PENSIONS FOR PROFESSORS.

The Scale as Arranged by the Carnegie Foundation
Trustee Board.

New York, April 12.—The trustees of the Carnegie foundation, who are charged with administering $10,000,000, the gift of Andrew Carnegie to provide pensions for professors and teachers of institutions of higher learning in the United States and Canada, met here yesterday and adopted a scale of pensions practically as outlined in the federal charter of the foundation, which was formally adopted at the meeting.

The income from the fund will be about $500,000 a year and there are on file now two hundred applications from professors. It is expected that the system will be in actual operation in June. The conference also defined what a college is, taking the definition of the State of New York as the basis, and described the requirements as to non-sectarianism.

No list of the institutions that will come under the rules was made. The rules as adopted by the trustees make the following provisions:

Any person sixty-five years of age and not less than fifteen years of service as a professor who is at the time of his retirement a professor in an accepted institution, shall be entitled to an annual retirement allowance as follows:

For active pay of $1,500 or less an allowance of $1,000 shall be granted, provided that no retiring allowance shall exceed 90 per cent. of active pay.

For active pay greater than $1,600 the retiring allowance shall equal $1,000, increased by $50 for each $100 in excess of $1,600.

After twenty-five years' service, regardless of age, the retiring allowance was fixed as follows:

For active pay of $1,600, or less, a retiring allowance of $800 shall be granted, providing that no retiring allowance shall exceed 80 per cent. of active pay.

For active pay greater than $1,600 the retiring allowance shall be equal to $800, increased by $40 for each $100 of active pay in excess of $1,600.

No person under the age of sixty-five, or who has served less than twenty-five years, shall be entitled to a retiring allowance, but the trustees may, at their discretion, pay any persons otherwise eligible who have become incapable of discharging duties by permanent infirmity of mind or body, an allowance not exceeding that which he would be entitled to had he reached the age of sixty-five.

The definition of the character of the institutions that will be allowed to come under the rules is described as follows:

"An institution to be ranked as a college must have at least six professors giving their entire time to college and university work, a course of four full years in the liberal arts and sciences, and should require for admission not less than the usual four years of academic or high school preparation or its equivalent in addition to preacademic or school studies."

"A technical school to be eligible must have entrance requirements equivalent to those of a college in point of school preparation, and must offer courses in pure and applied science."

Sectarianism is described as follows:

"Any school whose charter, constitution or by-laws require teachers, students or trustees to be of a certain religious body, or where strictly denominational tenets or doctrines are taught, shall be deemed sectarian."

The applicants of the various institutions for admission to the eligible list will be considered by the executive committee.

the retiring allowance shall be equal to $800, increased by $40 for each $100 of active pay in excess of $1,600.

No retiring allowance shall exceed $3,000.

No person under the age of sixty-five, or who has served less than twenty-five years, shall be entitled to a retiring allowance, but the trustees may, at their discretion, pay any persons otherwise eligible who have become incapable of discharging duties by permanent infirmity of mind or body, an allowance not exceeding that which he would be entitled to had he reached the age of sixty-five.

THE RIGHT MAN.

Montreal Detectives Sure they Have Edith Ahern's Murderer.

Montreal, April 12.—Another link in the chain of circumstantial evidence against James Hackett, held on suspicion of the murder of four year old Ida Ahern was found yesterday when the detectives brought to headquarters a French Canadian carter, who identified the suspected man as the one he saw near the Ahern home on the afternoon the child was intercepted on her way home from school. Evidence has also been found that Hackett had been drinking around the locality that afternoon.

As matters stand now four people have positively identified Hackett as the man who was seen along the canal bank Tuesday afternoon. They are two Norwegians—Marks and Nygaard—Lecours and the Nelson boys. The balance of the evidence against him in the circumstance of his absence from work on Tuesday and his general bad behavior, as shown by the police records.

On the other hand there are stubborn statements by Hackett's wife and by Mrs. Mooney, who rooms in the same house of Grand Trunk Street, that the suspected man could not possibly have had anything to do with the deed.

Most of those who saw the murderer lead the child two miles along the canal bank to the woods at Cote St. Paul, where the body was found, were children, who also suffer from fright and tell conflicting stories when they are brought to police headquarters, but an eight year old boy, a son of one of the men who saw Hackett returning from St. John on the afternoon of the child's disappearance, identifies the suspect as the man he saw disappear into the woods with a little girl.

The boy's attention was first attracted by the man starting to take the clothing off the child near the canal bank, but stopped and led the girl along to the woods.

The detectives are satisfied that they have the right man and have practically abandoned their eight days' man hunt.

LOST AT SEA.

Bangor Schooner Wrecked and Four Men Perished.

Boston, April 12.—The Bangor schooner Sallie B., with four of her crew, was included in the toll exacted from the coasting fleet by the storm on Monday night and Tuesday. Fifteen minutes after the little vessel plunged beneath the waves off the Maine coast Tuesday afternoon, a gigantic billow swept three of the six men from the long boat, into which they had all hastily jumped, while the fourth victim died in the boat after exposure for seven hours.

The two survivors, Captain A. L. Hopkins, of Bangor, Me., and John Muhain, a native of Finland, who shipped in New York, were picked up yesterday on Cape Porpoise by the Portland steamer Bay State, and landed here early last evening in a pitiable plight.

The dead are: Mate William Campbell of Boston, Cook Arthur L. Gray of Belfast, Me.

Seaman Joseph Campbell of Sydney C. B. Seaman John Nettcher, a Norwegian, residence unknown.

The body of the last named was taken from the little boat by the men on the Bay State after the living had been swung on board.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS DOUBLE MURDER.

Southern Physician Shoots his Wife.
Fatally Injures a Dentist.
Then Suicides.

Birmingham, Ala., April 11.—Dr. A. W. Burton, a well known physician of Birmingham, shot and killed his wife last night and fatally wounded Dr. T. L. Thaxton, a dentist, of Pratt City, Ala., and cut his own throat, dying a few minutes later.

Dr. Burton, and his wife, Dr. Laura E. Burton, who was also a practicing physician here, had not been living together for some time. Last night he went to his home at North Haven and found his wife and Dr. Thaxton together. The tragedy followed.

Mrs. Thaxton, the wife of Dr. Thaxton, was an eye witness to the shooting as was Mrs. Andrews and daughter, with whom the Burtons lived. Mrs. Thaxton said that she and her husband had gone to call on Mrs. Andrews, who is a cousin of Dr. Thaxton.

In a southern court one day, says a well known attorney, one of the counsel paused in his argument, remarking to the judge:

"I observe that your honor shakes his head at that statement. I desire to reaffirm it, although your honor dissents."

"I am not aware," coldly responded the judge, that I have intimated how I shall construe the evidence, nor what my decision will be in the premises. Your remarks are therefore entirely uncalled for."

"Your honor shook his head," "True," said the judge, "there was a fly on my ear. And I'll have you know, sir, that I reserve the right to remove a fly in whatever manner I please."
