Fruit Cures Constipation

"Fruit-a-tives" cure Constipation because they are made of fruit.

Constipation comes from just one cause—lack of bile. It is the bile—flowing into the intestines—that causes the bowels to move. More bile is the only thing that can cure Chronic Constipation.

Fruit acts directly on the liver. It stimulates and strengthens the millions of tiny liver cells—causes more bile to be made—and makes the liver give up more bile to the bowels.

MRS. KATE KURTZ, Dunnville, Ont., writes stating that for years constipation was her trouble, and says:—"I have used "Fruit-a-tives" with great benefit, and they are a grand medicine for constipation and other stomach trouble. I would not care to be without them in the house. they are so good."

Cathartics, pills, salts, aperient waters don't reach the liver. They merely irritate the bowels and make the bowels move by irritating the lining membrane. Constipation is made worst by such drugs.

Fruit-a-tives or Fruit Liver Tablets.

contain no calomel, cascara, senna or other bowel irritants. They are concentrated fruit juices, combined and made more active medicinally by our process of uniting them. "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic. They tone up and stimulate the liver—and cause the liver to secrete more bile. This means a healthy bowel action and a permanent cure for Constipation, Biliousness and kindred troubles.

All druggists should have them. Sent prepaid on receipt of price—50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50—by

LEARN USE OF THE RIFLE

Earl Grey's Advice to the Men of Canada at the Annual Meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association.

Sir Frederick Borden Characterizes Talk About "Militarism" as Absolutely Ridiculous.

Ottawa, March 28.—That healthy and active organization the Dominion Rifle Association, held their annual meeting in the Railway Committee room yesterday, when several interesting addresses were delivered. Hon. J. M Gibson, president was in the chair, and Earl Grey took part in the proceedings. The old officers all re-elected Col. Gibson, though reluctant to accept, being at length persuaded to retain the position which he has so ably filled for many years.

In moving the adoption of the annual report, Col. Gibson spoke of the healthy condition of the D. R. A., and the great assistance given by the government, especially Sir Frederick Borden. Better privileges from railway companies in the way of transportation were required. Riflemen now get return tickets for a single fare, but what they asked was that this should be cut in two. The association were pressing for this. At Bisley the Canadian team had covered themselves with glory, as shown by the presence of Kolopore Cups.

After the adoption of the report Mr. R. L. Borden moved a vote of thanks to Earl Grey. The leader of the Opposition spoke of the interest Earl Grey took in upbuilding the empire for a good many years, and in different parts of the empire, and also of the liberality his Excellency had extended to the Rifle Association.

Earl Grey congratulated the association on the grand work it was doing. He was present because he was in sympathy with all they were doing. No Briton would be fulfilling his duties towards the empire unless he qualified himself to be an efficient rifleman, so that his services might be at the disposal of the empire when they were required. His Excellency suggested that part of the prize money wuich he contributed might be utilized to encourage cadet corps, who had miniature ranges at home, to compete at Rockliffe. Facilities for school children, and citizens as well, should be afforded for instruction in rifle-shooting.

Sir Frederick Borden, replying to a vote of thanks, said that the Opposition in Parliament put obstacles in the way of giving assistance to the association. Railways, however should give more assistance. He was sure there would be universal approval in the country of the sentiments expressed by his Excellency, that it was the duty of every young man to qualify himself for the defence of his country. "We hear some people talking about militarism," Sir Frederick continued, "but, so far as I have been able to examine their statements, they don't know what they are talking about. All talk about militarism, and applying that term to anything that has happened in Canada since confederation, is, in my judgment, absolutely and utterly ridiculous. When you look at the small amount of money which we spend per head of population, at the smallness of the numbers of our militia, and in face of that listen to the warnings against militarism, you can only come to one conclusion, that is, that people who are indulging in such nonsense really have not taken the trouble to study the question. (Hear, hear.) We are beginning, in my humble opinion, and only just beginning, to do our duty in that regard. We don't desire an armed camp in Canada; we don't want to see anything of that kind on this continent. I do not believe we ever wish to see that; but, as self-respecting people, not knowing what the future may have in store for us, it is absolutely necessary, as his Excellency has said to live up to our full duty as citizens; to be prepared for any eventuality, without thrusting out in the face of other countries, saying nothing about is, and only preparing ourselves for contingencies of defence not aggression, should defence become necessary." (Hear, hear.)

Sir Frederick said Canada had moved rapidly in providing rifle ranges, one million dollars having been spent in the last ten years. He announced that consultation between the department and the Ross Rifle Company had evolved an improved and up-to-date rifle, and he expected that from now on they would be delivered at the rate of fifty to one hundred per day.

Addresses were also delivered by Lord Aylmer, Gen. Lake and other visitors.

At a subsequent meeting of the Council Major E. D. Sutherland was elected Treasurer and Major Winter re-elected Secretary. It was decided to hold a meeting during the week beginning August 27. The prize list will be $10,000, as usual.

THE REICHSTAG SNUBS KAISER.

Is Too Anxious to have Colonial Possession—Pet Measure is Turned Down.

Berlin, March 30.—The announcement that a committee of the Reichstag had turned down the Kaiser's pet measure to establish a Colonial office in one of the departments of the Imperial government gives publicity to a matter which has long formed a bone of contention between Prince von Billow and his imperial master.

