute.—Judge.

Willing to Compromise.
"Well, it's no use your kicking," growled the cashier of the restaurant finally. "You eat the food, an' arguin' about it won't help."

"That's so," said the disgruntled patron. "Let's forgive and forget."

"Eh?"

"I'll forgive that miserable meal if you'll forget that I had it."—Philadelphia Press.

EIDERDOWN DRESSING SACK AND BED SLIPPERS.

Few people realize how easily bed room slippers and dressing sack of eiderdown can be made and yet how great an amount of comfortable pleasure are to be obtained therefrom. These two garments constitute an insurance society against colds for they are warm as "toast" and very serviceable. The slippers are made of the eiderdown to match the sack and lined with a contrasting color of the same fabric. They are faintly finished with ribbon binding and bows a little rubber cord around the heel under the flap holds them on the foot. The jacket is bound in the same manner as the shoes and fastened attractively with frogs. The soft turn-over collar about the throat is very comfortable while the sleeves are loose at the bottom and can be easily turned up for bathing. This garment is fitted by three seams in back and requires no experience for its successful construction. In the medium size the sack and slippers require 4 yards of 36-inch material. 6411—Sizes, 32 to 44 inches bust measure.

Didn't Like It.

The abhorrence of respectable British persons for the synonym for "sanguinary" is almost as extraordinary as its popularity with the lower classes. In days gone by O'Connell spoke of the "base, bloody and brutal Whigs," and the Times in reporting him rendered it very ingeniously, with a view to exhibit his bad language, as the "base, b— and brutal Whigs."