As everybody knows, the Kaiser is most anxious that Germany should have colonial possessions; his intrigues in Turkey, in Phillipines, in China, in West and East Africa, and now in Morocco are too well known ta be detailed. At present, what for want of a better term may be called "the German colonies," consist of patches of land in various quarters of the globe, whose total area amounts to about a million and a quarter square miles, and whose population is estimated at 13,500,000. In Africa there are Togoland, Kamerun, German Southwest and Southeast Africa; in Asia Kiauchau Bay; in the Pacific there are German New Guinea, Kaiser Wilhelmland, the Solomon Islands, and five or six other inlets, whose individual area is less than 700 square miles apiece. These "colonies" or dependencies are ruled directly from Wilhelmstrasse by means of Imperial Governors or Imperial Commissions.

Chancellor von Billow has always contended that these possessions per se did not require a Minister for the Colonies, and now the Reichstag committee, which was brought together to report on the matter, seems to be of the same opinion. The trump card which the Kaiser had to play for the furtherance of his pet measure was the "White Book" recently presented to the Reichstag, and dealing with the period covering April 1, 1902, to March 31, 1903. This book, as may besupposed, had been prepared with the utmost care, and no expense had been spared to make it a formidable and inviting volume. Most of the text is writteo in a popular convinving vein, and there are elaborate tables and a quantity of beautiful maps. In short, it is a "brief" for the establishment of a Ministry for the colonies, edited by the Kaiser. Everywhere development and progress are expiated upon, and where the facts offer no inspiration for this treatment they are excused, qualified or turned through a new channel into an advantage. Here is a passage dealing with German South-west Africa:

"The colonial administration recognizes that no more effective means lor the strengthening of German rule and the simultaneous development of the colonies are at its disposal than the amelioration of the social status of the natives. Protection of person and property, the liberation of natives from bondage, the reservation of sufficient land for the maintenance of the native population and its natural increase, the instruction of natives in the principles of our spiritual and moral civilization, as well as training them to work and to rationalize economic methods—all these aims have formed the subject of earnest care and solicitude during the year under review."

It was a somewhat unfortunate coincidence that the "White Book" was presented to the Reichstag at the very moment when the German War office was sending troops to put down the rebellious natives whose "solicitude" the writers of the report of their instigators had so much at heart.

This is why the Reichstag, while admitting the Kaiser's contention that a Colonial Office would add a certain prestige to the Imperial government, turns down His Majesty's measure because it is not supported by a record of current events.

CAUGHT THREE BURGLARS.

Bennington Boy of 17 Discovers Trio, All Bigger Than Himself, Trying to Rob Market.

Bennington, Vt., March 30.— The failure of an attempt to rob the meat market of Conrad Schwartz, last Sunday, was divulged today. For several Monday mornings when he opened his money drawer he had noticed that it had been robbed since closing Saturday night. He could not suspect his help, as none were around Sunday. For three Sundays he laid traps, but nothing was disturbed. The next Sunday he let it go, and the robbery was renewed.

Willie Temple, 17 years of age, then constituted himself a detective to discover the robber. Two Sundays he secreted himself in the store, but no visit was made. Last Sunday he hid himself there again, and in the middle of the day heard someone coming up the cellar stairs. In a few moments three boys, all larger than himself, came through the door and marched for the money drawer, which much to their disgust was empty.

Temple then made his appearance, and they started to run. He followed them out of the building, chasing them about half a mile, and, seizing the two largest by the collar, ordered the other one to lead, and brought the whole batch to the market. They were then allowed to go home, and since then have kept out of sight, so that officers have not been able to find them.

Temple is light, but has lots of pluck. He was a page in the last Legislature.

PRINCE PLAYED GOLF.

His Royal Highness Spends Day Quietly.

Victoria, B. C., March 28.—His Royal Highness, Prince Arthur of Connaught spent today quietly. In the morning the royal party had their photographs taken in robes of state on the terrace at Carey Castle. During the afternoon the Prince played golf on the links of the Victoria Golf Club at Oak Bay. As His Royal Highness entered his coach to drive back to town, four or five little girls who had been gathering wild flowers in the vicinity ran forward and presented Prince Arthur with a great boquet of wild lillies. The Prince greatly enjoyed the little incident, which was entirely spontaneous, and thanking the little girls, drove off with his arms full of flowers.

Admiral Seymour and General Kelley-Kenny visited Esquimalt during the afternoon. In the evening a state dinner was held at Government house, about fifty guests having been invited to meet his Royal Highness. Tomorrow the royal party leave for Cowichan River for a try at the trout.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Quebec Wishes Sunday to be a Day of Recreation—Cannot be Reconciled to Ontario View.

Montreal, March 30.—La Canada, the official French-Canadian organ of the Liberal party, comes out strongly against the Sunday Observance Bill now at Ottawa. The paper states editorially that the conception of what Sabbath and rest meant was entirely different in Ontario to what it was in Quebec. The people of Quebec, as a whole, have always felt and still hold, that no law should be enacted which would prevent the enjoyment of the Sabbath, whether it be in excursions or witnessing games. The majority in Quebec province maintain that there is nothing unlawful in so utilizing the Sabbath. If Ontario and other provinces wished more strict laws regarding the Sabbath day than they should be enacted in and enforced in these provinces, but the Ottawa government should look to it that no law be passed which would be out of accord with a large section of the Dominion.

It is a matter for rejoicing that all people do not preach what they practice.
